Guelph Escapees Give Town Some Thrills Christmas Eve

The entering and burgling of a house at 15 Ontario St. late Christmas Eve and the theft of a '63 Ford sedan parked on the same street a little more than an hour later are believed by police to be the work of two Guelph Reformatory inmates who escaped earlier the same day.

The escapees were traced from the reformatory to Acton where they ransacked a house and stole their first car. At McCullough's corners at the western town limits the escapees missed the turn and rolled the car over and evidently unharmaged made their way to the top of Main St. where they were passed by OPP Cst. Gordon Hazlett in the police cruiser.

Cst. Hazlett was hardly by the pair when he was radioed that the men were heading that way. When the OPP cruiser headed back in their direction the prisoners fled down one of the side streets and were soon swallowed up in the Swanek Subdivision.

The police scoured the area but found no trace of the escapees. The next information regarding the escaped men turned up when A. E. Farmery, 19 Ontario Street, reported that his house had been broken into and articles of clothing and a number of other items stolen. An investigation showed entry to the house had been gained through the rear door which had been forced with the aid of a screwdriver later identified as one Mr. Farmery kept in a shed in back of the house. The men's prison garb was discovered upstairs where they had changed to street clothes.

Shortly after midnight Francis Hulme, 22 Victoria St., reported the theft of his car, a 1953 maroon and tan two-tone Ford sedan, which he had parked opposite number 2 Ontario St. while delivering some Christmas presents. Mr. Hulme told police that he had taken longer than he intended to make the delivery and on returning found his car gone. A number of valuable presents and a camera were in the car. Police believe the vehicle was taken by the escapees in making their get-away.

Mr. & Mrs. Barry Archer Will Live in Brantford

Jean Brodie Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blair, 282 Westmoreland Avenue, Toronto, formerly of Perth, Scotland, became the bride of Barry Vernon Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Archer, R. 3, Georgetown on Saturday, December 14th.

The marriage took place in Dufferin Presbyterian Church which was decorated with red and white Christmas poms. Rev. A. J. Gowland officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mr. Fred Penny was the organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white delustrated satin with nylon lace applique on the bodice and on the skirt which fell into a chapel train. The scalloped neckline was head embroidered with iridescent sequins and pearls. Her white satin headdress was appliqued with lace embroidered with sequins and pearls. The bridal bouquet was of red and white carnations fashioned in a cascade from which fell the Brodie tartan ribbon.

Mrs. Shirley Blair, the bride's sister-in-law was matron of honour. Mrs. Annabel Stewart was bridesmaid and the junior bridesmaid was Pamela Blair, the bride's sister. They were all gowned identically in red velvet, cocktail length gowns fashioned with round neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. They carried white muffs with a red point-settles on them, and they wore white feather-hats and white shoes.

The bride's brother, Brian Blair, was groomsmen. The ushers were another brother Raymond Blair and the groom's brother Raymond Archer. The bride and groom were piped from the church by piper James Munro of Toronto. Miss Pamela Blair presented her sister with a horsehoe which had been sent from Scotland.

The wedding reception was held at Pickfair Inn where the bride's mother received for her wearing a massive velvet gown with white accessories and corsage of white gardenias. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a gown of blue crystal charm with winter white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. For travelling the bride wore a brown suit with white accessories. The groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Archer of Milton were honored guests.

Mrs. Archer was employed in the food department of the Cen-

Carol Singers Give Happy Christmas To Farm Boys

Late Christmas Eve a little band of tired, footsore and hoarse carol singers sat in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cassell, 12 Windsor Rd. drinking coffee and relaxing after two evenings of non-stop carol singing outside homes in the Sunbeam, Delrex and Normandy Blvd. districts. They were members of East Georgetown Ratepayers association who, for three hours each night worked with enthusiasm to raise enough money to buy a magnificent Christmas present for the boys at Notre Dame de Beauregard farm.

The group were rewarded many times in unexpected ways for their effort. Home owners brought their children to the door in many instances to hear away in a manner and they were often invited inside the gaily decorated houses to sing their messages of hope and goodwill under the glow of Christmas lights. Many times they were thanked for reviving a lovely old Christmas custom and the singers agreed afterwards that the smiles received and the countless reiteration of Merry Christmas made their efforts worth while.

Monday night Mrs. Sid Hardie, 4 Shelley St. wife of the association president prepared hot coffee and a buffet supper. Joe Whitford arrived at the bottom of Normandy Blvd. at the exact moment when the carollers felt they couldn't sing one more note or climb one more step, and drove them to the Hardie home where they were able to relax.

On Christmas Day, they were welcomed to Beauregard farm by Miss Therese St. Jean and a pleasant hour was spent with the boys who sang French songs expressing friendship and gratitude for their visitors. Flowers were presented to Miss St. Jean, soft drinks and candy to the boys and a large mezezo set was presented by Sid Hardie and Miss Rosemary Hole, one of the young carollers. Mrs. Bernard Cassell took photos of the presentation and the boys examining their gift. The boys sang Ave Marie and everyone joined in Holy Night.

The impromptu party ended with singing the Queen and the boys were promised a warm pair of gloves each out of the remainder of the money raised. The group went home in the happy knowledge that a worthwhile gesture had been made to a group of fine, lovable youngsters.

A total of $84 was raised in the two nights of carolling. Those taking part were Mrs. Louis Bodin, 20 Windsor Rd., Mrs. Bernard Cassell, 12 Windsor Rd., Mrs. Van Leeuwen, Mrs. R. A. Ollivier and Mr. Raymond Ollivier, 44 Prince Charles Dr.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Warwick, 7 Prince Charles Dr.; Mrs. John Veitch, 43 Prince Charles; Rosemary and Betty Hole, 14 Windsor Rd.; Jennifer Jones, Dianne Hutchison, 16 Prince Charles; Ann Peterson, 19 McIntyre Crescent.

THREE INJURED IN XMAS DAY ACCIDENT

Three people were injured on Christmas Day as the result of an accident at the corner of Guelph St. and Rexway Dr. Peter Hoekstra, 87 Mountainview Road received a cut forehead, and the driver of the other car Harry Armstrong of 8 Norton Crescent suffered a cut nose and bruised forehead. Mrs. Armstrong had to be treated for a bruised left leg, torn ligaments and shock.

The collision occurred at about 11:20 p.m. and was investigated by Cst. Ted Scott. The total damage was estimated at $1000.

adian Bank of Commerce, Toronto and Mr. Archer is with the Lashish Company of Canada as senior cost accountant. They will make their home in Brantford.

Special Christmas Services at Christian Reformed Church

Christmas was celebrated at the Christian Reformed Church with a special service on Christmas afternoon at which Rev. R. Groeneboer, Acton delivered a meditation on the meaning of the day.

Several young people of the congregation read portions of the scripture, including Lucy Adema, Ineke Dykshorn, Gary Foot, Alice Neutel, Erwin Ouwendyk, Mary Bos and Clara Byllevante, while Judy Jansen told the Christmas story. George Neutel and Jim Haker, sang a duet.

On the Monday before Christmas, the combined choir of the Georgetown and Brampton churches presented a carol service here which was repeated the next night in Brampton. Mr. John Schenk directed the choir in the familiar carols and Mrs. Dick Vandenberg was organist for the service here.

Miss Dini Kalsbeek and Mrs. D. Broekema read portions of the gospel between choir numbers and Rev. John Van Harmelen preached a timely sermon in English and Dutch. Mrs. Clarence Kroll sang "O Come All Ye Faithful" as a solo.

Manager Entertains Royal Bank Staff

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Miller, 49 Shelley St., entertained the staff of the local branch of the Royal Bank on Friday, Dec. 20th at a Christmas party at their home. SUNDAY SCHOOL CONCERT HAS SPLENDID ATTENDANCE

The Sunday School concert was held on Monday evening, December 23rd at eight fifteen in the church basement with a splendid attendance of parents and children. Superintendent Bob Cunningham opened with a short devotional of scripture verses and prayer, after which each class put on a number. Mrs. Blackett's seven little girls had a dialogue "A quiet evening at the radio". Mrs. Frank Wilson's boys put on "Bringing up Junior". A splendid number by the three Bengin's classes Barbara Cunningham, Marion Bird and Verna Pickett was called the rhythm band and the children looked so smart in their yellow and blue capes and hats with Ellen Hunter conducting, and they played Jingle Bells and Santa Claus comes tonight. Verna and Doris Pickett played a duet and the closing number by Mrs. C. B. Dick's class of girls "Getting ready for Christmas" and all it stands for concluded a lovely program. Short appropriate speeches were given by Mr. Fred Wigglesworth and Mr. Brown followed by David Giffen and Larry Pickett giving out the presents to scholars and teachers. A lovely luncheon ended the very pleasant evening.

Our deepest sympathy goes to Mrs. Horace Barnes and all her family in the death of her sister, Edith, Mrs. Chester DeForest. It's very tragic in one so young and a great loss to her husband and two little daughters.

New Year greetings to the editor and staff and to friends far and near. May your new year resolutions be good ones and well kept. Happy 1958.

MAGICIANS, FILMS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL PARTY

The Christmas entertainment for children at St. George's Anglican Sunday School took a different form this year, with an afternoon party on Saturday, December 21st.

Under the direction of superintendent Doug Meades, there was a program which included magic, a Jimmy Price, and movies. Eileen Biehn and Ann Hardy were accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Dawson in singing Christmas carols as solos. Santa made his appearance at the end of the party, distributing gifts to the younger children and candy and oranges to all those present.

ALLISTON HORNETS STING JUNIOR RAIDERS 11-5

School Children, Band Broadcast Xmas Music

One of the very many pleasant things that happen in Georgetown at Christmas time is the singing and playing over the amplifying system of St. John's United Church. It was such a pleasant thing after a day filled with work, struggling with Christmas lists and all the chores connected with the holiday season to hear the clear voices of the children in the early evening. It seemed to place things in their proper perspective.

This year we were so favoured four nights prior to Christmas by the Chapel Street School choir accompanied by Mrs. James Evans, the Harrison Public School, accompanied by Kenneth R. Harrison, the Boys' Band under the direction of Alf Perrott and the United Church Junior Choir accompanied by Norman Laird. Georgetown is indeed fortunate to have young people and adults who direct them, give them this Christmas treat.

Nine Lesson Carol Service, Knox Church

Rev. Alex Calder conducted special Christmas services on Sunday, December 22nd. His sermon was entitled "A Gift for You." Ross Kingdom of Brampton was the special soloist for the morning service singing the Holy City. The special anthem by the choir was the "Carol of the questioning Child" and the mixed quartette sang "From Heaven an Angel."

The evening candlelight service was conducted by the young people of the church with the choir's special anthems being "O Holy Blissful Night" and "While By My Sheep" and the mixed quartette "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

On Christmas Day the service of the nine lessons, with many Christmas carols was conducted by the young people of the church. Rev. Calder read a short selection "One Solitary Life" a copy of which you may read in full in the editorial column this week.

Mr. & Mrs. J. W. Wyatt Mark Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wyatt, 31 Maple Avenue West, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 22nd at the home of their youngest son, Robert and Mrs. Wyatt, Main Street N. Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt were married on December 23rd, 1907 in St. Stephen's Church, Moorfield, Bristol, England. They have five other children who were all present to celebrate with them—Mrs. R. W. Thacker, Redcliff, Alberta; Mrs. R. Dubeau, Redcliff, Alberta; Mrs. John Crosby and Mr. Crosby, Sarnia; William Wyatt and Mrs. Wyatt from Chedoke; Bert Wyatt and Mrs. Wyatt from Hamilton. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wyatt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Northoff and family and Mr. Jerry Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wyatt, Kathy and Don Wyatt, all of Hamilton.

Fifteen of their twenty-three grandchildren were present and seven great grandchildren. The hostess served a buffet luncheon with Mrs. R. W. Thacker, Redcliff, Alberta, the eldest daughter presiding.

Many gifts, cards and telegrams were received. One of the telegrams was from Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Christmas Eve Service At First Baptist Church

The Christmas story was retold at First Baptist Church by sermon, song and narration. On Sunday, December 22nd, in the morning sermon, Rev. A. J. Barker referred to the prologue of the gospel of St. John which tells "The Word was made flesh" as the most important fact of the bible. The choir sang the anthems "White Shepherds Watched" and "The Palm Grove Christmas Carol."

At the evening candlelight service, congregational carol singing was an appropriate prelude to the cantata "The Gift Supreme" presented by the choir under the direction of Douglas Peck and Mrs. W. Townend. Donald Livingstone was narrator.

The young people of the church arranged a Christmas Eve service conducted by Mrs. Donald Livingstone. It was a time of quiet meditation in the reading of the beloved passages of scripture, and singing of carols, about the Christmas tree by candlelight.

Weakened by lack of bench strength on their away games Georgetown Jr. Raiders took their second of two straight road trip losses at Alliston Thursday night, an 11 to 5 mauling at the hands of Alliston Hornets.

Georgetown's first tough break was at the 1:54 mark of the first period when Alliston defenceman Paul Courtney rifled a hard rising shot from the blueline. Lockhurst, making his first start for the Juniors, didn't see the screened drive until too late. The puck opened a wide cut over his left eye that required enough needlework to keep him from playing the rest of the game. Anderson was Chard's choice as a replacement.

No one player could be blamed for the whitewash. The defence, which for the first period consisted of only Sinclair and Hyde and was later bolstered by Marshall who had to borrow equipment to play, and Coxe who was converted from right winger to rearguard to give the regulars a breather, made too many good moves to deserve criticism for those glaring bad ones that resulted in Alliston goals and even though eleven shots got by Anderson, 32 were turned aside.

If anybody has an uncontrollable urge to point an accusing finger at one of the players they can wave it in the direction of number 12, Buzz Deschamps. Deschamps, easily the best of the Alliston crop, scored four goals on the night, three of those in the first period. St. Pierre notched two and Courtney, Hurst, Bartlett, Schell and Graham picked up singles.

Harrison with a hat trick and Doug Richardson with a pair accounted for all of the Georgetown scoring. Richardson's second tally was the best one to watch. He started in his own end, carried the length of the ice through the entire nest of Hornets and flipped a backhand behind Sutcliffe in the Alliston net.

Shots on goal were by Georgetown, 1st 9, 2nd 13, 3rd 10 for 32, and by Alliston 1st 22, 2nd 8, 3rd 13 for 43.

Scoring Summary

- Alliston—Deschamps (St. Pierre, Merkle) 3-40
