Nerve Pressures Must Be Corrected . . .

There is no relaxation. High speed, long hours, and taut nerves result in tiring muscles to such an extent that the whole skeletal framework finally sags, causing nerve pressures and the usual train of results—lower back pain, shoulder pains, neck aches, and headaches. Unquestionably, the canvas and leather belts and girdles, worn by many tractor operators, are of some value. However, even that type of support cannot make up for proper body mechanics, which is lost when the muscular system sags because of overwork and overstrain.

Spinal Check-up Important:

Every Farmer using a tractor should check with his Chiropractor at least twice a year for his own comfort and well-being, thereby obtaining relief from pain and distress, as well as avoiding many chronic ailments in later life. It is true that implement manufacturers are inventing better and more convenient models of machinery that will enable the farmer to do more efficient work. But until manufacturers realize that human tissue and energy cannot compete with steel and gasoline, the farmer will have to rely on correct body mechanics through scientific chiropractic adjustments to keep him in fit condition to operate his modern big business — the farm.
