Form Guides, Brownies
Company in Georgetown

After a lapse of some years it appears that the Girl Guide movement will be established once again in Georgetown. On Friday evening a gratifying response was given to a meeting in St. George's Anglican Church by parents and children.

The Rev. Kenneth Richardson introduced Mrs. S. E. Wood, of Milton, the district commissioner of North Halton. Mrs. Wood spoke on the value of the movement and then indicated that the Norval Pack and Company would demonstrate their general meeting. The Brownies and their leaders Mrs. Sherring and Mrs. Louth provided a very informative time. The First Norval Company of Guides under the leadership of Mrs. W. Voornans, assisted by Mrs. Hunt and Miss Louth led in a song-and-dance and semaphore work.

The meeting then heard a witty and edifying address from Mrs. Robert A. Hoey, Division Commander for Halton, who explained the methods of Brownie and Guide program. Registration of the Georgetown Group took place and 13 Brownies and 15 guides and 4 Rangers registered and ten mothers will form the group associations. The leaders are:

The first Guide meeting will take place at a later date. One of the interesting features of the Friday meeting was that some years ago Georgetown went over and assisted Norval to get established and now Norval has lent a big sisterly hand to help re-establish the Georgetown Company. The movement is interdenominational in scope and further registrations will be received on the meeting nights until a quota is established, then a waiting list will be drawn up if necessary.

McMaster Students Have
Baptist Retreat Here

Over eighty students and members of the faculty from McMaster University were in Georgetown Thursday, where they had their annual fall retreat at First Baptist Church. The visitors heard Rev. H. J. Lewis, Toronto, president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec in the afternoon. Church ladies served supper and in the evening there was a communion service conducted by Professor Paul Rowntree Clifford of McMaster, assisted by Rev. Alfred Barker, minister of the church.
