HOLSTEIN SHOW AT C.N.E. THIS WEEK

Last year, the Holstein show at the CNE was one of the largest in the country, but indications are that the 1956 show will be still larger. Entries this year are from 128 exhibitors, an increase of fourteen per cent over a year ago, and there are 366 head entered, an eight per cent increase.

Judging will take place Thursday and Friday, August 30th and 31st, with D. S. Dunton, Brampton, Ontario, placing the awards.

While operated as an open show, the CNE is designated as the Holstein championship show for the West-Central Ontario, and all but seven of the exhibitors are from the ten counties in this district. Halton has 22 exhibitors, Waterloo 19, Peel 16, Haldimand 15, Wentworth 12, Lincoln, Welland and Wellington eight each; Brant 6 and Grey 6.

Holstein fieldman George Drennan, of Guelph states that this will be a very strong, well balanced show. The senior classes, both male and female will be well filled, the senior females averaging eighteen head to a class. There are thirteen two-year-old bulls entered and thirteen aged bulls which should provide strong competition in classes which have in recent years been down in numbers at practically all Canadian shows. Mr. Drennan is looking for particularly keen competition in the county herd class, where each of the ten counties will have a first class entry.

The prize money for Holsteins totals $7,660 which is believed to be the largest amount ever offered

Corned Beef Dinner For Lions Club Summer Meeting

The Georgetown Lions Club held their summer meeting in the form of a corned beef and cabbage supper at the house of Ray Whitmee, Tuesday, August 21st.

A good number turned out at the supper prepared by ex-Lion Ray Whitmee, assisted by Rotarian Jack Muckart. The Lions will be aiding the Rotarians with their auction sale.

In a business meeting which followed the festivities it was decided that the club sponsor a North Halton unit of the Canadian Cancer Association.

The organization will be setting up a dressing centre in north Halton which will be primarily for the applications of dressings to those people in the area, afflicted with mild cases of skin cancer.

The unit will also supply transportation to patients who must be treated in hospital, and have no way of getting there. At present, the closest unit providing these services is established at Brampton.

It was also announced by the Lions that they have secured ten volunteers to help at the swimming pool on Swim Day. A discussion followed, as to advertising arrangements in connection with a public address system they now have for rent.

They are also completing plans on the second monster bingo which they hope will push the pool campaign over the $40,000 mark.

Many of this year's fifth formers at Georgetown High School plan to continue their education next year in special courses which will prepare them for their chosen vocation.

Leanne Darou, Rockwood and Betty Greig, R. R. 1, Georgetown, will begin their nurse's training at Western General Hospital on Bathurst Street, Toronto.

Harry Greig will be at the University of Toronto as will Brian Goodlet and Bob Hess. Harry has decided upon the dentistry course; Brian will be enrolled in the School of Practical Science, a division of the U of T, where he will take Mechanical Engineering, and Bob plans to make Chemical Engineering his career.

Dave Hart has been accepted into the University of Western Ontario and plans to take the History and Commerce course offered there. Also at Western will be Ross McGilvray. Ross will be studying Business Administration.

Gerald Scott is presently employed at the Canada Packers office in Toronto. Gerry plans to take an accounting course through that company.

Sandra Scott and Barry Timleck will return to Grade 13 to complete their senior matriculation.

Bill Hardman is a salesman at Cotton Bros. clothing store. Bill plans to continue operation of Photo Craft Enterprises as a sideline.

The majority of this year's Commercial Special class are now securely employed.

Sandra Bradley is secretary with W. H. Carr and Associates. Bob Tracey is a cost accountant at Smith and Stone. Don Puckering is junior draftsman in the Smith and Stone drafting department. Perce Mossop is employed with a Toronto life insurance company.

Beth Ritchie and Stella Lewandowski of Acton are both employed in the office of the Acton Tannery. Norma Smith is secretary in the Hydro Office; Margaret Bingham is secretary at Hewson and Ord's law office; Claire Bradley will enroll in Fashion Design classes at Ryerson in September, and Fran Zupatink is employed as a secretary with Smith and Stone.

Ed Norton is vacationing before finding employment.

LEGION BRANCHES TO BE FEATURED ON TELEVISION

Word has been received that the approaching Decoration Day service and zone parade will be featured on TV on at least one district station and possibly two. A representative of one station was in town last Thursday to make arrangements for this.

The parade, which is expected to be one of the biggest held in some time will form at the Legion Hall, and proceed to the Cenotaph, then to the cemetery for service. The fall-in time is called for 2:00 p.m. in front of the Legion Hall, Georgetown, with service in the cemetery at 2:30 p.m.

It is hoped units will be representing Branches of Zone B-7 from Brampton, Streetsville, Milton, Acton, Port Credit, Oakville as well as Georgetown's local unit, Branch 120.

This will be the first time that a parade of this sort has been televised in Georgetown.

FARM NEWS PERTINENT FACTS FROM SASKATCHEWAN REPORT

An article which we thought thought provoking appeared in the August issue of Maclean's Magazine. The article in question was written by W. B. Baker, who was the chairman of the Saskatchewan six member commission on agriculture and rural life. Here are a few pertinent statements we found of interest. "Already many small Saskatchewan farms have vanished. Between 1939 and 1951, 40,000 quarter and half section farms were absorbed into 8,500 farms of a section or more. There are just over 100,000 Saskatchewan farms, but this number will decrease because half of those farms are still too small to farm economically under present conditions. The trend away from the farm is only inevitable but altho' this may sound callous, it's healthy. Eventually, we'll see fewer farms and will provide a better living for those who farm them. More people will be released for industrial jobs to produce more goods.

There is nothing wrong with the trend, if our cities can produce jobs for ex-farmers. With mechanization, the average operation and overhead costs per Saskatchewan farm, have increased from one thousand dollars a year in 1941 to $3,000 a year today. That's the average, probably half the farmers have costs higher than $3,000.00. It's cash and scientific know how, that run the prairie farm, not muscle. Most scientific advances, chemical weed control, fertilizer, improved live stock feeding, cost money. Many small farmers want to use farm science but simply can not afford to." While Saskatchewan and Ontario farming vary materially one from another, the principle still applies. The unfortunate point in Halton and the surrounding area is, that the present time if one wished to increase the size of one's unit, land values or prices being asked are entirely too high to be purchased for farming purposes. One should also bear in mind that the size of the farm business is not necessarily tied up with the acreage in land. Furthermore while volume of business is very important there are four or five other factors equally important in determining whether or not a farm operator is successful financially. We have in mind (1) Returns per Crop Acre; (2) Returns per animal unit; (3) Efficiency in the use of Labour; (4) Efficiency in the use of Capital; (5) Combinations of enterprises. Much more might be written on this important topic but perhaps this is sufficient for the moment. In this area where the purchase of additional land does not seem practical, perhaps more thought might be given by those with limited acreages to the cooperative use of farm machinery in some form.

OTTAWA AIRFORCEMAN Harry Edwin Lowther and Ada Louise Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Webb, Norval, were married in Trinity United Church, Toronto. The groom is the son of Mr. Oswald Lowther, Carlton Siding, P.E.I.
