Mrs. William Collier
Collingwood Native

On Wednesday, November 16, Mrs. William Collier died at her home, 8 Ewing Street, after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Collier, who was in her 87th year, had been in failing health for some years.

Born on a farm near Collingwood, she was the daughter of Ross and Margaret Forgrave. Before her marriage to William Collier fifty-six years ago she worked in Liverpool for a time. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Collier lived in Toronto and in the United States. They came to Georgetown fifteen years ago, upon the retirement of Mr. Collier.

Mrs. Collier was an adherent of the Christian Science religion, and when living near enough to the church, was very active in its work. She was also a member of the Eastern Star.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Collier leaves a son and daughter, Frederick W., of Indianapolis, Ind., and Dorothy (Mrs. F. P. Brown), Akron, Ohio. There is also one granddaughter, Beverly (Mrs. R. W. Latta), in Hamilton, Ohio, and a little great-grandson, Douglas Latta. Of her immediate family, only one sister, Mabel Forgrave, Georgetown, survives. Her other sister, Mrs. R. S. McMenemy, of Glen Williams and Georgetown, died in 1934.

Rev. Morgan McFarlane of St. John's United Church, conducted the funeral service at the Harold C. McClure Funeral Home, on Saturday, November 19th, at 2 o'clock. The pallbearers were all either nephews or grand nephews of Mrs. Collier: Neil Cummings, Jr., Guelph, Kenneth Young, Guelph, Fred Smallwood, Toronto, Mr. Greene, Toronto, Robert McMenemy, Glen Williams, and Jack Lucas, Glen Williams. The interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Georgetown.

CLUB MIDTOWN

by Georgell

Due to circumstances beyond our control, we were unable to attend the dance last Friday night, but our cub reporters, spies, and informants covered the event carefully and, according to their reports, all went well despite our absence (or because of it!) A proletarian pox on absentee landlordism!

A rather crucial and controversial matter has reared its head on the placid horizons of Club Midtown. It concerns a difference of opinion between C.M. boosters who attend high school and those who do not, on the subject of a dance scheduled for December 2. It seems that the high school wishes to hold a "Victory" dance in the Rose Room, but by school board regulations, non-students cannot attend. So if C.M. gives up the night in favour of the high school, there will be 30 or 40 faithful attenders who would be ineligible to go. That's one side.

If C.M. doesn't give up the hall for a high school dance there will be 30 or 40 students who will feel slighted and 30 or 40 more who don't particularly care one way or the other. That's the other side.

So there you are. An emergency meeting of the C.M. exec and student council officials has been called and it is hoped that the matter can be settled by peaceful arbitration.

Before we forget: the dance will be held in the Odd Fellows' Hall this Friday night.

H'mmm, we can't leave yet: we're allowed to clutter up more space than this. Ah, yes, here we are. In the bottom of our hope chest (course we got hopes) is a collection of Beat Loved Poems, by author unknown. Here's one for your perusal, approval and disposal.

It is entitled "Godiva Rides Again." "There was a young lady from Niger, With a smile, rode away on a tiger. They returned from the ride With the lady inside And the smile on the face of the tiger."

It just shows you can't trust anybody these days. —Au Reservoir

Church Groups Combine
For St. John's Bazaar

At four o'clock last Friday afternoon, Mrs. Morgan McFarlane opened the annual bazaar sponsored by the Women's Association of St. John's United Church, held in the church Memorial Hall.

The event was most successful, with booths and tea room well patronized. The hall lent a Christmas atmosphere with its decorations and Christmas tree done by the girls of the Friendship Circle.

The various departments of the bazaar were in charge of different groups of church ladies. Group 1, called the Friendship Circle was in charge of the Christmas cake and suggestions. Group 2 catered for the hot supper. The fancy work and apron booth was convoked by Group 3, and the home baking section was in charge of Group 4. The Explorers group unveiled the fish pond and novelties booths, the Young Ladies' Auxiliary had a homemade baking and candy booth, and the CGIT had a touch and take table.
