Katherine Merry Finalist Provincial Public Speaking

J. E. W.
It was our privilege to attend the evening session of the Ontario Junior Farmers' Conference in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto on January 17th.

The five finalists in the Provincial Public Speaking Competition who had been selected from 29 contestants earlier in the day, were Katherine Merry of Halton; Margaret McLeod of Oxford; Velorous Gingrich of Waterloo; Sandra Dolg of Huron, and Bill Boulton of Leeds county.

Katherine Merry had as the subject of her prepared address — "Stress and Strain". For her impromptu five minute effort in the morning, she drew the topic "Hydro"—and in the evening she drew as her impromptu subject, "Rural Life".

The Crystal Ball Room at the King Edward Hotel was filled almost to capacity when we arrived in the evening. All five young people delivered outstanding addresses, and in so far as we could determine, the audience was quite prepared to accept any one of the five as the winner. The panel of judges awarded the top award to Margaret McLeod of Embro, Oxford County, whose prepared address was entitled "Count Your Blessings".

The audience also had the privilege of hearing a choir from Middlesex County; the winning ladies' trio from Waterloo; the winning Mixed Quartette from Ontario County, and the winning male quartette from Brant County.

Halton Juniors entered a ladies' trio, and a male quartette. The ladies' trio was composed of Dorothy Marshall, Marilyn Lealle and Lorna Woodley — and the male quartette members were Howson Ruddell, John Eves, Tom Hunter and Stuart McPadden.

The Halton quartette placed third among the ten entries. The trio and quartette were trained by Mrs. Geo. Newell of Milton R.R. 1. It was an inspiration to us to be there for a short period—to hear the young people participating and also to note the calibre of young people in that crowded ballroom. If they represent a true cross-section of the rural youth of Ontario, then we do not think we have too much to worry about.

Redecorating of the church, completion of payment for a new church heating system and installation of a new furnace in the manse were highlights of the year at Norval United Church when members reviewed the annual statement at a meeting on January 10th. The meeting followed a noon dinner served by the church ladies.

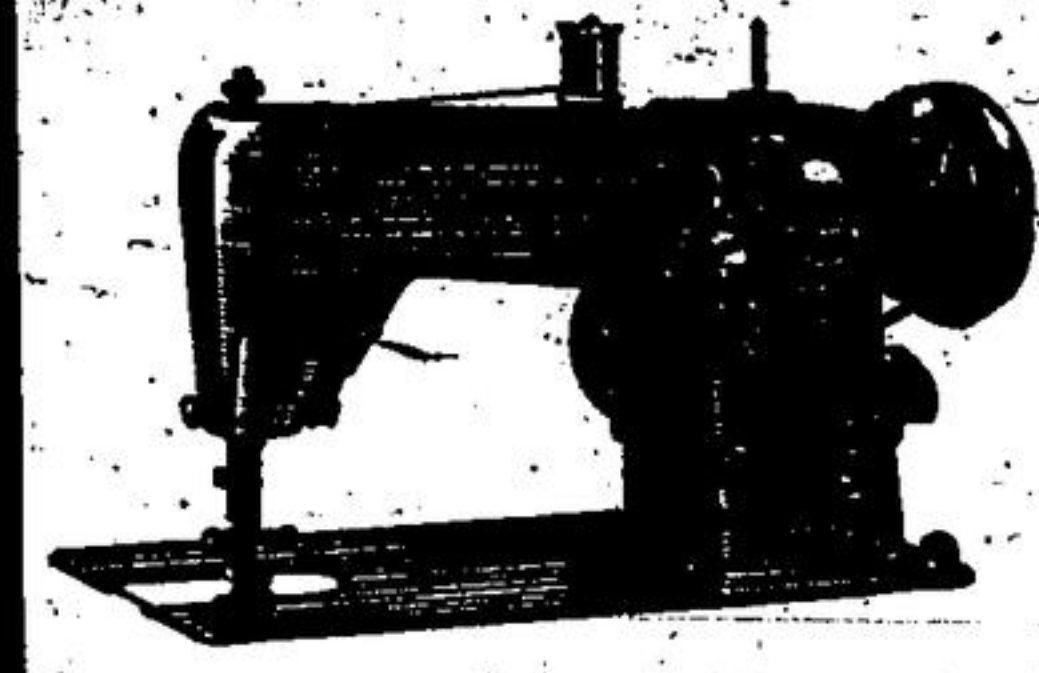

Rev. W. Edgar Gill acted as chairman for the meeting when members heard reports presented by the various church organizations. Mrs. Gordon Miller presented the treasurer's statement, and others who reported were Mrs. M. Guy Wilson for the W.A.; Peter Van Vliet for the Young People's Union; Mrs. N. T. Laidlaw for the missionary and maintenance committee; Mrs. Hamilton McLaughlin for the missionary society; Mrs. Jim Laidlaw for the choir; Clark Lyons, the Sunday School; Mrs. Don Murray, Mission Band and Mrs. Miller, the Baby Band.

LEGION NOTES

By Leslie M. Clark

Well, the tumult and shouting is over, and once again the branch can settle down to work, now that the elections are over. May we offer sincere congratulations to the ext executive, and we know that they will do a good job. It is an indication of the interest taken in the branch, when one sees the number who offer themselves for office. We trust that Branch 120 will always carry such an able and willing group seeking office.

The initiation was a big one, too, when you consider that the last one was only in November. And with new applications coming in all the time, we wonder just how long it's going to be until we reach the 450 mark? The new executive might do well to organize another membership drive, as the last one paid off so well.

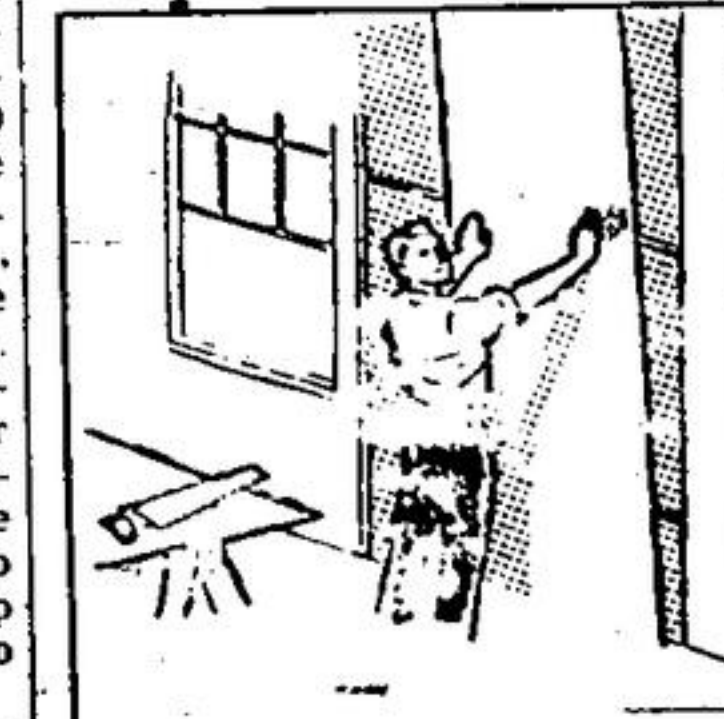

The financial report was an excellent one, and we recommend it for the perusal of all members. Each year the amount handled in the branch scarcely is to be credited, and indicate the very great effort put into their work by all the officers and committee chairmen. Especially true of entertainment and bingo, where large revenues are handled by the individual chairmen. A word too is in order about the sick chairman and the sports chairman, each doing a difficult job, and doing it well.

The election of officers was as follows: President, Harvey Garvin; first vice, Jim Yates; second vice, Jim King; executive: G. Collier, R. Healey, H. Shephard, D. Wright, sergeant at arms, P. Clark; secretary, Charles Day; treasurer, Wallace Thompson; Committee chairman, Sick and Poppy, Mrs. T. F. Grievie; bingo, Alex Taylor; entertainment, Jim Murphy; sports, Herb Arnold. This week notes will have to be very brief, however, we promise a full report of the annual meeting and election next week.

We got a rubber last Sunday that's for too big for us. If the owner would like it give us a ring so we can exchange it.

Sorry to cut Legion News so short this week but it's unavoidable.
