Important Meeting Tomorrow

Once a year, Georgetown ratepayers have Prospective candidates, however, have 24 hours the opportunity to get a capsule report of the year's municipal business when a public meeting follows the official nomination for the 1958 council, public school board and hydro commission.

Thursday night in Wrigglesworth school is the meeting scene this year and those who are interested in the town's progress and the management of its financial affairs would be well advised to attend.

In case you haven't attended one of these meetings previously, they follow a certain procedure. The nomination period is from 7.30 to 8.30, during which any two ratepayers may propose another ratepayer for office. If the person proposed is not present at the meeting, he must furnish written proof that he will accept the nomination; if a man is proposed for more than one office, he must either indicate which he will seek, or the earliest nomination is the one recorded.

in which to definitely decide whether they will/

At 9.30 the meeting becomes a public one, BISHOP'S ADVENT ADDRESS and the mayor is followed by each council member in a review of the various departments of municipal government. Following this, other reports are given by the hydro commission, school board and various municipal boards such as arena, library and high school boards. Candidates, and memorized The Tuesday not presently holding office then have their chance to speak, and finally, any ratepayer pre'sent may speak from the floor.

While next week's Herald-will carry a full report of the meeting, we would advise you to attend the meeting in person. Not only will you find it interesting, but you will show elected officials that you appreciate their effort and are in terested in how town business is conducted.

Large Schools or Small?

Members of rural school boards these days have some real problems to face.

Speaking at the Esquesing nomination meeting Monday, some of the Esquesing area trustees told of the hours of discussion which have taken place over whether to build a number of tho and three room schools at strategic points in the township or to consider a few corso': dated grade

Deciding factor in the choice, however, may rest with teachers who are tending nowadays not to want the difficult task of teaching more than one or two grades. If in future, qualified teachers are going to turn down feaching positions in the "little red schoolhouse" then it would seem that grade schools will be the only recourse What makes it tough for school boards is that the problem must be decided now, before an expensive series of schools are built which might? thize with the dilemna.

Mr Ray Francis spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Alan Neelon. He is a student at Emmanuel College and took part in the services at Churchill and Melville churches. There was no service at Bal linafad as the new heating system is being installed this week. Other visitors at the manse on Sunday were Messrs. John Oswald, Frances Johnston and Charles Chapman all from London

Friends of Mrs. L. Marshall will be sorry to hear that she is in the hospital again but is reported 'to be feeling much better. The "Bud" Snow family had the misfortune last Tuesday night to have their small barn partly destroyed by fire. It couldn't have happened at a worse time as there was a strong wind but luckily blow, ing away from the direction of the house. They are grateful to the Georgetown fire department who responded so quickly and to their neighbours and friends who helped to get the animals out. 'Mrs. Snow suffered slight burns on her hands and forehead.
