LEGION NOTES

by Les Clark

Just one week away from the biggest event of all, namely the Legion Christmas Tree. Remember the date, Thursday evening, December 22nd at the Legion Hall at 7.00 p.m. The committee in charge under Charlie Day, have done a great job of getting things ready for this event, and we are sure everyone, mothers and fathers and children alike will be happy about the whole evening. Also at the affair we understand Charlie has a new feature, which should be looked on with a great deal of favour by the people attending.

The hockey committee, under the chairmanship of Frank Connelly are doing a great job these Saturday mornings and deserve a great deal of credit. The number of boys playing have increased drastically, and the committee certainly have their hands full looking after them. They ask for the cooperation of everyone, parents and players alike. With the increase in the size of the town, they find it quite a chore, and certainly can use all the help they can get. (Incidentally, Frank when you and a number of your committee get to the arena about 6.30 on a Saturday morning for midget practice, try walking a bit more softly, eh? You've no idea how much noise footsteps can make crunching in the snow at that hour, especially to the writer, still snugly in bed. Thanks)

Oakville held their annual Stag Night last Friday evening and we understand as usual the place was taxed to capacity. Wonder what the new year will hold for the Legion, in regards to its growth, with the size of the community expanding so. Of one thing we can be sure, Branch 120 will progress right along with the town. Wonder how Gord is coming along as an embryo sergeant major. Apologies to Si Lang, who has been complaining about never seeing his name in this column. Says it's awfully hard for a comparative newcomer like himself to get acquainted, (especially when as shy as he) with out a bit of publicity. So we'd ask the boys in Plastics to let us know of anything interesting that happens in Si's life, and we'll print it (providing it's printable). We think that this column will have to take an issue and introduce the new members, now that there are so many unfamiliar faces around the branch. Darts and crib still hold away, with big crowds each Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon.

Burlington Votes New Election System

Burlington voters gave no uncertain mandates to the proposed by-law to determine the composition of the municipal council and the manner of its election, when the plebiscite carried by a majority vote of 1,057. Total vote was: for the by-law, 1,164; against 127.

The proposed by-law will mean that the mayor, reeve, and deputy-reeve will in future be elected by the vote at large and one councillor will be elected to represent each of six wards, the total personnel of council to be nine as at present.

Reeve Robert H. Shannon was re-elected reeve by a majority of 441 over his opponent, Frank Whittaker, a member of this year's council. George Albert Kerr, a Hamilton lawyer, a newcomer to Burlington municipal politics, headed the polls for councillor with 896 votes. Another newcomer to the municipal field this year, Harry Foster Allen, came second with 823 votes. Others elected to serve on the 1968 council were William Hewitt 786; Frank G. Dighton 736; Hugh C. Elsam 735 and Harry A. Corras 103. William Hewitt and Frank Dorton are members of this year's council, Hugh Elsam has had previous experience on council.

Unsuccessful candidates in order of their standing were: John H. Wiseman 651; William MacFarlane 529; George D. Johnson, 403; Gordon E. Rusby, 379 and James Wumaley, 375.

Mayor E. W. Smith had been given an acclamation for his sixth term as mayor and 21st term consecutively on municipal council. Fred C. Atkinson had been re-elected deputy-reeve by acclamation and all members of the School Board and Public Utilities Commission had been given acclamations.

Out of a possible 4,940 electors, about 25 per cent exercised their franchise. Last year it was 17 per cent. The highest percentage of votes was polled in ward three with 45 per cent of the electors marking their ballots.

FARM NEWS

HALTON DEBATERS GET DECISIONS

Wednesday evening of last week saw Halton Junior Farmers go into action on two debating fronts. The executive of the provincial junior farmer association is trying out an innovation this year in the debating field. Each county entering the debating competition must have two teams, one to uphold the affirmative side of the question, and the other to take the negative. Consequently while Halton's affirmative team of George Greenlees and Mac Sprowl was debating up near Galt against Waterloo's negative team, down at the Trafalgar Township Hall, Halton's negative team of Roy Ford and Lloyd Vivian debated against Waterloo's affirmative. Here John W. Pickett, president of the Halton Juniors, was the chairman of the evening. The subject was "Resolved that a policy designed to encourage the establishment of larger farms would be in the best interests of Ontario farmers."

At Trafalgar, Waterloo's affirmative team members were Newton Ginterich and Arthur Woods, while at Galt their negative team members were Bob Stockle and Margaret Brown. Dr. Norman High, director of the associate course at the Ontario Agricultural College, was the neutral judge at Trafalgar, with George E. Elliott, Q.C., of Milton, and Mac Coutts of the Grand River Authority, as the two additional judges on the panel. At Galt, Glen Warlow of the Public Relations Dept. at the OAC was the neutral judge and the assisting judges were W. E. Breckon of Appelpy and George Murray of Galt.

At both points the Halton debaters got the unanimous decision of the adjudicating panel. Halton debaters will now meet the Lincoln County debaters who recently defeated Huron County. The date for the next round has not as yet been set but it will be some time during the current month.
