Swim Pool Seeks $50,000 Payroll, General Canvass

The $50,000 community swimming pool fund is launched in earnest this week.

Smith and Stone employees are being asked for pledge donations which will be collected under a payroll deduction plan, while officials of Provincial and Alliance paper mills are cooperating in a somewhat similar plan where donations will be accepted weekly by a member of the staff.

Smaller industries are expected to adopt plans like these also, while the householders not employed in industry will be approached in a house to house canvass.

The swimming pool is being widely publicized in newspaper advertisements, posters and a streamer which will hang above Main Street.

Local and district organizations have pledged full support and have sent representatives to several meetings of the committee. Mrs. Wesley Flebig is campaign secretary and handles campaign details in an office above McClure's store.

The swimming pool committee is headed by Dick Licata, with Jack Gunning as secretary and bankers Bob Darou and Jack Hart, treasurers.

Don Barrager is campaign chairman, working with a large committee. Union officials Fred Tucker, Jack Timleck, Tom Hill and Alex Hendry are in charge of the payroll deduction plan.

Assisting Mr. Barrager in the section for businessmen and contractors are Ernie Alcott, Dr. Jack Kirby, Graham Farrell and William McNally. Jim Jones, with a committee now being chosen in charge of the general canvass. Special names committee, which will contact industry management is in charge of Alex MacLaren. COUNTY CCFERS MEET AT STAN ALLEN HOME

Halton CCF association held its first meeting of the season on the evening of October 12th at the home of Stan Allen, River Drive.

Mrs. Marjorie Pinney, a long time member of the county association and now chairman of organization for the province outlined a detailed plan for organization to be carried out in the months ahead.

A report on the last provincial election, in which Mr. Allen was the party's candidate, was made and members noted with satisfaction the progress they had made. Plans for a Christmas party were discussed and before leaving for their different sections of the riding, those attending enjoyed sandwiches and coffee provided by Mrs. Allen.

Joyce Nevitt President Business Women's Club

Monday evening at the McGill House, the Georgetown Business and Professional Women's Club held their first dinner meeting. Thirty-five sat down to dinner. Special guests of the evening were Mrs. Cecil Chinn, membership chairman of the National Federation and Miss Lilla Trout, former provincial treasurer, both of Brampton. Letters of greeting were read from the president and vice president of the parent body.

Both Mrs. Chinn and Miss Trout addressed the meeting and explained various aspects of the club. They told of the things the club had done and hoped to do by the combined efforts of women, of some of the very wonderful women who were members. Their addresses certainly inspired the members.

The Georgetown branch was the seventy sixth branch organized in Canada. There are thirty-seven charter members in the Georgetown branch.

Mrs. Chinn and Miss Trout installed the executive into their various offices in a most impressive service, and also took the pledge of all the charter members.

WHAT COUNCIL DID

Romanin Gets Okay For New Apartment

Issuing of a building permit to Romanin Bros. construction company, for a 13-unit apartment building on Prince Charles Drive appears to meet with no objection from the town council.

Roy Warwick, whose home on that street will be beside the apartment, appeared at Monday's meeting for a second time to make a strong plea for consideration of residents whom he said bought bungalows in that district with no knowledge that an apartment was contemplated.

Last week, issue of a permit was delayed, after Mr. Warwick addressed council, until solicitor George Hewson could be consulted.

Monday, Cr. Doug Sargent reported that Mr. Hewson's opinion is that the town cannot prevent the apartment erection, as there are no zoning regulations in force.

Mayor Armstrong concurred in this view, saying that even though Romanin had, in their original submission, indicated an intention to build only single family dwellings, existing by-laws prevent nothing from being built in town. Factories, stores, apartments, garages or anything else which meet building by-law specifications, can be erected in any location, he said.

A zoning by-law is in process of preparation, he continued. A planning consultant had been engaged a year ago, but has not yet submitted a report. He could promise no fast action, because after such a report a planning board would have to be established and all details of a zoning by-law ironed out in council.

Mr. Warwick made a stirring plea for action in his case.

"I came to Georgetown to get away from noisy city streets and apartments," he said "and now I find a 13 family building planned 25 feet from my house."

He said there is no adequate play area, other than the streets, for children who will live in the building, and the apartment would not be a desirable addition to the neighbourhood.

Several councillors expressed agreement with him, reciting other cases in town where undesirable buildings had been erected, but again pointing out council's impotence to deal with the question.

The mayor suggested that neighbors approach Mr. Romanin with an offer to buy the land.

Request for a culvert under his driveway on Main Street South by Ernest Ball was referred to the road committee for decision.

Regret was expressed at resignation from the high school district board of Dr. J. B. Milne, a member since the town joined the district. No successor was named to fill his unexpired term.

REV. RUSSELL SELF TELLS OF MISSIONS

Members of Knox Presbyterian Church at their anniversary services on Sunday had the privilege of hearing about India first-hand from Rev. Russell Self, a young missionary home on furlough from his post at Jhansi in that country.

Mr. Self is not a complete stranger to Georgetown either for he has visited at Norval when his brother Rev. Leonard Self, now of Midland, was minister of the Norval and Union churches.

In the morning he told his listeners that God blesses us not for our own selfish purposes but that His way and saving grace may be known to all nations. He used many illustrations from his life in India to point up his sermon.

Eighty per cent of the people there go to bed hungry — if they had a bed, he said, and this fact is startling when one realizes that India's population equals that of North and South America and Africa combined.

A great deal of food and crops are consumed or destroyed by animals regarded as sacred, so the solution is not basically free wheat, but rather a real and living faith in Christ which will break through disbelief, he said.

Mr. Self also had a story for the children about snakes in India which he related to the gospel.

His evening message centred around the fact that we in the western world may have our idols too — pride, jealousy, hatred, money, which can only be destroyed by God's living grace.

Rev. Alex Calder conducted the service and Mrs. Edgar Gowland led the choir in special anthems prepared for the anniversary. Anna Spitzer was morning soloist and Edgar Gowland in the evening. At both services, a mixed quartette sang. Mrs. William Cromar, Mrs. Victor Torrance, Dick Packer and Edgar Gowland.

GEORGETOWN LEADS FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Georgetown high school were sparred to their second win in league competition by Dave Hart who turned in an eleven point performance in the downing of Milton 11-0 on Thursday.

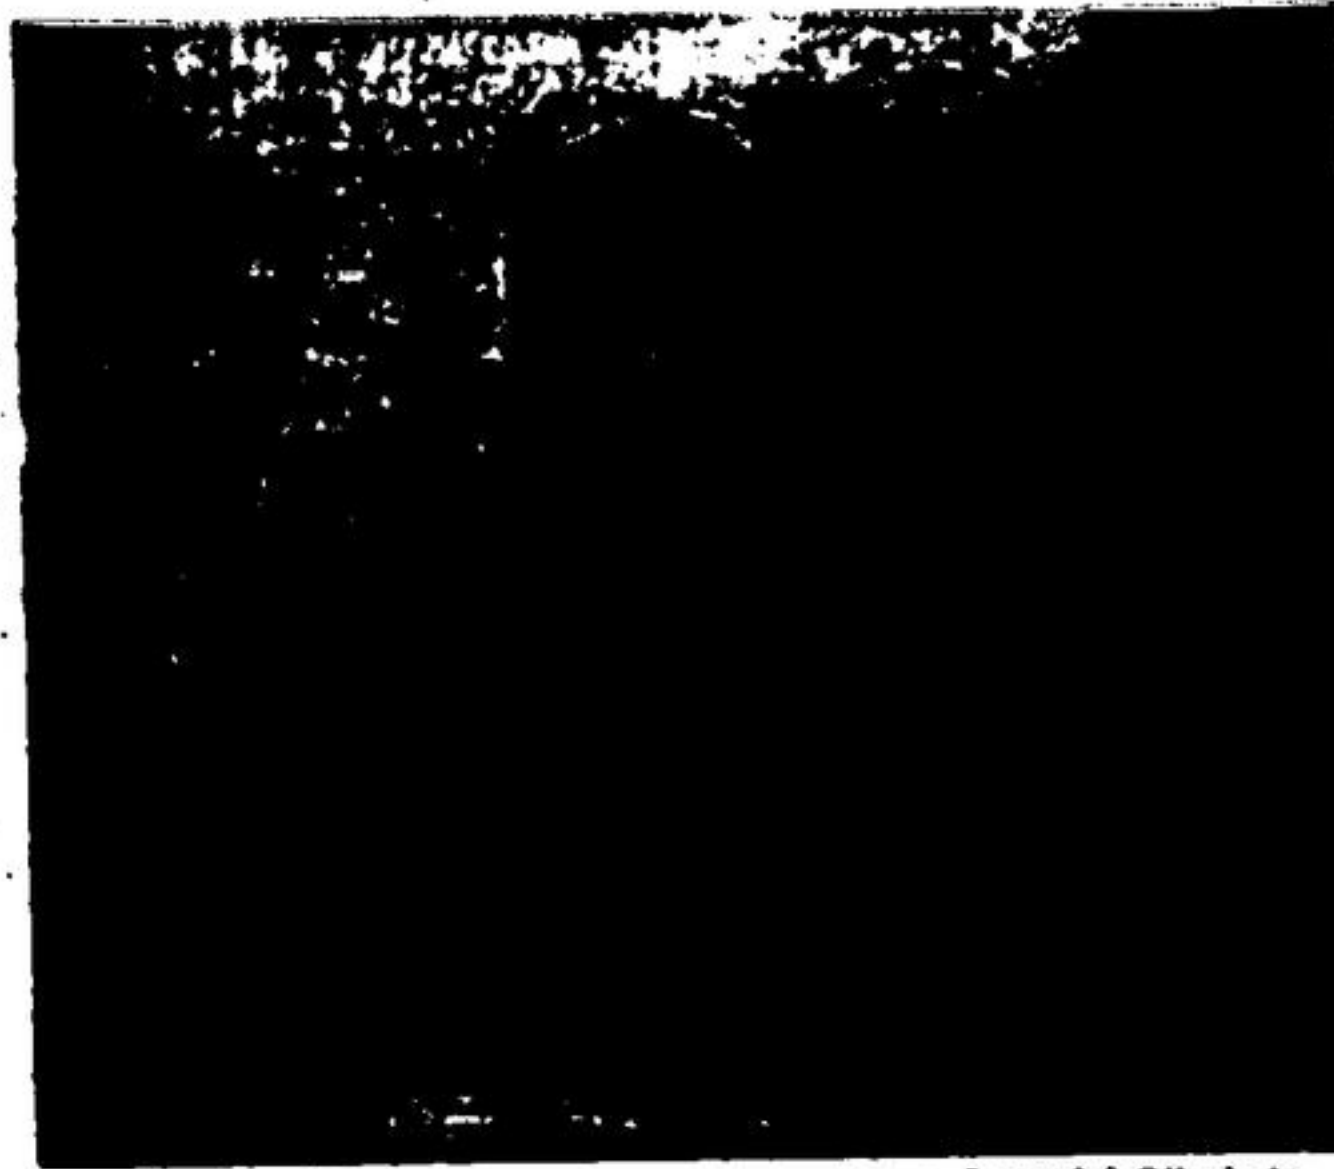

Georgetown opened strongly in the first quarter, with the break in the game coming on a Milton kick which was blocked — recovered for GHS by Scott deep in Milton territory. From there Pete Hart hit brother Dave with a pass for the Major. The elected pass on the convert was foiled when the two men in the clear, the ball hit the crossbar. The half closed with Georgetown again threatening to score.

Milton spurred on by their big gun Thompson, came back strongly but the GHS defensive team held them firm. Then with five minutes remaining, a high Milton snap on 3rd down put Georgetown in a position to score, and Dave Hart on a hand-off romped around left end for the touch down. His convert attempt was good.

Incidentals: General improvement on play... Sandy Mackenzie stood out with his kicking and tackling performance... next game today at Acton.

Georgetown... 2 0 16 0 4

Boys' Band First Public Appearance

Monday evening more than two hundred parents and teachers assembled in Wrightheaven School to hear and witness an exceptionally good program.

Kenneth R. Harrison, music director for local schools, conducted a class demonstration in music. Assisting him were the pupils of Miss Hazel Hall's Grade 4 class from the school. Following brief tune-up exercises, the class sang several previously learned songs. They also revealed a good grasp of several sight-singing exercises.

A highlight of the evening was the first public appearance of the Georgetown Boys' Band, a group which will form Georgetown Citizen's Band of the future. Harold Henry gave a brief resume of the band's activities since its beginning in April, and the good fortune of having Lorne Scots bandmaster Alf Perrott as leader, a man whose bands have always maintained a high record of achievement. Among other Lorne Scots who deserve mention for their interest and time devoted to the boys are Arthur Herbert, Joe Wilcox, Norman Long, Ed Peters and Ern Forgrave. Mr. Henry, principal of Chapel Street School also deserved credit for his liaison work with the various people concerned.

The thirty five boys, almost the same group which started in February put on a fine performance. They have been regular in attendance and have paid close attention to instruction and practiced faithfully.

Their program included two selections by the entire group, a concert duet by Robert Wrightheaven and Billy Wheeler, clarinet solo by Robbie Armstrong, accompanied by his mother Mrs. Fred Armstrong; trombone and euphonium duet by Bob Hutchinson and John Cummins; and a flute solo by Peter Glyn. Mrs. H. C. Wrightheaven was accompanist for three of the special numbers.

With such a splendid performance in its opening concert, Georgetown and district may anticipate hearing from them frequently in future.

John R. Barber, retired commanding officer of the Lorne Scots, spoke briefly on civil defence and showed two appropriate films.

Refreshments were served after the program.
