New President Bill Carr Conducts Rotary Meeting

The Rotary Club of Georgetown held its first meeting under the new president, Bill Carr, Dick Shearley, the president for 1966-67, retired at the end of his term at the annual meeting, held June 24.

The Club didn't have a meeting on Dominion Day but held quite a successful Member's Night the Saturday night previous. This is an annual affair held each year by the members, in particular, in the honor of those of - Past President the club who had joined during the year. The party was held at the home of Ken Nash. The evening was spent in cribbage and other card games, with a number of the members bringing their musical instruments with them and providing entertainment. Lunch was served by the host at the conclusion of the evening.

Monday evening, July 8th was the first meeting under the new officers and saw an excellent attendance. This year the officers are pushing a 100 per cent attendance. The president, Bill Carr, feels quite strongly that the club can lead the entire district this year, and urged every member to put his shoulder to the wheel.

The president, Bill Carr, feels quite strongly that the club can lead the entire district this year, and urged every member to put his shoulder to the wheel.

The president outlined the program for the coming year, and various committee functions were explained. A chart for attendance was set up by attendance chairman Walter Pope. In this way members will be able to check their attendance. Names were drawn for a series of classification talks.

Representatives of North Halton High School Board were present to discuss the feasibility of aid to students who wished to continue to university but were unable to do so for financial reasons. Speakers Fred Masterman, Ernie Forgrave, and Len Lambert were introduced by Ralph Ursel and thanked by the president, Bill Carr.

The usual singsong was held, led by Steamer Emmerson and accompanied by Ralph Ursel on his piano accordion.

Communion Linen Gift In Mrs. Pearce's Memory

A memorial gift of communion linens and additions to the communion service was presented by the Sunshine Club of which Mrs. Pearce was the founder, and Mr. John Emmerson's Sunday School Class, of which Jack Pearce is a member, to First Baptist Church, in loving memory of the late Mrs. Floella Pearce at the morning worship on Sunday.

Rev. A. J. Barker chose his sermon text from Hebrews 12:1 - "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run, with patience the race set before us," centering his theme on the Communion of Saints. A ladies quartette comprised of Mesdames W. Hewitt, H. Corbett, K. McCosh, and R. Buttrey sang "Just As I Am."

Unethical Salesmanship

Georgetown, Ontario, July 6th, 1967

Dear Editor:— It has come to my attention that salesmen representing a manufacturer of pots and pans in Toronto, have adopted a selling medium which, to say the least, is very unethical.

When such a policy is resorted to, the public should be aroused by being made acquainted with the procedure. When this has been done, the perpetrators should be run out of town, their employers advised that any return to the community would result in disaster for them.

Here, roughly, is the procedure as practiced by a pair in Georgetown. They cruised around the streets in their car until they found a teen-age girl whom they thought might be beguiled into the sales racket.

Getting her name and address, they appeared at her residence offering their wares for sale. Having little or no sales resistance, she signed a contract for the purchase of two hundred dollars worth of merchandise with a down payment of $15.00. She was pledged to secrecy as to the amount she was to pay.

Under the guise of having merely a witness to the sale, they persuaded the girl's grandmother, who is well up in years to sign also. In signing, the contract she did so unaware that as a co-signer she would be obligated to pay the amount outstanding if the teenager was unable to do so.

Needless to say when the girl's father became acquainted with the facts he immediately contacted the salesman and demanded return of the deposit and cancellation of the contract under threat of legal action.

This has been promised by the salesman involved and it is hoped this pair as well as any others presuming on a venture of this kind would consider the ethics of their profession rather than resort to such a despicable attempt to earn a livelihood.

We cannot help but feel the manufacturer whom they represent would certainly be opposed to such unethical practices for the sake of protecting his business interests.

Garage Is For Your Car Use It, Says Chrysler

What do you keep in your garage? Do you use it for a storehouse which you keep everything from the lawn mower to that horrible picture of Aunt Sadie?

A leading Canadian automobile service authority points out that the garage was built to house your car and, for the sake of the car, should be used for that purpose.

"Tests have shown," states J. A. Dykes, director service for Chrysler of Canada "that being left outdoors in all weather conditions seriously shortens the life span of the finish on your car.

"Indeed," he continues, "tests conducted by leading paint manufacturers show that the most harmful weather condition to automobile finish is the heavy dew that falls on a car during the night."

Dykes points out that there are a few simple "Do's" and "Don't's" in the care of auto finish that will greatly increase the life span of that finish.

Do not wash a car while it is standing in the hot sun, or immediately after it has been moved out of the sun.

Do not use extremely hot water. Do not use harsh detergents or cleaning materials on the finish. This includes many of the household detergents commonly used for this purpose.

Do not use detergents or waxes of any kind on the finish of a new car until the paint has had an opportunity to "cure." This takes approximately three months. Do wash your car in the shade, drying it thoroughly before exposing it to the sun.

Do wash frequently, more often in the winter than in summer, using plenty of water so as to avoid all possible abrasive action on the paint.

Do use a soft sponge and gentle pressure to remove the dirt. If, over a period of time, the finish seems to lack lustre, clean it thoroughly with a mild auto detergent.

Dykes suggested that a process known as porcelainizing will bring out the true beauty of the finish. In this process, no covering wax is applied to the finish, but rather a special water-thin liquid is used which seals the pores of the paint and provides an icy-smooth finish not unlike porcelain. Upkeep of this specially treated finish is reduced to a minimum. In many instances the car may be washed clean merely by spraying it with water.

Dykes also suggested that chrome
