MISSION LADIES START STUDIES ABOUT JAPAN

A new study book on Japan was introduced by Mrs. Clarence Hayes on Tuesday, Sept. 10th when the St. John's W.M.S. held the first meeting of the final quarter after the summer recess. Mrs. Charles Junkin presided at the meeting and led in the prayer, after the singing of the opening hymn. Mrs. George Ward conducted the devotional period based on Matt. chap. 5 which states that the world needs more love and tells how Christ bids the people to bear one another's burdens with more love in their hearts. The roll call was answered with scripture verses on courage, following the closing hymn and prayer by Mrs. Ward. A letter on Christian stewardship was shared by Mrs. Walter Brownridge, stressing the need for a renewed effort as the society begins its fall quarter. A prayer was said for the W.M.S. special missionary, Florence Taylor of Indore, India. In her talk on Japan Mrs. Hayes informed the members that the country is made up of four large islands and many smaller ones and is very mountainous and heavily populated, with an average of 2800 people per square mile. The Japanese people grow 80% of their own food and every foot of their land has to be cultivated in order to do this. She pointed out that Japan, with all its huge population and much poverty, has the highest literacy rate in the world, which is 97%. The Japanese excel in flower arrangements and have as their national flowers, cherry blossoms and chrysanthemums. Mrs. A. M. Nielsen assisted Mrs. Hayes with part of the topic. The meeting closed with a hymn and the reading of the nuptial benediction.

Kent, Richmond, New Winter Wheat Varieties

Kent and Richmond are comparatively new varieties of wheat which have been receiving some publicity in recent weeks. As a consequence the agricultural office in Milton offers the following information which may be of interest.

The Kent is a red winter wheat variety bred primarily for an area in southwestern Ontario where for many years they have concentrated on red winter wheat. In general the market demands a white winter wheat, low in protein—the flour being utilized for pastry purposes. Kent is not only a red wheat but somewhat higher in protein and we would therefore question the advisability of introducing the variety into an area where it would not be in demand commercially. If of the offering. Females on the winter wheat is being grown entirely for feed purposes then the picture might be a little different. It should be borne in mind, however, that, according to the Department of Field Husbandry at the Ontario Agricultural College, Kent is inferior to Genesee from the standpoint of yield per acre. The other variety, Richmond, was bred primarily for Eastern Ontario where winter hardness is a primary factor. Richmond is a white winter wheat but according to Dr. Don Huntley of the Field Husbandry Department, it is not as heavy a yielder as Genesee. It would therefore seem that growers in this area would be well advised to stay with Genesee for the time being at least. Present prospects, owing to the low price being offered for the 1957 crop, would indicate a reduced acreage of wheat being sold this fall. A number of local farmers contacted state that while they are sowing wheat, the resulting crop will be utilized as feed and in addition they want the straw. If wheat is being sown, experience indicates the advisability of commercial fertilizer preferably one high in phosphorus. Again experience and tests would indicate the advisability of sowing the fertilizer with a fertilizer drill—not with a lime or fertilizer broadcaster.
