Local Couple in Cast of Brampton Players Thriller

A local couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Brighty, 28 Hewson Crescent, were members of the cast of "Murder Has Been Arranged" which was presented last week in Brampton by the Brampton Players.

Reviewing the play in the Conservator, Bea Evans has this to say: "Producer Cora Billington and the members of the Brampton Players treated theatre-goers to a real thriller 'Murder Has Been Arranged' last week in the Glendale School Auditorium. Though the play was fast moving, and a bit ambitious for amateurs, on the whole it was exceedingly well done.

The play was set on the stage of St. James' Theatre, London, England. Sir Charles Jasper procured the theatre and planned a party on the stage to celebrate his inheritance, which became a fact at 11 p.m. If Sir Charles did not live until the appointed time the entire fortune would go to his only living relative, who had not been heard of for some time. Guests at the party were invited to come as "Famous Ghosts of History."

Bill Billings, a well known favorite, took the part of Sir Charles Jasper, the central figure, and ably carried his role. Margaret Goldthorp as his secretary, Miss Groze, had the strongest part, and at all times was superb. Ann Coiley a newcomer to Brampton, but from the beginning an interested member in the Players, portrayed Mrs. Wragge, the maid, most efficiently, and through some of the difficult scenes showed her training as an actress. Rhoda Coleman as Lady Jasper improved as the play progressed, and the part of her mother, Mrs. Arthur, was taken by Barbara Ferne. Barbara is well known to Brampton audiences, and this play did not give her a chance to show her strength. Maurice Mullins, the long-lost relative and villain, turned out to be another well known Brampton player. Ron Holcroft, Ron Brighty as Jimmie North lent a lighter touch to the tragic moments, and his wife Myrtle Brighty as the "Woman" gave more intrigue to the whole play.

On the whole, this is one of the best plays produced by the Brampton Players, and it held the interest until the end. In an amateur production many actors behind the scenes deserve great credit, and this was one play when the behind-the-scenes was well planned and certainly well-executed by many interested members. Elizabeth Eastaugh designed and made the costumes for "The Ghosts of History" such ghosts as Mary Queen of Scots, Marie Antoinette, Dante's Beatrice and Ann Boleyn were some of the ghosts, and the costumes were marvelous. Mrs. Eastaugh spent weeks in research having the smallest detail correct. The stage manager was Alan Maxwell, and he was ably assisted by Dave Billington, another new member. Harvey McLelland assisted the producer, Christine Chavignaud was the prompter, and the stage was dressed by Connie Lagerquist and Beth Bryon. Wilma Allison and Lorna Magill were the wardrobe mistresses. The lighting, which was extremely well done was planned by Perc Goldthorpe and Flo Fleury.

LEGION NOTES

By
Lottie M. Clark

This Friday night is the annual Remembrance Supper, with the usual capacity crowd expected. The speaker of the evening will be the provincial president Fred O'Brecht. He is a veteran of service with the RCAF, having attained the rank of flight lieutenant. He has been president and now president of Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion. Fred is a married man, with three children, and owns and operates a dairy in Durham.

Saturday is Poppy Day, with the chairman of many years standing, Mrs. T. F. Grieve, in charge. And if you can give her a little help, she will really appreciate it. Taggers will be out on Saturday, and be sure and help this worthy cause.

Sunday is the annual Artistic Parade, with service at the Cenotaph. The parade forms at 12.15 at the Legion Hall, with RSM Henry Shepherd, MBE, in charge. All organizations desirous of taking part are asked to report to him at that time. Let's all turn out to make this the biggest (and best) parade in our history!

Last call for the Christmas Tree list. Get your children's names on right away if you have already failed to do so. Also how about selling a few books of tickets for the Christmas Tree. Contact Jimmy Yates or Gob Collier for them.

Citizens of the community are urged to pay their respects to those who gave their lives by attending the remembrance service at the Cenotaph on Sunday.

Another cleaning crew was on duty last Sunday, but as we were among the missing, we won't be able to give you the names until next week. Understand that they gave the upstairs a real overhauling.

ROTARIANS ATTEND TRI-TOWN ACTON MEET

Last week quite a number of the Rotary Club of Georgetown visited in Acton. The occasion was the Tri-Town Meet, featuring joint meeting of Milton, Acton and Georgetown. This was Acton's turn, the last one being held in Milton. The next one will be held in Georgetown.

An excellent attendance was recorded from the various clubs, and an excellent turkey dinner was served by the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary in Acton. The banquet was held in Acton Legion Hall.

Guests were welcomed by president Bill Mattocks, who then called on the club presidents from Milton and Georgetown to introduce the visitors. A sing song was held after the dinner.

The guest speaker was Judge H. Austin of Guelph, who spoke on the various problems in so-called juvenile delinquency and the part that can be played in the home by preventing this. He gave an excellent, humour packed address. He was thanked by Art Padbury, of the Acton club.

Don't forget to give your support to the blood clinic to be held locally by Georgetown Red Cross on Thursday, December 12th.

WRITTEN ANY GOOD LETTERS LATELY?

Under today's economic conditions, what you don't want from governments, or can do without, will determine whether inflation is to be halted.

In other words, it is up to the people of Canada themselves to determine what sort of future they will have.

Do your representatives in government at all levels know what you don't want? Why not write and tell them?
