Large Company Interested in Delrex Location

Sewage Disposal Primary Importance in Decision

The "top brass" of a large Canadian corporation were in Georgetown Monday looking over sites in Delrex with a view to locating one or several plants in town.

The company first became interested in Georgetown last October, according to Mayor Armstrong who mentioned the matter at Monday's council meeting.

The mayor said he had been personally contacted in October by a company representative who was given all relevant information about industrial locations. The firm, a Canadian branch of a large American organization, has since been in frequent touch with Delrex officials. As many as five plants might locate here if the decision favours Georgetown.

Rex Heslop, Delrex developer, was at the council meeting and corroborated the mayor's statements.

A decision, he said, hinges largely on the town's ability to provide sewage disposal and he urged council to make a decision soon on the problem of a new disposal plant which has been under discussion for some time.

Mr. Gilmer died in his sleep on Monday at his Edith Street home.

Formerly Dairy Building, New Christian Reformed Church Opens

"Our chief purpose is to populate the life to come, to prepare people to be born again into a wonderful eternal life" said Rev. John VanHarmelen in a stirring address to members of the Christian Reformed Church Wednesday evening.

Mr. VanHarmelen conducted a service of dedication for the new church building which will establish a Georgetown branch of the church which is having a rapid growth in Canada. He pointed out that the church is bigger than any member and asked the congregation to express their thanks to God for allowing them to work for Him in providing a suitable church edifice in the community.

Many members of other churches were present to share in the happy occasion. Mayor Jack Armstrong extended an official welcome to the congregation, predominantly of Dutch extraction which had been meeting in the township hall at Stewarttown prior to opening of the church. Rev. Alex Calder of Knox Presbyterian and Rev. Morgan McFarlane of St. John's United also welcomed the new church, while Rev. Harold Hollander of Orangeville brought greetings from the Christian Reformed Church in his community.

A 30-voice choir, comprising members of the Brampton and Georgetown churches added musical inspiration to the service of praise. It was directed by John Schenk, Stewarttown. An electric organ, under consideration for purchase, was played by David Penny, a representative of the company. Mrs. Richard Vandenberg is the regular church organist. An appropriate selection "Bless This House" was sung during the service by Mrs. Clarence Kroll.

The new church has been created in the former Georgetown Dairy building on Main St. N., purchased by the church when Irwin Noble moved to a new building on the highway. The building was originally constructed as the station and power house for the now-defunct electric railway which operated between Toronto and Guelph.

The building has been completely redesigned. The portion fronting Main St. has a kitchen, two reception rooms and washrooms, and a double gas furnace in the basement. The large section at the rear is the church proper. Here a beige decorating scheme has been used to blend with blond wood pews and altar, the latter backed with a large cross embossed on the wooden backdrop. The flooring is used throughout the church, and light green carpeting.

Over 200 members comprise about fifty families of the present church membership. Governing body is a consistory of which Rev. John VanHarmelen is president; Peter Weststijn, vice-president; Albert Neutel, clerk; and members Robert Bakker, J. Fokkens, Jack van der Meer and Sidney Adema.

The church was constructed under the guidance of a building committee which comprised Jan Meijer, Luke Janssen and Jack Van Der Voort. Carpenters working on the construction included Jack van der Meer, George Hulbos, Chris Hovstad and Dick Vandenberg. A handsome baptismal font was designed by Luke Matter.

Institute Sponsors Trip To Shakespeare Festival

Members and friends of the Terra Cotta Women's Institute joined together for their annual bus trip last Wednesday, July 17th. The bus left Union Church about 9:30 in the morning and travelled to Stratford going first to the beautiful Stratford Park where the ladies had a picnic lunch and enjoyed the beautifully kept gardens.

From the park they went to the beautiful new Shakespearean Theatre where they saw Twelfth Night. This was indeed a wonderful experience for them all, the play itself, the wonderful acting and the atmosphere which permeates the place of Shakespearean times made it seem as if time had gone backwards.

Their bus then took them to Kitchener for dinner at the "Smorgasbord" and then home after a day of wonderful experiences.

The picnicers were returned to town in the early evening after a most successful picnic.

HORNBY

Name Donald Robertson Manitoba Entomologist

Mrs. W. H. Robertson received word that her son, Donald Robertson who is the provincial spiarist of Manitoba, is now also the Prov. Entomologist of Manitoba. Don was educated at Hornby public school, Milton high school and attended the OAC in Guelph. He now lives just outside of Winnipeg with his wife and two sons.

Nearly three thousand people of all ages attended the tenth annual garden party that was sponsored by the Hornby ball clubs on Saturday evening.

The weather was really warm, an ideal evening to sit and watch the performers go through their wonderful acts. The booths were always busy and were soon sold out of ice cream and watermelon. The main attraction for the small children was the pony rides.

The help and cooperation of the ball players and others willing to help in getting the grounds ready and then helping to clean up afterwards was really appreciated.

Johnny Saunders, Anne Bradley, and Wayne Ellis are just getting out again after having the measles.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley entertained some of the teachers and their families at their home on Sunday evening on the occasion of Mrs. Metz' birthday, a teacher from the Lorne Skuce School in Trafalgar. Mrs. Bradley, a former teacher of that school gave a buffet supper for the eighteen guests present.

SECOND BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR BARRY JAMES

Barry James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill James celebrated his second birthday with a lawn party at his grandparents' Mr. and Mrs. A. Pattenden. Helping him celebrate were his cousins, David and Sheryl Puckerling, Judy Draper and little friends Kelly Robinson, Roxanne Sweeney, Melville and Douglas Edwards, Sharon and Danny Berg, Danny, Michael and Elizabeth Carney, Steven and Bonnie Ford, Verna Scott and his little brother Brian and Aunt Beryl Pattenden.

He would like to stop any purchaser from reselling or from holding the land for speculation, he said, and the town should have an agreement when it is sold that the land will be used for a school.

Rotarians Will Aid New Georgetown Band

Monday evening was the regular meeting of Rotary Club of Georgetown, with an excellent attendance at their regular dinner. As usual it was held at Fairview Inn. Guests of the evening were Bruce McKerr, Emery Thompson, and Norma Long, all members of the Georgetown Citizens' Band. Steamer Emmerson is heading a special committee to devise ways and means of assisting the band in their commendable efforts to establish this cultural group in the community.

The three men spoke briefly, and explained what had been accomplished, and what they hoped to do in the future. They intend competing at both Waterloo and the Canadian National Exhibition competitions for brass bands.

Speaker of the evening was a member of Rotary and past president, Dick Shearly. He gave a classification talk on Aviation and its history. The talk was both enlightening and interesting to members, tracing as it did the history of the early attempts to fly, from the ancient Chinese efforts, to that final day when flight was achieved by the Wright Brothers at Kittyhawk.

Mr. Shearly also spoke of the jet age, now approaching and of the guided missiles, which are now being experimented with by both the great powers of the world.

Rotarian Shearly is employed as an aeronautical engineer at the A. V. Roe plant at Malton. He was introduced by Walter Pope and was thanked by Les Clark.

WHAT COUNCIL DID

Add Drinking Fountains As Park Improvement

Glowing reports of the fine condition of Georgetown Park since Alan Prouse took over the job of part-time caretaker were received at council Monday.

Cr. Ern Hyde, promoter of the caretaker project, said the park has never been in such good condition and the new policy is paying off in better facilities and less vandalism.

His suggestion that two drinking fountains be installed, total cost $200, found favour with other council members and this new facility will soon be added in the grounds. No decision was given on another recommendation that rest rooms be open at all times, rather than restricted to certain big days like the fall fair.

Stage Program, Ladies Ball Game Draw 2500 to Hornby Garden Party

An all star stage program and a ladies ball game between the top two teams from the East Toronto Softball League drew a crowd of about twenty five hundred for the Hornby Ball Club's tenth annual Garden Party.

Continuing with the policy that has made their Garden Party the number one summer event in this area, the committee used only the best of talent for the evening program. Many of those attending were particularly interested in the ball game in which the National Torches beat the Cecil Morris Photo Mads 4 to 1.

Quoting costs for a complete new sewage disposal plant or an enlargement of the present plant, Mr. Redfern of a Toronto engineering firm gave a flat opinion to council Monday that a new plant is the only ultimate answer to the town's needs.

Mr. Redfern's firm of consultants, Proctor, Redfern & Laughlin of Toronto was engaged almost a year ago to make a survey of the town's needs and presented their report to council last fall. On Monday he reiterated that the only recommendation his firm can make is to abandon the present disposal plant built ten years ago, in favour of a larger new one located at the extreme southern extremity of Georgetown.

Such a new plant would have the advantage of gravity flow, eliminating any operating headaches with two major pumping stations which would be needed were the plant left at the present site, he said. A minor consideration, too, would be its removal from the centre of the future town, he pointed out.

Dealing with figures, he estimates cost of a disposal plant to handle initially a million and a half gallons of sewage daily at $830,000.

Converting the present plant to a similar size (at present its capacity is 300,000 gallons) was estimated by Mr. Redfern at $770,000, this to include two pumping stations necessary to serve the Delrex area.

A $80,000 saving in capital cost would have to be balanced against upkeep charges and maintenance of the pumping stations, he said, and he could not recommend such a measure.

Questioned by Cr. Ern Hyde about what it would cost to double the size of the present plant to take care of Georgetown's current population, Mr. Redfern estimated this at $120,000.

If a new plant is built, a trunk sewer line would be run from the present plant location to the new one. A $247,000 cost for this trunk sewer is equivalent to what if the present site were utilized.

Asked by Cr. Alfred Sykes if a trunk line would care for future needs of the older section of town should there be extensive development there, Mr. Redfern answered in the affirmative.

Net savings of $14,000 yearly are estimated by the engineers for a new plant.

Referring to a large industry which is definitely considering Georgetown as a location for from three to five plants, Mayor Armstrong urged council to consider the engineering firm's report carefully and be prepared to make some decision as soon as possible. The Dept. of Health has also expressed concern about the town's sewage disposal, he pointed out, and some action will have to be taken in the near future to overcome difficulties of an overloaded disposal plant.
