

HUGE CELEBRATION MARKED WINNING OF CHAMPIONSHIP

STRUCK BY STREET CAR EDWARD WOODSON INJURED

Mr. Edward Woodson, a summer visitor in Georgetown who had just returned to his home in the city, was injured Saturday when struck by a street car.

Mr. Woodson was crossing Bloor Street near his home on Manning Ave. Taken to Western Hospital, he was found to be badly cut and bruised, with his most serious injury a cracked hip.

Former music critic for the Toronto Telegram, Mr. Woodson and his wife have been summer visitors in town for many years. This summer they stayed at the home of Mrs. W. F. Bradley, 70 Main St. S. while Mrs. Bradley was away on vacation.

LEGION NOTES

by Les Clark

Well, the weather picked for the corn roast was really perfect and a big crowd was on hand for it. We don't think we've ever seen more people there.

It was held as usual in Hungry Hollow, and looking around, we can't think of a better spot for it... providing it doesn't rain, of course. The corn was perfect, and the large number of cobs were polished off in short order.

There was one thing missing, in any event. That was the usual chief cook. For as long as we have been going to the annual corn roast Sam Tennant has been on the job, helping to get everything ready and staying until the bitter end to clean up. This year unfortunately, he couldn't be there. However, the boys missed you, Sam.

The men in charge did a great job, and everyone reported a grand time. Incidentally no one seemed to want to go for a swim this year. Strange, isn't it? Maybe they're finally getting old!

For a real rogues gallery see the front page of the second section of this week's Herald. We didn't really think a camera would take a group like that, but it stood up remarkably well. The photographer tells us it still works! If the paper is a little late this week, incidentally, the reason is an extra long press run. We've a standing order for Scotty for twenty five copies any time his picture appears, and the chap in the background of the picture, wants the same number.

Task, task, such vanity!

The Provincial finals, which will see two teams from town entered, takes place at Rouge Hill course, on Saturday September 28th and is going to be quite a big day. We expect to see two full teams going from town.

The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, September 26th and we expect to see a good attendance for the first meeting of the year.

The long-awaited loud speaking system has been installed by Bev Moody, and is certainly a beauty. An amplifier has been placed in the rear of the room, and we think that everyone will notice a terrific difference in the performance of the new system. One comment we might make, is that all "amateur electronics specialists" be not allowed to "fix it" when anything is the matter. We have always felt that much of the trouble experienced with the old set could have been eliminated, if it hadn't been "fixed" on too many occasions by too many amateurs.

STEWARTTOWN

BACK TO SCHOOL AS SUMMER HOLIDAYS END

The summer holidays are over and we all turn to our work again. Our young people have been working hard, and playing hard. We extend best wishes to them all in their studies for this coming year.

Junior W.A. will open again next Monday.

Esqueuing Women's Institute meeting next Wednesday will be at the home of Mrs. W. Lawson, Sr. Home Economics and Health is the topic and ladies will answer roll call by telling what they serve to unexpected company.

We extend sympathy to the McCarthy and Kidney families who had the misfortune to lose their barns by fire on Monday afternoon during a severe storm.

Happy birthday to Dorene Greenwood whose birthday is tomorrow, September 5th; and to Donna Jean Stewart who will be 7 years old next Tuesday.

Dorene, Shirley and George Greenwood have returned home after visiting with their grandparents at Niagara-on-the-Lake. Mr. and Mrs. G. Greenwood, Sr. brought them home and stayed over the Labour Day week end.

Fifty eight years ago, this coming Thanksgiving, the streets of Acton blazed with bonfires, and people, who normally retired at a respectable hour, were out to celebrate a heart-warming local victory, The Lacrosse Championship, after defeating Warton 6 - 2, in the last game of the O.L.A. finals at Fergus. The triumphant players, representing both Georgetown and Acton, came home by train, and were cheered by crowds of fans waving and dancing in the flames of victory bonfires. A huge parade was formed to escort the team down the main street of the village. It was a night to remember with pride, and two members of the 1898 Acton lacrosse team recall that occasion, and many other sports events as well, when they foregather for an hour's chat.

Recently, the lad who played third home, celebrated his eightieth birthday, and his team mate, a dangerous man on 2nd home, dropped into the house on John street to reminisce about old lacrosse days in Acton, Frank MacIntosh, 80, and Eddie Ryder, 78, were not only members of the same teams, but friends, as well; one young man was rarely seen without the other. They share a wealth of memories about their experiences in local sports, which included baseball and hockey, and in McIntosh's case, — running — for which he won numerous medals.

Besides playing lacrosse for Acton, Ryder and MacIntosh, hoisted their sticks for Galt, Midland and Woodstock. "I suppose he could write a book about those old days," declared MacIntosh. "Eddie do you remember the time we played the Tuscarora Indians, in 1898."

Eddie Ryder remembered. Hailing from a reserve at Caledonia, the Tuscarora Indians swept on to the lacrosse field, fierce and colorful, with long tangled locks, and uniforms decorated at strategic points, mostly on the seat of the shorts (long shorts in those days) with buffaloes, and totem poles. "They were a wild-looking crew, but we licked them."

In 1901, playing for Galt, the two local athletes met head-on with the touring Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team, whose players were described as "fine big fellows, the pick of the two English colleges, who could have made two of Eddie or myself." Who won? The Canadian team, of course.

But when McIntosh and Ryder reminisce, mostly in their memories is that Provincial Championship of 1899, and the smaller triumphs that lead to it. First, the Acton team had to beat Galt and Fergus in the Royal District, CLA Fergus, they agreed, had a fine team, and both players remember some of the men they tangled with—Stubby Graham, Doc Kyle, Tar Syc, Sox Clark, Hopper Forrester, Grundy Forrester, Tool Gough, and Eddy Curliiss. "A great bunch of nicknames," observed McIntosh. Of the Acton players, only Ryder and McIntosh, and Car Williams are still living, and in Georgetown, Dr. Frank Watson, who played goal for Acton.

In the semi-finals of the 1898 season, Acton had to polish off St. Marys and Beaverton, before meeting the Warton team at Fergus. "Those were great days," declared both Frank McIntosh and Eddie Ryder. "I'd like to be living them over again."
