Tractor Back

The 'tractor back' is a relatively new, yet common ailment among our farmers causing much discomfort, pain and many lost working hours. It is an occupational disease, and naturally, is confined mostly to the agricultural population.

Most farmers have experienced, or sooner or later may experience, the painful results of this disabling condition caused by high speed mechanized farming. The symptoms are: Lower-back pain, sacro-coccyx strain, severe pains between the shoulder blades, stiff neck, and headaches. These handicapping disorders generally strike during the busiest farm seasons.

How 'Tractor Back' originated... Let us analyze the situation. A quarter century ago, there were few tractors. The work was done by horsepower at slow speed. The driver could relax, look straight ahead, and not concentrate as much on his work as a tractor operator must do. A good day's work in the field was nine to ten hours. Modern mechanized farming has changed all this. Now farming is a high-speed huge, specialized business. The farmer of today can, and does, farm four times as much land as his forefathers were able to do.

Muscular System is Fatigued... Today's farmer isn't satisfied to work ten hours. He has to work on his tractor and works 17 to 18 hours. He wouldn't work his horses more than nine hours, yet he will work himself twice as long. The tractor is tireless. The farmer thinks he can take it, and drive his body beyond human endurance. The muscular system becomes fatigued from the bouncing, jolting, and concentration. The machinery behind the tractor in front require continued alertness. The body posture required to manipulate all the machinery, so different from the horse-drawn equipment, puts the entire human mechanism at a disadvantage.

Rev. Alfred Barker Leaves for Hanover

Minister of First Baptist Church for 5 1/2 years, Rev. Alfred Barker will begin a new pastorate in Hanover on Sunday.

Mr. Barker preached farewell services at the church on Sunday, with the congregation honouring him at a fireside in the evening. He was presented with a projector screen and a purse of money following an address read by Watson Winfield, chairman of the deacon's board.

A number of friends from other churches, including several ministers attended the fireside. Rev. Morgan McFarlane, Rev. Alex Calder, Rev. Kenneth Richardson and Rev. G. Lockhart Royal were among those who expressed their best wishes to Mr. Barker in his new field of work.

A musical program included selections by the choir, Mrs. Don Hancock, Mrs. Don Livingstone, Miss Jean Newhouse and the Mate Quartette, Watson Winfield, Douglas Cole, Douglas Peck and John Emmerson. Mrs. Walter Townsend provided piano accompaniment and Phil Clappison was the chairman. Recognizing Mr. Barker's hobby of photography, several colour slides taken at church gatherings and around town were shown, with picture takers Messrs. Townsend, Livingstone, Clappison, and Winfield commenting.

Earlier in the week, Ernest Forgrave, at a meeting of the scout group committee presented Mr. Barker with a floor lamp in recognition of his work with scouts and cubs. A Sheaffer pen set was presented by the local ministerial association at a meeting at the home of Rev. Morgan McFarlane.
