Mrs. Victoria Gollop Town Dentist's Widow

Widow of a Georgetown dentist, Mrs. Benjamin Gollop, 87 was buried in Hillcrest Cemetery, Norval on Monday. Interment followed a funeral service at the Harold C. McClure Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. J. E. Maxwell and Rev. W. Edgar Gill.

Mrs. Gollop was the former Victoria Alice Pearen, daughter of Jonathan and Mary Ann James Pearen. She was born in Chingacousy Township and after her marriage lived in Milton, where her husband practiced dentistry for twenty years, then in Norval for a few years and latterly in Georgetown. Dr. Gollop's office here was located above Bobb's Drug Store. Following his death in 1936, she continued to reside in Georgetown until 1940, moving from here to Milton and later to Hanover.

Mrs. Gollop made a hobby of fine needlework. At the age of 80, she made a lace tablecloth which won first prize when shown at Hanover fair. She was a member of Georgetown Women's Institute when she lived in town, and as a girl sang in the Norval Methodist Church choir.

A family of three children survive, Mrs. Marion Armstrong, Hanover; Dr. Fred Gollop, Ottawa; and Norman Gollop, Chicago, Ill. Three children died in infancy, Isabel, Gordon and Roy. She also leaves a brother Fletcher Pearen, Stratford; and two half-brothers, Wellington Greensward, Georgetown and Bert Greensward, Brampton. A brother Frank Pearen died in Milton last year. Pallbearers at the funeral were Ross Pearen, Milton; Frank Sloane Toronto; Lloyd Ronald, Collingwood; George Greensward, Dick Licata and Lorne Cleave.

Frank Pollock, Novelist Wrote Children's Books

Frank Lillie Pollock, a former resident of Dufferin Street was buried in Greenwood Cemetery Friday morning following requiem mass conducted at Holy Cross R.C. Church by Fr. Thomas Van Liere. He died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Guelph on Wednesday following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Pollock, a native of Franklin, Tennessee, was an author and two of his novels, "Bitter Honey" and "Jupiter Eight" are on the shelves of the local library. He also wrote boys' books, parts of which at one time were used in the public school readers.

Until a few years ago, he worked in the summer as a beekeeper, and Mr. and Mrs. Pollock would spend the summer near Sheddon while the Edward Wodsons of Toronto took over their home here for summer visits. Mr. Pollock used his experience with bees as background for the Bitter Honey novel. On his mother's side he was a relative of the famous actress Beatrice Lillie, Lady Peel. He leaves his wife, the former Zella Ethel Taylor.

WILSON AGAIN HEADS TOWN PLANNING BOARD

W. Edwin Wilson, Valleyview Rd. was elected to a second term as chairman when Georgetown Planning Board held its first meeting of the year on Thursday in the Municipal Building.

The board has had only one change in personnel this year. Executive Fran Noble has been replaced by Reeve Stap Allen as a council appointee. Other members are Claude Kentner, vice-chairman; Robert McMenemy, Harold Bairstow, Mayor Jack Armstrong and Deputy Reeve Doug Sargent.

Clarence Benham continues as secretary-treasurer. Thursday's meeting was concerned with discussion of the proposed zoning by-law, the subject of extensive study and revision last year, which met some opposition when it was presented to council in the late fall.

Town solicitor George Hewson was present to report that the current trend is to streamline such by-laws, making them apply strictly to land use, and distance from street lines to be incorporated in a building by-law which is supplemental to zoning.

The board felt that starting over on a new by-law would not be sensible, then got into a discussion about the controversial points of sections of town which have been industrially zoned. It was Mayor Armstrong's opinion certain properties like the Moore farm on Main St. N. and an area of land near Alliance Paper Mills, Ltd., could be zoned agricultural for the time being. This would leave these open for decision in future when definite building plans were presented for the properties.

In an effort to finalize passing of the by-law council, the planning board is arranging a joint meeting with council at which Mr. Pearson of the Dept. of Planning and Development will be asked to be present for advice.

J. E. W. Farm Income Tax and the basic herd policy was the basis for the excellent group discussion led by Professor A. C. Robertson of the Dept. of Economics, Ontario Agricultural College, on Wednesday evening of last week. The board room of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in Milton was crowded to capacity, and interest was keen as indicated by the discussion which was terminated at a late hour by president Fred Nurse of the Halton farm management association.

Brampton May Bring Another Play Here

There is a good possibility that the next production of the Brampton Players will make an appearance in Georgetown.

Pink String and Sealing Wax, which played to a near-capacity audience and raised funds for the local hospital association was a successful venture and has encouraged the Brampton dramatic group to consider a return engagement. The players are at present rehearsing "No Rhyme, No Reason" which, as its title implies, is a farce comedy.

Ron Brightly, 28 Hewson Crescent, who had a leading role in the first production, has a starring
