Beauticians Gain Useful Information At Convention

Mrs. Louise Wheatley, proprietor of the Louise Beauty Lounge, accompanied by Miss Georgina Graham and Mrs. Pearl Miller of her staff attended the opening of the 1958 "Canadian Beauty Convention" on Monday, March 17th at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto. This event is the annual hairdressers' convention and features the guest artists and teachers from both Canada and the United States.

During the day the latest techniques in hair styling and colouring were demonstrated together with improved methods on skin and scalp beauty-care. Irene Kalarow, expert make-up artist for the CBC and Phyllis and Robert Prather of Long Beach, California, the foremost cosmetologists in the Western USA, and exponents of the art of hair styling, attended this year's convention and their platform exhibit and demonstrations were roundly applauded. Mrs. Wheatley and the girls thoroughly enjoyed their trip and much advanced knowledge and information on the latest trends and techniques were obtained.

During the convention the emphasis was on hair coloring, styling and the all important requirements of scalp treatments so vitally necessary to maintain good hair health. It was most interesting to note that many of the models and visitors were wearing the new look, e.g., "The Sack and Chemise Line" and that the demonstrators were at times endeavouring to display hair styles considered to be the most acceptable for this mode of dress.

The theme song was sung and the Lord's prayer was repeated in unison. Mrs. Johnson Neelands read the minutes of the installation meeting and the roll call was answered.

The main topics of business for the afternoon were the partitioning of the kitchen and the banquets to which they are catering. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. C. As a parting gesture the congregation of St. Stephen's Anglican Church held a presentation party on March 17th for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dennis and their family, Billy and Mary Anne who are moving to Campbellville. The evening's program arranged by Mrs. Cliff Hunter and Mrs. Art Johnson began with a round of games, followed by a euchre party, after which an address was given by Bill Brain that expressed how much Harold and Mae would be missed in the congregation.

The wardens, Pat Flippance, Craig Royce and Bill Bradley, presented them with a desk and occasional table to match and a desk lamp. Rev. J. E. Maxwell thanked Mae and Harold for being such willing workers for the church and presented them with a Bible on behalf of the congregation. Mae and Harold thanked everyone and coffee and lunch were served.
