District Commissioner Enrols 1st Brownie Pack

The 1st Georgetown Brownie pack was enrolled last Monday when district commissioner Mrs. S. E. Wood, Milton officiated at an impressive ceremony witnessed by a number of parents and friends in the parish hall of St. George's Anglican Church.

Mrs. Wood also presented the Brown Owl pin to Mrs. Harold Henry, who is in charge of the brownie pack formed last fall. Each girl received her pin and Six emblem from Mrs. Wood, who had a special little word for each girl. The pack presented some of their drills and songs, and Mrs. Woods taught them a new song which they will be rehearsing at future meetings. The guides presented the brownies with a pennant.

Mrs. Eric Timms, Tawny Owl, assisted in the ceremony which was followed by refreshments served by some of the mothers, rangers and guides.

Members of the brownie pack are: Fairies, Jo-Ann Watts, sixer, Sharon Allen, Sharon King, Elizabeth Davidson, Mary Hiits, Christine Leslie, Jean Anne Inglis.

Elves, Ginny Terry, sixer, Johnnie Emery, Sandra Marchment, Cheryl Lawr, Janis Chaplin, Jeanette MacDougall, Jill Runham.

Headaches

Headache is not a disease. It is a symptom. Temporary relief is welcomed, but the wise course to follow is to have the cause located and eliminated. The most common cause of headaches is displacement (subluxation) of one or more neck vertebrae or related discs.

Migraine, frequently known as "sick headaches" is one of the diseases most misunderstood and mistreated. There are three principal symptoms: headache, digestive trouble and emotional upsets. The pain is usually experienced around the eyes, and one side of the head made worse by light, noise or movement.

Chiropractic care is directed towards the correction of these structural disturbances, by highly skilled manual means. This removes the cause of nerve irritation, removing symptoms at their origin, the spinal column.

Nearly every community in Southern Ontario has experienced growth in the 10 years since the end of World War II. In many cases the growth has been rapid. Rapid growth has brought with it many problems.

Schools become overcrowded and new schools are expensive. Municipal services, such as water and sewage disposal require costly enlargements. Municipal office staffs, police and fire departments need new members and this involves a higher payroll.

Since all these changes cost money, the expense must be passed along in the form of taxes. Usually, it is the home owner who suffers because industrial expansion has not equalled the growth of residential development.

Georgetown, because of Delrex, is solving this problem the best possible way—through planning. Although Georgetown is destined to grow into a model city, the taxpayer will not have to carry an increased burden.

Delrex has been planned in such a manner that Georgetown's welfare will be protected. Water and sewer lines, including the main trunks on new roads, have all been installed at the expense of the developer, rather than at the expense of the town. School sites have been donated, roads will be surfaced and sidewalks installed.

Industries help keep the mill rate down because they pay regular property taxes plus a business tax. Industries have no children, so school costs don't rise with industrial development.

With this in mind, Delrex has guaranteed that industrial development will keep pace with residential development.

Planning in this direction means Georgetown will benefit twice. Delrex will bring new wealth to the area, but costs, and taxes, will be kept under strict control.

Boiler Trouble Moves Church to Theatre

Trouble with the boiler in St. John's United Church on Saturday forced some rapid changes in arrangements for the Sunday services.

With the heating system inoperative the church made use of the Roxy Theatre which was offered by manager Bill Leslie, and the congregation held their morning and evening services there.

Guides, cubs and boy scouts paraded in uniform to the church in the evening, where they heard Rev. Morgan McFarlane preach a sermon particularly slanted to young people. Using "How Would You Answer?" as his topic, he asked a number of questions, which, when answered in one's own mind, revealed the character of the individual. Mr. McFarlane also paid tribute to leaders in the scout and guide movement, who give freely of their time and talent to mould youngsters into better citizens of the future.

Assistant Field Commissioner R. Robertson, Hamilton, of scout headquarters staff, was present to bring greetings from the central organization. He read the scripture lesson, 1st Corinthians: 13.

The Wrigglesworth School choir, directed by Kenneth R. Harrison led the service of praise, with Mr. Harrison playing piano accompaniment.

Continue Farm Pond Subsidy in Halton

The annual meeting of the Halton Conservation Committee met in the agricultural office in Milton on Tuesday evening of last week. This committee, which is made up of the members of the committee on agriculture and reforestation of Halton county council, plus one or two representatives each from a number of Halton farm organizations, dealt with the question of whether or not to recommend the continuance of Halton's farm pond policy. Halton's reforestation programme and the county weed problem. Incidentally the committee is recommending to county council the continuance of the farm pond policy for 1956. While a total of 162 applications have been received under this policy, there are many folks who have taken no action since the site for their proposed pond was approved. There are a number of others who have constructed ponds but have not got them fenced to turn live stock, as required under the policy. Perhaps they are not interested in the $100 subsidy. In any event for 1956 subsidies will be paid on approved ished churchman has stressed the personal commitment of a person's life to Christ.

The services have been well received by people who have heard Mr. McWhinnie during his nightly appearances. The crusade was somewhat hampered by weather conditions last week, and on Wednesday it was impossible for the speaker to drive from Oakville. Rev. Alfred Barker substituted for him that night, and conducted the worship part of the other services.

Special music was supplied at each service by the local choir and organist Mrs. Walter Townsend, with assists from various members of the Oakville church. On Sunday, Mrs. Crowley Nubey, Toronto, was soloist.

Sunday night, Rev. Alfred Barker preached in the Oakville church.
