The semi-monthly menace is back with a diminutive report of C.J.M.'s activities during the past few weeks.
The combination weiner roast and swimming party held at the Waterfalls Playground three weeks ago turned out to be a reasonably success with a better than expected crowd attending. Only those who look well in blue dared to plunge into the pool to swim, but the brave few who did seemed to acquire a voracious appetite for the parboiled weiners and clammy buns. The dance at the Rose Room following the affair was not a success. (It could have been the food, maybe?)

Another dance was held last Saturday night at the Stewarttown Community Hall, which, although started on the wrong foot, (with Elvis Pretzel records) managed to survive the first hour and became rather enjoyable as the evening progressed.

Before we go further, perhaps we should explain our apparent dislike for Elvis and his colleagues. Perhaps a few of you have read columns, editorials, views and reviews of Rock 'n Roll concerts, wherein the audiences are driven to such a frenzy by its mysterious 'beat,' that they tend to lose their sense of social judgment and become disorderly, riotous, antagonistic to non Rock 'n Rollers, and axiomatically, dangerous. Such a condition was demonstrated (on a much smaller scale) last Saturday night at the dance.

As we stated previously, the dancing started with R 'n R records. A minority of the crowd proceeded to "jive" to the music (?). When slower (and saner) records were played, the R 'n R fans became (and we're neither ashamed nor afraid to say this) obnoxious, juvenile and disturbing to the great distaste of the others present. We are happy to say this, however, that when they learned that they must have their type of records in a limited quantity, they reconciled themselves to the fact and became human beings once more.

To quote some great man who must have faced a similar situation at one time: "All's well that ends well."

The foregoing was the view of a square who isn't hip to this modern age.

All this leaves us with nothing to say, except, don't forget the dance on August 25th in Stewarttown. See you then.

LAYMEN IN CHARGE OF ANGLICAN SERVICE
On Sunday, two members of the St. George's Anglican parish conducted services in the absence of Rev. Kenneth Richardson.
J. L. Lambert conducted matins and preached the morning sermon. Rudy Meier took the evening service.

West Halton's 4-H Tractor Maintenance Club held their final meeting of the club year at the W. I. Dales farm implement show on the No. 25 highway near Milton on Thursday evening of last week. President George Hume was in charge of the meeting when plans were made for their club display at the Milton Fair. The theme back of their educational display is to be "Farm Safety." The club members also decided to hold their tractor driving competition at Lowville Park on Monday evening, August 20th at 8 p.m. The topics of the evening included lubrication and oil quality, cooling systems and tires which were led by Agricultural Engineering fieldman Ross Milne. All in all it was most interesting meeting to listen in on and we were not surprised at the conclusion of the meeting to over-hear Club leader Jack Taylor comment "Well, I don't know about the club members but I learned a lot tonight myself."
