Rev. Kenneth Lemkay Was Minister at Glen

Student minister at Glen Williams United Church in 1940-41, Rev. Kenneth Lemkay, 39, died at West Lincoln Memorial Hospital, Grimsby, Monday after a long illness. He was a native of Toronto.

Mr. Lemkay, who made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Addy while he was in the Glen, later graduated with his B.A. degree from Victoria College, University of Toronto, and received his B.D. degree from Emmanuel College. He served as a missionary in Saskatchewan for five years, before going to Hamilton Presbytery.

He was minister of Blakely United Church, and in 1950 became minister of Trinity Church in Grimsby. There he actively promoted the building of a new church, and in requesting no flowers, Mr. Lemkay asked instead that donations in his memory be given to the building fund.

His death occurred as the result of a brain tumour, for which he underwent an operation 4 months ago.

He leaves his wife, and three children, David, Douglas and Ruth. The funeral service is being held in Trinity United Church, Grimsby, Thursday at 2 p.m.

Former Automobile Dealer Canadian Chrysler Head

A 45-year-old former automobile dealer today became president of Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, with the election to that position of Ron W. Todgham.

Announcement of Mr. Todgham's election was made this morning by L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler Corporation, following a meeting of Chrysler of Canada directors.

At the same time Mr. Colbert announced that E. C. Row has relinquished his position as president and general manager of the Canadian company to become administrative vice president of the parent corporation. This is a new position in the corporation in which, as chief administrative officer, Mr. Row will report directly to Mr. Colbert.

Today's announcements follow by less than a month the appointment of Mr. Todgham as executive vice president of Chrysler of Canada and Mr. Row's appointment as president of Chrysler Export Corporation and his election as a vice president of Chrysler Corporation.

Mr. Todgham will be the fourth president in Chrysler of Canada's 31-year history and the first to be born in Canada. He is a native of Toronto and moved to Windsor as a child, receiving his early education in the schools of this city and later graduating from the University of Michigan.

His first association with the company was nearly 30 years ago during his high school vacation periods. Following his graduation he joined the advertising department and subsequently became a member of the sales executive staff. In 1939 he acquired a corporation dealership at Chatham, Ontario, which he operated very successfully for the next 14 years.

In 1955 he returned to the head office at Windsor as a staff executive and subsequently appointed executive assistant to the president and general manager. In retiring as president of Chrysler of Canada Mr. Row closes an active association with the company which began in 1941. During the past five years, under his direction as president and general manager the company has grown substantially and recently reported all-time record figures in production, sales and employment. Mr. Row will continue as a director of Chrysler of Canada.

Report Proposes Legalized Bingos, Limit on Prizes

by Harvey Hickey in the Globe & Mail

A report on the findings of a special parliamentary committee, reprinted from the Globe and Mail, has special local interest, because Sybil Bennett, M.P., Q.C., was a committee member. It is also topical locally because of the cancellation of the hospital gift house draw, which was in the news last week.

The monster bingos repeatedly held by service clubs and other reputable organizations in the larger cities will be doomed if Parliament accepts a recommendation made by one of its special committees.

A committee of senators and MPs advocated legalization of bingos, sweepstakes and lotteries provided they were licensed by provincial authority and, more important, provided that the total expenditure on prizes by any one organization was limited to $5,000 a year.

While condemning state lotteries, the committee believed that limited lottery or bingo gambling should be allowed under conditions set forth in its report and which among other things, were aimed at eliminating professional games reporters.

It cited as a parallel the view that while prohibition has been a failure, the licensing and control laws now applicable to the liquor trade were relatively more enforceable.

Another of its recommendations would close a loophole in the anti-gambling laws by prohibiting the importation of foreign sweepstake tickets. At present it is unlawful to buy, sell or transport these tickets within Canada, but there is no specific ban on importation.

Also, while the law now forbids the possession of sweepstake tickets and contains a complicated provision for the confiscation of prizes, the lucky winners of, say, the Irish sweepstakes are never prosecuted, even though their names and pictures are front page news.

The committee suggested that the prize confiscation provisions be tightened up and that there be more consistent enforcement. Of course, law enforcement is the responsibility of the provincial attorneys-general, some of whom take a more complacent view of sweepstakes than others.

Another recommendation, if effected, would end the "foto-nites," held by many neighbourhood movi theatres as well as some of the so-called contests staged by merchant, including the big chain stores. The report suggested that the law prohibiting lotteries should apply equally to advertising and promotion contests which involved any element of chance.

Headed by Senator Salter Hayden of Toronto and Don F. Bown (L., Essex West), the committee has sat since the 1954 session of Parliament. It has already presented reports recommending the retention of the death penalty, though by means other than hanging, and the abolition of corporal punishment as part of a court sentence.

No action will be taken on any part of the report at this session of Parliament. The Government plans to hold a conference with the provincial Attorneys-General on how to effect the various recommendations of this committee as well as of three Royal Commissions, which are investigating other aspects of crime and punishment. It is possible that legislation may not even be brought forward at the next session.

The committee acknowledged that relaxation of prohibitions on lotteries was opposed by the Canadian Council of Churches, representing the principal Protestant congregations, and also in separate submissions made by the United Church of Canada and the Anglican Church. Other opponents of relaxation included the Canadian Welfare Council and the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada.

However, as the view of a group of mature, responsible citizens of some substance, the committee's opinion of the present anti-gambling laws held interest. It said:
