WHAT COUNCIL DID

Mavel Motors to Supply New Ambulance for Town

Georgetown will purchase a new International ambulance for use by the volunteer ambulance service.

On recommendation of the ambulance committee, council on Monday okayed the purchase from Maveal Motor Sales, at a cost of $4,091. The Maveal tender was one of three received the previous week which had been turned over to the committee for study.

The 1957 auditor's report was reviewed with council by H. A. Lever.

Mr. Lever said there had been a decided improvement in the town's financial position since the previous year, but warned that debt service is now 28.3 per cent of the assessment, while 25 per cent is considered the danger point. New Ontario legislation allows a town to build up a working fund surplus and he suggested Georgetown could avoid heavy bank interest payments by creating such a fund over a period of years.

A member of North Halton high school board, James Goodlet urged council to press a county consultative committee set up to examine high school affairs, to investigate possibility of disbanding the North Halton, and return to three separate school boards.

Georgetown had entered the area originally, he said, because economics forced it to, but there has been a change in legislation and a town can now have its own board without losing anything in government grants. The board has become cumbersome and administration is difficult, he said. The longer disbanding is held up, the more involved it becomes too, as schools expand and municipalities become involved in complex financial arrangements.

A $1200 grant was passed to the Oakville Humane Society which administers dog control locally. Cr. Elliott remarked that he would like to see a change in the system whereby if a tagged dog were picked up, the owner would be notified and given a chance to pick up his dog here rather than travelling to Oakville.

Suggesting a by-law limiting the sale of fireworks to the two weeks preceding and one week following May 24th, Cr. Sykes withdrew a motion he had prepared until council investigates whether such action is legal.

Cr. Sykes also would ban the sale of fireworks to minors.

MESSIAH ORATORIO EXPLAINED TO CGIT

At the meeting of Knox Church CGIT group held on April 3rd the story of how George Frederick Handel came to compose the oratorio the "Messiah" was told by Mrs. Frank Buchanan. Following this the girls gathered informally around the candlelit worship centre and listened to parts from the "Messiah" played on a recording brought along for the occasion by their leader Mrs. C. Sayers.

Three members of the group took part in the Easter services in church. On Good Friday morning the scripture reading was given by Betty Carey and Jeanette Smith and at the Easter Sunday evening service Yvonne Sloane read the bible lesson.

FARM CLUB ENTERTAINS ALLOA FARM FORUM

The April meeting of the Terra Cotta Farmers' Club was held on Monday, April 7th at Snelgrove Hall when the Alloa Farm Forum group was entertained by the club.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. T. F. Macdonald, Mrs. George Leslie, Mrs. H. Beardmore, Mrs. P. Dick, and Mrs. A. McDonald and Mrs. Wilfrid Leslie had charge of the program. Two CPR films "The Yukon" and "The Empress of Britain" were procured by Percy Raines of Georgetown and shown at the meeting. Mr. Raines before his retirement was safety director with the CPR.

Members of the Farmers Club who entertained were Mrs. Geo. Frazer who played a piano solo and Mrs. Norm Hutchinson and Mrs. Gordon Sharpe who sang a duet.

Euchre was played for the remainder of the meeting with Mrs. Alan Beardmore 1st for the ladies and Mrs. Raines second, David Anderson and Laverne Thompson were 1st and 2nd for the men. Mr. Thompson thanked those participating in the program and Howard Laidlaw expressed the thanks of the Alloa group for the entertainment.

Magistrate's Father Was Brighton Lawyer For Many Years

A Brighton lawyer for many years, Kenneth Murney Langdon, 61 died on Thursday at the Smith Nursing Home, Acton.

Mr. Langdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hannibal Langdon, was a Brighton native whose grandfather was a United Empire Loyalist who became one of Brighton's first residents when he emigrated from New Hampshire. Educated at Victoria University, Cobourg, the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall, he taught school for 25 years at Woodbridge, Alliston, Victoria and Frank, B.C. In 1910 he was admitted to the Alberta bar and two years later to the Ontario bar when he returned to Brighton to practice law until his retirement in 1954. In 1950 he spent a year in Georgetown where he joined his son, Magistrate Kenneth M. Langdon in his law practice. His wife, Joanne Williamson died four years ago just after they had celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

He leaves four sons, all of whom have followed in his footsteps as lawyers, Magistrate William O. Langdon, Sault Ste. Marie, Charles V. Langdon, Q.C., Toronto, Magistrate Kenneth M. Langdon, 2 Edith St., Georgetown and T. R. Langdon, South Porcupine; 9 grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren. He also leaves a brother Goldwyn S. Langdon, Brighton and a sister, Mrs. Olive Kutcher, Sheridan, Wyoming.

Rev. Alex Calder conducted a funeral service at the Harold C. McClure Funeral Home on Friday evening. On Saturday, another service was held in Brighton prior
