FARM FORUMS Man and His Neighbour Farm Forum Radio Topic

Mrs. M. J. Brown
The final broadcast of National Farm Radio Forum for the 1956-57 season was heard Monday evening, March 18th. The topic, "A Man and His Neighbour" made a very appropriate discussion with which to close the season. With the rural scene constantly changing, with new skills being required to head the ever-growing farm organizations, there still remains the need for help and guidance among neighbours.

Question 1 for discussion asked what the forums considered the most important activity in the life of their community now. The majority of Halton forums mentioned agricultural organizations such as Junior Farmers, 4-H Clubs Women's Institutes and Farm Forums. One group placed the two churches in their community as most important. These churches of different denominations are holding a series of pre-Easter meetings with ministers and members of both worshipping together.

Good leadership with loyal support, neighborliness and close adherence to the golden rule were mentioned as requisites for an ideal community. Every community needs good educational and recreational facilities.
