South West Ratepayers In Process of Organizing

Thirty four members attended a meeting of the Southwest Georgetown Ratepayers Association in the public library on Thursday.

S. W. Orr was in the chair and outlined the boundaries of the new association and its functions. The appointment of permanent officers was postponed because of the small number of members present.

It was decided that representatives of the association would attend Monday's council meeting to report any pertinent information to the association. A series of questions was set by members to be asked at the municipal nomination meeting tomorrow.

Santa and Reindeer Ambitious Project

Somebody will get a good return from a 25c investment in the Rebekahs lucky number draw, if they win the beautiful Santa Claus and five reindeer which was made by some of the ladies of Verdun Rebekah Lodge.

Santa and his entourage is a perfect miniature of the large sleigh and reindeer which will come to Georgetown with the real Santa on Saturday, December 17th. Intended as an outside house decoration for the Yuletide season, the jolly old Saint Nick is wearing a red suit of weatherproof plastic. He is complete in every detail, even to his pack of toys. His sturdy wooden sleigh is painted a gay red with black runners, and is drawn by five perky brown reindeer, also carved from wood. Rudolph with the shiny red nose leads the pack. All the reindeer have red plastic harnesses and silver bells.

When properly mounted, Santa's entourage is about 14 feet long. During the week of the draw it will be displayed in Harold C. McClure's Furniture Store, where it will no doubt draw the admiring attention of the grown-ups as well as children. It will also be on display at the Rebekah bazaar. The lucky draw will be made on the same afternoon as the Community Christmas Tree draw.

Sid Hardie Heads Sunbeam Ratepayers

Meeting in the public library on Friday, ratepayers in the Sunbeam Heights district elected a temporary committee by a show of hands to act as officers until a permanent executive is elected to guide affairs of this new organization.

The next meeting, it is hoped, will be held December 8th. This date will be confirmed and all members will be advised of time and place.

Friday's meeting was opened by Sid Hardie acting as chairman and Victor Clarke as secretary. The aims of the association were read and the non-political aspect of the organization stressed. The pro tem committee was suggested as it was felt there was not sufficient representation of the community present to continue with an election of officers.

Elected to the temporary executive were Sid Hardie, 4 Shelley Street, president; Forrest Inch, 24 Prince Charles Drive, vice president; Mrs. John Veitch, 43 Prince Charles Drive secretary.

Maurice Manderson offered to act as legal adviser and representative of the association and his offer was much appreciated and accepted. S. W. Orr, chairman of the Southwest Georgetown Ratepayers Association was present and offered his full support and cooperation.

Hear Bishop Broadcast Advent Sunday Feature

St. George's and St. Alban's Anglican Churches ushered in the new year with observance of Advent Sunday. Forty men of St. George's Chapter, Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen, met for 8 a.m. communion and for breakfast. President Stan Finlay conducted a short business session concerning the club. The church school reported the largest attendance in its history and the general congregation marked the parish's anniversary. At Glen Williams, St. Alban's congregation, the largest this fall, assembled in the nave of the church to listen to a special broadcast by Bishop W. E. Bagnall who described the Christian experience as "thrilling" and directed his listeners to church extension and intensified evangelism in the year ahead.
