

Army Captain, Bride Moving to Georgetown

A couple who will live on Rexway Drive, Georgetown, were married in Alderwood Presbyterian Church.

Wedding principals were Josephine Richardson Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woods and Captain Eric Beard, RCEME, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Beard of Weston Zoyland, Somerset, England. Rev. A. Tomlinson officiated. Mrs. Donald Garbutt was organist and Mrs. C. Windrim sang Wedding Prayer and I'll Walk Beside You during the signing of the register, and Bless This House during the reception held in the church hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of stippled satin, featuring a full skirt with cathedral train and full length veil of embroidered silk net—the Greek key pattern, which was caught in a Juliet cap of satin trimmed with sequins. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis and white feathered mums.

The matron of honour, Mrs. Clifford Wanamaker, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Gordon Kettlewell, cousin and Miss Patsy Brewer, wore identical full length gowns of sky blue brocade with matching picture hats and gauntlets; all carried crescent cascades of yellow gladioli and blue feathered carnations.

The flower girl, Linda Irvine, niece of the bride, was gowned in a full length gown of lemon brocade taffeta with matching hat and carried a basket of blue feathered carnations. Eric Wanamaker, nephew of the bride, entered in dress Royal Stuart tartan kilt, carrying the ring on a white satin pillow.

The groomsmen were Captain Frank Doran. The ushers were Lieut. Bruce Boyd and Lieut. Norman Birchard. Captain and Mrs. Pimm assisted in the receiving line.

Guests from out of town were from Tweed, Belleville, Lancaster, N.Y., Hartsville, N.Y., Barrie, Grand Valley, Oakville, Orangeville and from Georgetown Misses Bessie and Mary White.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Beard was honoured at several events. A shower was held by Mrs. Geo. Pike of Cooksville, assisted by Mrs. John Pike, Mrs. Harry Davidson, and Mrs. Gordon Kettlewell. Other showers were held by Queensway lady teachers, Miss Patsy Brewer, convener; Knox Young Couples Club, Miss Marie McLean, convener; Alderwood Presbyterian choir, where bride is organist and choir leader; lady teachers of the Adam Beck School; Miss Horrick, convener; a luncheon and presentation from

No Decision on Engineer Continue Part-Time Man

At present Georgetown will continue using part time services of Wm. H. Carr as engineer. On Thursday, after interviewing three applicants for the $6000 position advertised recently, council could not agree on a successor to Douglas Wilson, who resigned the end of June to take a new position in Montreal.

A motion to engage one of the applicants was turned down when it came to a vote. Crs. Sykes, Harrison and Hyde voted in favour, although the latter explained that he is not convinced the town needs a full time man and voted for the motion only because he thought the man in question would fill the bill if Georgetown is set on having an engineer. Cr. Hyde said that the Delrex Company has a great deal of engineering but does not consider it profitable to have an engineer on staff, and that he thinks the town is in a similar position.

He had little support for his stand. Cr. Fred Harrison said Mr. Carr's ability is unquestioned, but that if the town is to pay him a retaining fee plus extra for major engineering, it will be as expensive as having a full time engineer.

"Don't forget when you hire a $6000 engineer you are spending perhaps $15,000" reminded Cr. Hyde. "It entails extra office staff and some assistance in field work."

Cr. Walter Gray said the accounting angle is important and Cr. Garfield McGillivray pointed out that a qualified man on the payroll takes responsibility off council's shoulders. Reeve Stan Allen said that with Georgetown expanding rapidly, an engineer is of primary importance.

"It seems certain that for $6000 we can't get the type of man we expect for this job," said Mayor Armstrong, in summing up the evening's discussion. He said council is expecting an engineer who will have knowledge of sewage and waterworks, who is a public relations man, dealing with the public in matters large and small, and a man who will get out in the field in hip boots as well. His suggestion that council readvertise at a higher salary was not taken up and the discussion was dropped for the evening.

Mr. John Snow is making good progress following his recent operation. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lawr and Donna and Bill Smith are off this week on a camping trip through Algonquin park.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smellie of Fergus are spending the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Black.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson and their family accompanied by Mrs. Sanderson's sister Mrs. Walter Linham and her husband and family are enjoying a trip to Manitoulin Island this week.

Mrs. John Black and Billie are visiting for a week in London and Bobbie is holidaying with his aunt Mrs. Jim Rennie at Fergus.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith and family from Fergus were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith.

New Brampton Hay Dryer is Milestone in Farming

In the not too distant future, the average Ontario farmer will be able to cut, condition, rake, bale, and dry, 500 bales of hay per day using no more than three men.

This milestone in Canadian farming was achieved recently when the Bull estate constructed the first of a new type of hay drier in Canada on their farm near Brampton.

John Bull saw a drier of this type on a recent trip to New Jersey and, realizing the advantage of such an apparatus, he had one built on his farm, as soon as he arrived back in Canada.

He arrived back in Brampton after seeing the building on May 24th and within three and a half days there was one standing on his farm. The Rice Construction Company of Brampton did the job working day and night building the six wagon bodies the building and the drying apparatus. As one of the Rice brothers put it, "Mr. Bull gave us a deadline and I think we met it."

In discussing the reason for the rush in building the drier, Mr. Bull told the Conservator, "That's one of the most important benefits derived from this," he said, "by using a drier of this type, hay can be cut in late May or early June when the protein content of the hay is at its peak. The higher the protein content in hay, the better the milk production from the cows during the winter. That's why we rushed building this one," he added, "so we could use it this year and measure the effect of the better hay this winter."

The drier itself consists of a long shed similar to the drive shed on most farms. The roof is pitched, and filled in at rafter level with plywood with openings for the air to blow through the hay.

The building on the Bull farm is divided into six stalls for the wagons. Each wagon is loaded in the field with approximately 84 bales of hay stacked tightly to avoid "chimneys." The wagon is then driven into its stall and a wooden-edged, canvas top is dropped over it to ensure airtightness. For the next eight hours hot air at 140 degrees is forced through the loads of hay at a rate of 37,000 cubic feet per minute. When the wagons are removed, the hay is dry and cured, ready for storing in the barn. The process used on the Bull farm was to cut the hay in the morning, allow it to wilt until mid-afternoon, rake and bale it by evening and then leave it in the drier until morning, when the process was repeated until all the hay was in.

"One of the good things about this system," said John Bull, "is that it needs no more manpower than the ordinary haying operation and it cuts out double handling of the bales. And it is not expensive."

"This drier costs $6,000 to build and install and it costs less than one dollar per ton for the operation. We are now using propane gas but will soon switch to natural gas. However, a farmer with a small amount of hay to draw could construct a proportionately smaller outfit. I think it would be a profitable investment for any farmer with 250 acres or more."

"This building is not limited to the drying of hay," he continued. "By simply sliding a perforated metal sheet over the bottom of the wagons we can dry grain with equal ease. And by simply installing doors on the shed the building can be easily converted into a brooder house for chicks or a calving barn for cows. The temperature can be regulated by a thermostat and it can be kept going winter and summer to serve its owner."

The Bull drier is the first in Canada, and, as Mr. Bull pointed out "there are a few kinks to be ironed out. However, I think that this is one of the best new devices introduced to agriculture in this country in a long time," he concluded.

WILL VISIT THREE MONTHS WITH RELATIVES IN ENGLAND

Mrs. Gordon Cousens, Berwick Hall, is sailing Sunday from Quebec City aboard the S. S. Homeric bound for a three month visit in England.

Mrs. Cousens is planning to visit members of her own family as well as sisters and brother of her late husband. She hopes also to be able to take a trip to France during her stay.

In Brighton, she will visit with her sister, Mrs. Helen Shillingford, in London with her brothers Reggie and George Middleton and their wives, and in Somerset with another sister, Mrs. N. Johnston and her husband. She will also visit with Pierre Weil, husband of a deceased sister, who lives at Hove, Brighton.

Mrs. Cousens will visit too with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cousens at Bexhill, Mrs. Basil Tugwell in Bedford and Mr. and Mrs. George Everett, Guilford, the latter sisters of the late Lt. Col. Cousens.

AFTERNOON AUXILIARY MEETING IN CHURCH

The Afternoon Auxiliary of the WMS met Wednesday in the church. The meeting was opened with hymn 281 and prayer, led by the president. The roll call was answered, by telling something remembered from the study book. Mrs. Warne led in the worship period which was followed by a temperance reading by Miss Young. Mrs. Neelon conducted a Bible Quiz. Miss Hilts had charge of the topic, which was taken from the June Missionary Monthly and it dealt with the problems of senior citizens. The meeting was closed by singing hymn 681, followed by prayer by Miss Hilts.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold McEnergy spent the week-end at Warton and Sauble Beach.

On Sunday afternoon the YPU of Ballinafad Pastoral charge, journeyed to Guelph for their annual picnic. A pleasant afternoon was spent in playing baseball and in swimming at the Old Mill, followed by supper at Riverside Park. We are pleased to report that
