Doherty-Clements Wedding
In St. Paul's Church, Milton

St. Paul's United Church, Milton was decorated with white and pink gladioli on Saturday, September 1st for the wedding of Vina Morea, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Clements to William James Doherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Doherty, Georgetown. Rev. Dr. H. J. Warr officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of frost white nylon net over taffeta, the long sleeved bodice was of embroidered nylon net. A halo style headdress held her full length veil of embroidered nylon net and she carried a crescent shaped arm bouquet of red roses.

Attending the bride, were Joan Montgomery, maid of honour, and bridesmaids Glenna Doherty, sister of the groom and Donna Clements, sister of the bride. They were gowned alike in ballerina length gowns of shrimp toned crystalette over taffeta, styled with fitted bodices and lowered waistlines. Their halo type head pieces were of matching material and they carried cascade bouquets of white pom pom chrysanthemums. Tiny 2 year old Dianne Gibbons was a sweet flower girl, wearing a short full skirted dress of pale yellow embossed nylon, and had a floral headdress and bouquet of white baby mums.

John Doherty, brother of the groom was the best man and the ushers were George Clements, brother of the bride, Bill Hewitt and John McGinnis.

Mrs. George Newell played the wedding music and Mrs. Faye McGinnis, sister of the bride was the soloist. She sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

The reception was held on the spacious lawn of the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother, receiving the guests, wore a

When Bus Breaks Down

A Gray Coach bus bound for Toronto Tuesday, Sept. 11th experienced motor trouble at about 6.45 a.m., stopping just west of the town limits. When it was discovered the difficulty could not be quickly repaired, Constable Ted Scott of the Georgetown Police went out of his way to assist the passengers in finding transportation to Toronto.

Constable Scott flagged down the southbound traffic securing rides for all the passengers many of whom had schedules to keep. One woman was on her way to Ottawa to the bedside of her sister who was about to have a serious operation.

The bride's going away suit was two-toned grey wool worn with pink accessories and her corsage was a white orchid. The couple will reside in a new apartment in the rear wing of the bride's family home.

Out of town guests were present from Chicago, London, Barrie, Paris, Toronto and Georgetown.
