

Honour School Bus Drivers For Their Accident-Free Records

Courtesy, care and common sense were stressed at the rural safe-driving week awards night at Fairview School, Lowville. The evening was highlighted by a film, messages from OPP officers, sing songs and presentations of awards.

Chairman for the evening was Jack Taylor. He introduced Constable Al Haughton of the Oakville detachment of the OPP, who gave an introduction to the film "Day in Court." The story told in the film was on traffic safety, filmed in Los Angeles. It pointed out the faults of those highway drivers such as "The Grabber," "Nervous Nelly," "Two-Beers Bennie," "Supermouse," "Desert Island Daisie," "Mr. Average" and "The Showoff."

Constable Haughton noted that most of the accidents in his district, especially along the Queen Elizabeth highway, were caused by travelling too close to the car ahead, failure to move into the right lane after passing a car, and failure to use turning signals, wherever possible. He cautioned his attentive audience to use the three C's of highway driving: Courtesy, Care and Common Sense.

Sergeant A. A. Jackson agreed with the constable's remarks, and added that the speed of a vehicle should not be 50 miles an hour but according to the weather conditions. He also said that many highway accidents are caused by the lack of proper tail lights. He urged the co-operation of farm forums with the police.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Readhead led in a singsong. Following this, eight Halton school bus drivers with five years or over of accident-free driving were called upon.

W. E. Breckon, chairman of the Nelson public school board, presented the trophies donated by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture to four Nelson drivers: Grant Norton, who had nine years of accident-free driving; Bill Stevenson with six years; Cecil Norton who operates 17 buses and has had over five accident-free years; and Bill Blakely, with five years. Mr. Breckon also presented an award to Ken Giles of Trafalgar township, who has five accident-free years.

Mr. Breckon stressed the need of safe driving by school bus drivers and praised the work of Mr. Norton and his fleet of bus drivers.

Ross Carbert, of the Norton Halton High School District Board, presented the trophies to E. Tyler, Acton, who has had seven accident free years and two Georgetown drivers, Vernon Kirby and Wallace Foster, who have each had five years without accident. President B. Davidson of the Halton Federation of Agriculture presented certificates on behalf of that organization to each of the eight drivers.

J. E. Whitelock presented the award to the Limestone farm forum for their 100-word winning essay in the contest sponsored by the local federation. The essay, one of 15 received in the contest, noted the lack of the three C's of traffic safety, and recommended that all members of the organization try their best to teach the younger generation the correct method of handling a motor vehicle.
