Local Man Will Spend Year Near Arctic Circle

A Georgetown man will be spending the winter far from the beaten path. Paul Prust, who has been visiting for a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Prust, 14 James St. left town last Thursday for Montreal, from where he was to leave by air for a position on the Dew Line, 100 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

Mr. Prust, a Ryerson graduate, has been in Ottawa with the National Research Council and recently secured a new position with Federal Electric Corp. He has completed a 3-month training course in Streeter, Ill. and Chicago in preparation for his new position. He will be in the north for 14 months on one of the Dew Line posts.

Aurora Banner Winner Three Newspaper Classes

More than 30 Canadian Weekly newspapers shared top honours in this year's Better Weekly Newspapers competition, according to a list made public last week at the 39th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Four weeklies headed the list with three or more awards each. The Steinbach (Manitoba) Carillon News won the Mason trophy for the best all-round paper with circulation of over 3,000. It also took second place in the Amherstburg Echo Shield competition for the best front page in its class; and third place in the Charters Cup competition for the best 1957 Christmas edition, a special competition open to all classes.

The Aurora (Ont.) Banner, in the circulation class of 2,001 to 3,000 won the Gertrude A. Dunning Trophy for the best all-round paper; the P. George Pearce trophy for the best editorial page; and the Frank Howe Beattie Shield for the best front page in its class.

The Courtenay (B.C.) Argus in the class of 1,001 to 2,000 circulation won the Charles Clark cup for the best all-round paper; the Malcolm MacBeth Shield for the best editorial page; the M. A. James Shield for the best front page in its class; and took second place for the best sports page.

The Winkler (Manitoba) Pembina Triangle Progress in the 1,000 circulation or less class, won the Walter Ashfield Trophy for the best all-round paper in its class; tied for second place with the Nanton (Alberta) News for the John W. Eedy trophy for the best editorial page and took second place for the Printer and Publisher Special Trophy for the best front page.

The complete list of 1958 winners was: Class I — Circulation over 3,000; Best All-Round Paper Competition for the Mason trophy; first, Steinbach (Manitoba), Carillon News; second, Oakville (Ont.) Journal; third, Chilliwack (B.C.), Progress.

Best editorial page Competition for the P. George Pearce Memorial Trophy; first, Aurora (Ont.), Banner; second, Fort Erie (Ont.), Times-Review; third, Humboldt (Saskatchewan) Journal.

Best Front Page Competition for the Frank Howe Beattie Shield; first, Aurora (Ont.), Banner; second, Goderich (Ont.) Signal-Star; third, Renfrew (Ont.) Advance.

Class III — Circulation 1,001 to 2,000; Best All-Round Paper Competition for the Charles Clark Cup — first, Courtenay (B.C.) Argus; second, Acton (Ont.) Free Press; third, Clinton (Ontario) News-Record.

Best Editorial Page Competition for the Malcolm MacBeth Shield; first, Courtenay (B.C.) Argus; second, Acton (Ont.) Free Press; 3rd, Port Elgin (Ont.) Times.

Best Front Page Competition for the M. A. James Shield; first, Courtenay (B.C.) Argus; second, Delhi (Ont.) News-Record; third, Acton (Ont.) Free Press.

Class IV — Circulation 1,000 or less; Best All-Round Paper Competition for the Walter Ashfield Trophy; first, Winkler (Manitoba) Pembina Triangle Progress; second, Nanton (Alberta) News; third, Sutton (Ont.) Reporter.

Alluvialdale Herd Does Well, CNE Cattle Show

The 1958 CNE was well attended by Halton Holstein exhibitors with Wilfrid Leslie, the largest exhibitor with 11 entries. His top entry, owned jointly by J. M. Fraser, was Spring Farm Fond Piebe the senior grand champion Holstein bull. The judge, Durno Innes said that there has never been a better show bull at the Ex in recent years.

Mr. Leslie's other winnings were: 3rd prize senior yearling heifer in a class of 34; 7th prize senior heifer calf, which was his son Tom's calf club calf. He had 10th prize senior bull calf, which was a Treasure Model son, out of ABC Reflection Sovereign daughter; the 5th prize junior herd comprising five animals; the 8th prize dry two year old and the 7th prize milking four year old and under five cow class, as well as the 5th prize milking two year old.

Keith Leslie's senior heifer calf stood twelfth in a senior calf class of 43 entries and there was also another senior bull calf which stood 12th in a class of 29. Percy Leslie had two heifers entered, a senior yearling heifer which stood 10th and a junior yearling heifer, big winner of top prize ribbons last year, was in a class of 28 this year and stood 11. They were all brought down in the best of shape and were all shown in the best by Tom Leslie, who is a genius with cattle in pedigrees, showing and care-taking. Halton Holsteins were 3rd in county competition.

feeding and sterilizing the milk machine, etc. etc. Pity the poor judges — they had the four tops, but how could they pick a winner? Prior to the competition, they again interviewed the four young ladies individually. How would YOU like to answer these questions without previous warning:

1. What dairy products do we export and how much? 2. What dairy products do we import and also to what extent? 3. What is the population of the British Isles, etc., and etc. Sure it was fair, but it was a tough assignment. Out in the Coliseum the four girls all gave a finished performance. The Reid family had a little competition of their own — Hazel and Joanne Reid, her sister-in-law, from Peel, were side by side. Many complimentary remarks from outsiders were overheard concerning Halton's Hazel Reid, her poise, her personality, and her efficiency, etc.

But when the judge's decision came, Janette Lockman, of Brant County, was the 1958 Dairy Queen, and Halton's Hazel was reserve — and all Halton is still very proud of their Dairy Princess.

Willmott Flock Won Many Honors
Since writing the foregoing article, we were delighted to learn from the genial Joe Willmott, that they had 1st and 3rd prizes on ram lambs, 1st and 4th on ewe lambs; 1st on pen of lambs; 2nd prize aged ram; and the reserve male championship on their first prize ram lamb, to mention but a few.

Georgetown Fall Fair is rapidly approaching. The date this year is Friday and Saturday, Oct. 3rd and 4th. Don't miss this big event in community life!

low of their awards. In the special Shorthorn heifer calf class, open to 4-H club members, Carolyn Gardhouse took top honours on her calf, with Bob Merry taking the red ribbon for best showman. In the junior judging competition, open to 4-H club members between the ages of 15 and 17 years, another Halton young lady, namely Barbara Pickard, was 1st in a competition of 45 contestants. In the same division Margaret Lawson was third, and Lorna Woodley and Mary Lawrence were also well up in the mobey. In the senior section open to those between the ages of 18 and 26 years, Don Taylor was 2nd, Mark Marquardt 3rd, Ed Segsworth 4th, in a class of 37 in Dairy Cattle.

In the judging of Beef Cattle, Carolyn Gardhouse was 5th junior in a class of 37; and in the senior division Sandy Heggburn was 9th; George Greenlees 13th, and Tom Hunter 15th. In the junior division judging Sheep, Tom Hays Jr. and Mary Lou Taylor were 3rd and 4th respectively.

ROGERS FUEL OIL BUDGET PLAN CAN HELP YOU OVERCOME THESE "HEAVY COST" WINTER MONTHS

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

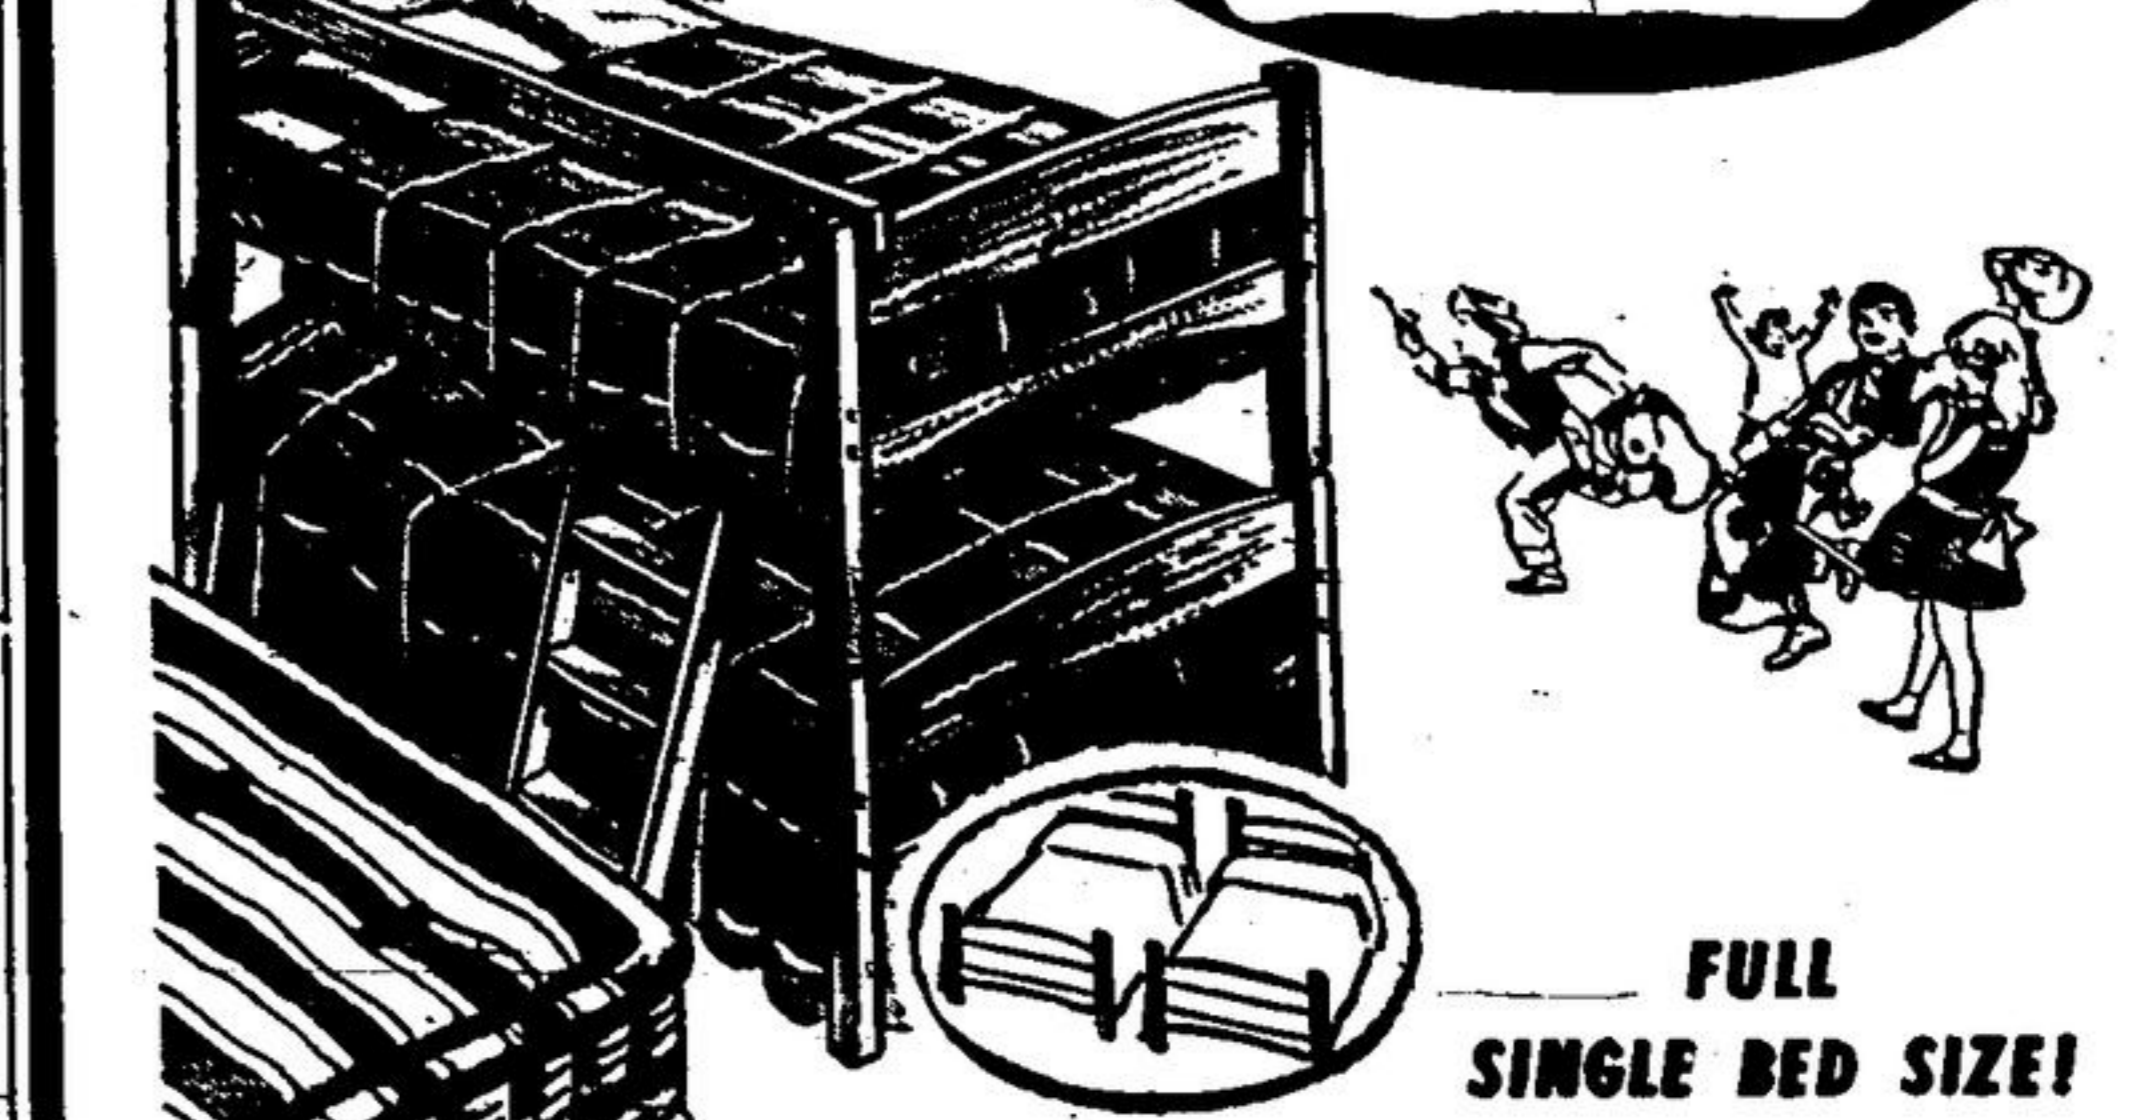

We estimate the quantity of oil that you will use in a normal heating season, then multiply this by the current price per gallon in order to arrive at an approximate estimate of your heating cost. We then divide this total into nine equal consecutive monthly payments.

As oil deliveries are made to you during the season, you will receive with each delivery, just as you always have, a meter ticket showing the quantity of oil delivered and its cost. As heating costs vary from year to year, and as we can only estimate your fuel bill, you may be overpaid or you may owe us a small balance at the end of the season, any difference will be settled between us at that time.

If you would like more information on our Budget Plan, just complete the coupon below and mail today.
