Member Drive, Highway Sign Chamber of Commerce Projects

Social & Personal

A membership drive and erection of a highway sign at the eastern town approach are two projects engaging the attention of the Chamber of Commerce at present. Last week at a directors' luncheon at the Jack O'Lantern, president Jack Crichton outlined plans for a membership campaign to boost enthusiasm for the Chamber which he termed "a potent force in community life." The luncheon coincided with a country wide Chamber of Commerce week. Harold Baird, past president, was delegated to complete plans for erection of a highway sign which will draw attention of travellers to the features Georgetown has to offer as an industrial and residential location. It is planned to have the sign floodlit at night. Mr. Crichton announced several committees for the year. Harold McClure, who is first vice president, will be in charge of social events and meetings. Instead of monthly business meetings this year, the Chamber will hold quarterly dinners, the first being planned in June. Mrs. Art Scott will handle publicity. Fred Helson, membership, Stan Finlay industrial affairs, and Dick Licala, civic affairs. Operation Home Improvement, a cooperative scheme by which contractors and suppliers will encourage house owners to make use of NHA loans for home improvement, has William McNally as chairman of the Chamber sponsored project. John R. Barber is in charge of the professional committee.

Mrs. Edith Morris of Windsor was visiting for a few days last week with Mrs. William Ostrander, 7 Emery Street.

Indian Pastor Brings Inspirational Messages

Presbyterian churches in this district had the privilege last week of hearing Pastor Moti Lall, senior pastor on the Jhansi field in India where Canadian Presbyterians maintain a mission station. Mr. Lall is in Canada under auspices of the church's board of missions, to tell Presbyterians about their work in India and how best they can help spread Christianity in that country. He has just completed a three month visit in British Guiana conducting evangelistic meetings and while there was a guest for several days with a former Georgetown man and his family, Rev. Arthur Dayfoot, who is a United Church minister there. Mr. Lall on Sunday had a heavy itinerary which included speaking engagements in church and Sunday Schools in Brampton, Union and Limehouse, concluding with a youth dinner and an evening service in Knox Church in town. On Friday he spoke to men of Norval and Union Churches at a noon dinner in Norval. Monday night he was at a special meeting of the congregation of Union church. In his talk to the men on Friday, he stressed the important part missionaries and mission contributions have played in India. "We could never have started had you not sent us men and money," he said "and you have brought us from social poverty, from worshipping idols, to the start of a better life."

The future of Christianity in India must depend to a large extent on native-trained men, however, he said and today's missionaries should be more in the nature of specialists. Money, too, is still a prime necessity, although the day must come when the Indian church must be self-sufficient, he said.

Introduced at the dinner by Rev. G. L. Royal, minister of Norval and Union churches, Mr. Lall gave a brief outline of today's India. Literacy has risen from 3 to 15 per cent in a few years, and ministers combine religious teaching with education as part of their job. The Colombo Plan is bringing advantages. Rivers are being dammed to provide irrigation and electricity is a privilege mainly of the larger cities.

So far, people are poor, he said with 50¢ a day the average wage. Christians in the country now number nine million. In India there is religious freedom, and although minor incidents occur occasionally, a Christian is protected by law and has the same privileges as Hindus and Mohammedans who form the large percentage of the population.

Mr. Lall said he owed his early education to a Sunday School in the USA which sent $200 when he was a boy. He was privileged to visit the school while travelling in the States to thank them personally, he said. Graduating from high school in 1921, he attended Indore Christian College, then took a correspondence course from Moody Bible Institute, Chi. He has been a minister since 1924. Of his family of nine children, two are doctors, one a minister and three teachers.

There are six protestant churches in Jhansi, he said, and fine progress is being made in their work. He hopes for the day when there will be a united church of North India, and said the Presbyterians are taking a lead towards estab-

ROTARY SOLICITS DONATIONS
EASTER SEAL IN FINAL WEEK

East Monday evening the Rotary Club of Georgetown met for their regular weekly meeting at North Halton Golf and Country Club. A very good number were on hand for it.

After dinner, the president-elect Bill Hamilton, asked John Ord to give a report on the Easter Seal campaign to date. Rotarian John reported that while there had so far been a good response, there were still many to hear from, and that he hoped this week which is the final week of the campaign, would see citizens sending in their donations and putting the campaign "over the top."

It was felt that the general public knew of the need to help crippled children, and that a friendly reminder would bring the donations in that had been overlooked so far.

A vote of thanks was given to Ralph Ussel by those present for a tremendous job done in directing the minstrel show, and it was felt that this one had been the best to ever be held by the club. Various suggestions were made as to the one next year, and plans are already under way for the next show.

A singing song was held with Rotarians Walter Pope and Ralph Ussel leading.

The guest speaker of the evening was the regent of the IOOE, Mrs. Leslie Clark, who gave a brief talk on the aims and objects and some of the work done by her group. Mrs. Clark was introduced by John Gunn and thanked by Bill Hamilton.

A director's meeting was held at the end of the regular dinner meeting.

A director's meeting was held at the end of the regular dinner meeting.

"My faith has been rewarded. I've trusted God to supply my daily needs and he has" he said, in ending with a plea to keep supporting missions.

As an interesting sidelight of his talk, Mr. Lall sang a hymn, first using well-known western music, then adapting this in Indian style. He used this to illustrate how a church must not copy too exactly the customs of another land, but adapt its music to the style which most pleases the ear of that country.
