This is a milking herd dispersal, the herd has been on DHIA and a number of cows have Gold Seal records, balance have Red Seal records. It is a herd of high quality. They have lovely udders and are of good type, sired mostly by Toronto unit sires with quite a few very nice daughters of Bond Haven R. A. Maple, that have Gold Seal records, also daughters of Twin Valley R. A. Prince, Hainescrest Sovereign Chore Boy and Walhill Richard. There is a first calf heifer due sale time by Elmercroft Celebrity from a Seiling Wing Double Dam that was sensational, be sure to see this heifer if interested in top quality. There are also several very outstanding grades in the herd by the Maple bull.
Owner: John Popp, R. R. 6, Milton, Ontario.

Hold Achievement Day For 4-H Homemakers

Halton County's summer achievement day for 4-H Homemaking clubs was held in the Agricultural Hall, Milton farm grounds, Thursday, July 3rd. Marking the completion of the spring project "Clothes Closets Up to Date," 109 members from the 12 clubs in the county exhibited their record books and such articles as padded hangers, garment covers, laundry bags, shoe packs, hat stands, hat covers and bonnet boxes. The result was a very gay and colourful display of useful and attractive clothes closet accessories.
As usual the morning was taken up with activities which gave club members an opportunity to practice their powers of judgment; developed during the project. One method of doing this was the assembling by each girl of samples of materials from which she considered an attractive and practical set of closet accessories could be made. Colour harmony and quality of materials were the main considerations here and many interesting combinations were worked out. There were also judging classes of garment covers and other sets of accessories.
Visiting home economists who assisted with this programme and gave guidance to the girls, were Miss Carolyn Kelman from Lincoln, Welland, and Haldimand Counties; and Miss Carmel Coady from Wentworth, Waterloo and Brant. Halton was especially privileged in having Miss Florence P. Eadie, supervisor of Junior Extension for the Home Economics Service of the Dept. of Agriculture as a guest. Miss Florence Martineau, a new staff member, was present as well, to observe and assist.
Many mothers and other interested visitors attended the afternoon programme when the clubs presented exhibits, demonstrations and skits of their own devising, to illustrate the knowledge they had gained.
Using the topic "Clothes Closets Up to Date" for their exhibit were Hornby Busy Bees, Hornby Snippy Snippers, Limehouse Clothes Hangers, Nassagaweya Tumble Bells, Nelson Tidy Teens, Palermo Sewettes and Scotch Block Clothes Closets Neat. The commentators: Carol McCarron, Joanne Patterson, Audrey James, Lorraine Richardson, Beverley Roe, Dorothy Tovell and Beverley Newell, further contributed to the interest of these exhibits.
"The Well Equipped Clothes Closet" was the assigned subject for demonstrations and skits and was interpreted in varied and interesting ways, by Margaret Austin and Marilyn Wilson of the Ashgrove Modern Misses, Shirley Spiece, Lynda Swackhamer and Donna Ledger of Bannockburn Tidy Teens, June Rennie, Joyce Rennie and Shirley Langevin from the Dublin Tidy Ten, Margaret Chewell and Marie Curtis of Omagh Union Snippers, and Judy Walker, Ineka Koessig, Marilyn Murray, and Margaret Hairsma, from the Stewarttown 7th Line Sueses.
Miss Eadie and Miss Coady made suggestions for the improvement of all exhibits, demonstrations and skits, and Mrs. Borgstrom, Halton's Home Economist, who supervised the programme, commented on the individual work of all members.
Greetings from Halton Women's Institutes, many of whom sponsor Homemaking Clubs in their communities, were brought by Mrs. George Somerville, past president for the district.
At the close of the afternoon programme, silver 4-H Homemaking Club spoons were presented to all club members, and 4-H Crests to those completing their first project.
Certificates of Achievement were awarded for two projects completed: County honours for six and provincial honours for 12. Martha May of Hornby North, was the only member receiving Provincial Honours at this Achievement Day, while county honours went to Marilyn Wilson of Ash-grove, Joan Brooks and Margaret Morrison of Bannockburn, Sharon Blyth and Jean Britton of Dublin, Carol McCarron of Hornby North, Hertha Brucker, Joanne Patterson and Anna Peacock of Hornby South; Audrey Auchland, Barbara Rose and Betty Rose of Nelson.

In September another 4-H Homemaking club project, "Working With Wool" will be started in Halton county. For this each member will make and learn to care for a wool skirt or jumper. Following this, in the spring of 1959, the unit will be "The Club Girl Entertains."

All girls between the ages of 12 and 26 are welcome to join Homemaking Clubs and the Home Economist and Agricultural Representative would be pleased to receive inquiries about the programme at any time.

DANCING PUPILS PASS EXAMINATIONS IN TORONTO
With Celia Franca examining, six pupils of the Vickie Lay School of Dancing were successful in passing their Grade 1 Cecchetti Ballet examinations in Toronto recently.
Successful pupils were Jean Anne Inglis, Cairne Babey, Christine Earl, Jane Bouskill, Georgina Hoesch and Barbara Hills.
