18th Anniversary

Eighteen years ago this week, we wrote our first editorial, compiled our first news stories in a town, completely strange to us then, which has become home.

The year's have dealt kindly with the Herald. Blessed with faithful co-workers and a fair share of advertising patronage and commercial printing work, the business has grown with the town. A staff of four turned out a 6 or 8 page edition in those days. A 9-man staff now produces this 12 to 16 page paper you read weekly. In 1940, we worked in cramped quarters farther down the street where Henry's Clothing Store is now. In 1958 we are in quarters four times as large. The original machinery has been replaced with more modern equipment. The Herald now has two automatic printing presses where once it had none... two typesetting machines in place of one... a power paper cutter instead of the old hand "guillotine"... a paper folder where once the whole issue was folded by hand... a 2-phone system to take care of the increasing number of calls in the front office... a faster and better newspaper press to print the weekly edition.

It hasn't been all a bed of roses, of course. We can remember, too, the war years when, if it hadn't been for Victory Loan campaigns, the Herald might have quietly starved to death. When we were only sure of two ads, sometimes, on Mondays... the Gregory Theatre and Car-

Red Cross Month

March is the month when the Red Cross appeals for funds in a nation-wide drive, and this year again Georgetown and district will see an intensive campaign spearheaded by an active group of workers who know the many fine accomplishments of this great organization which is equally active in war and peacetime.

The local fund drive will take place on Monday, March 17th, as a Blitz campaign, and people are reminded to be on the lookout that evening for a Red Cross caller. Locally, the objective is $2500, less than 50c per person in the community. A little help from everyone, and there is no doubt that the quota will be easily reached.

No Relief Rolls Here

With talk of recession and unemployment in the daily press, it is comforting for Georgetown to know that there is not one person at present receiving town relief. May this happy state of affairs continue.

It is a credit to the town's industries that there are no great ups and downs in employment here, and Georgetown is most fortunate in having the type of industrial operation which pays a good wage rate, with some assurance that a man will be working at his trade 52 weeks a year. Much as we need more industrial assessment, it is to be hoped that the new factories which will come in future will be on a par with those we have now.

While we deprecate most statements made in the heat of an election campaign and hope that Canada's economy is more stable than some daily paper articles would have us believe, it is well not to be too much of an ostrich and hide roll's Store... and when some weeks a 4 page issue could contain as much news as one double that size today, because there were so few advertisers. We can remember, at the depth of the manpower shortage, a beneficent army taking pity on our business plight and allowing us to come home on extended leave when the staff had shrunk to one man and an apprentice, and Garfield was trying to set type, run the newspaper press, do the job printing and all the multitude of work which a printing office entails while the editor's wife struggled to do all the front office work and lend a hand where she could in the shop.

The year's have left their mark. There was a time when a stranger might say "I expected to find an older man" when told we were the editor. That hasn't happened for a long time now. There was a time when we were "Walt" to everybody... too many people call us "Mister" now. There were the carefree days when youth allowed us to follow the hockey team on the famous hockey trains, when a solid week of night meetings didn't faze us a whit, when there was no grey in the hair or wrinkles in the face.

But they have all been good years and we savour every minute of them. Life would indeed be dull if everything was pie and one had no bad times to make the good times seem better. We're looking forward to the next eighteen years with anticipation.

We have been asked to relay information about those who contribute to the Red Cross at the Avro and Orinda plants. While the money all goes to the same place, it is proper that Georgetown residents indicate, if giving at the plants there, that their donations be credited to Georgetown. Otherwise, a large amount of money might never be indicated as coming from our town, and the campaign figure might be out of proportion with results attained here.

The local Red Cross division has been told that it is quite in order for such information to be given at Malton, and the amounts received will then be credited by headquarters to the Georgetown objective.

our heads in the Georgetown sand. It would seem, from studying such reports, that Canada is, after a postwar boom which saw more than full employment, returning to an unfortunately more normal state where at times there will be men out of work and businesses which fail. As we rejoice in our local prosperity, we can ponder an old familiar quotation, written by a great English divine, John Donne, over three hundred years ago:

"No man is an island, intire of itselfe, everyman is a peece of the Continent, a part of the maine; if a clod be washed away by the Sea, Europe is the lesse, as well as if a Promontorie were, as well as if a Manor of thy Friends or of thine owne were; any mans death diminishes me because I am involved in Mankinde. And therefore, never send to know for whom the bell tolls, it tolls for thee."

SIDEWALKS NOT ALWAYS THE ANSWER

86 Main St. N.,
 March 1st, 1958
 Dear Sir:
 A remark made recently by Mr. Young at council, that 67 children use Shelley St. daily as a path to school and that it is dangerous for them to walk in the road.

I most definitely agree 100 per cent, but demanding sidewalks I'm sorry to say, is not completely the answer for eliminating this danger.

As you see by my address I live in a very dangerous area where children going to school or downtown with their trucks, bikes, wagons, etc., never think to use the sidewalks provided.

They prefer the roads, the boulevards, or people's front lawns, so for me, there's a constant fear for the children, that could be stopped overnight if all the parents would constantly remind their children of this danger.

"I HAVE TO, FOR I LIVE ON A Highway."
 Yours truly,
 Margaret Bennett

HALTON PRESBYTERIAL MEETS AT OAKVILLE

Despite the worst road conditions in many years, the three-session meeting in Oakville of Halton Presbyterial of the United Church WMS was very successful. The devotional periods, departmental groups, memorial service and the excellent address by Miss Leona Douglas of Japan all helped to answer the day's theme query "What Doth the Lord Require of Us?"

The treasurer reported $3109 in gifts for building advance, to be divided between scholarships and a medical unit for Korea. A splen-
