Portrait of a POOR MAN

He has just paid for another load of fuel for his old-fashioned, wasteful furnace and he is feeling broke. What to do? With a new, scientifically designed, economical SMART'S Furnace he could save money by saving fuel, pay for his new furnace and enjoy himself. Be wise; see your SMART'S dealer now and get full particulars.

THE MIDNIGHTERS, a local Rock 'n Roll group, have been making a name for themselves this season at Innis Lake where they shared the spotlight with the also-local Modern Aires. In town they play frequent engagements at Club Midtown Fridays and this Saturday will be on the bill with the Modern Aires when the Saturday dancing season opens in the Rose Room with a special Fair Night dance. In the picture, left to right, are Don Seddon, Ross Hillier, John Zions, Corey Bydevaate and Bob Kerr.

WHAT COUNCIL DID

Bob Lane Awarded Contract For Garbage Disposal Plan

Bob Lane, George St. was awarded a tender for garbage collection and disposal at the Monday, Sept. 22nd council meeting. Decision to accept Mr. Lane's tender, delayed a week when a majority of members requested a more complete tender, the vote was unanimous to have Mr. Lane look after the complete garbage disposal at his tender price of $3.00 per capita yearly.

The system, slated to start October 15th, will replace the present one in which Mr. Lane collects garbage and the town uses its own equipment, and manpower for sanitary landfill. The contract will be in effect for three years and provides a three-yearly adjustment of population figures. There will be weekly collections from Oct. 1st to May 30th and twice weekly collection in the summer months. Extra charges will be levied on stores and industries for garbage above the amount which a normal house pick-up would have.

The town is advertising the bulldozer for sale.

Harold Rossiter, 74 Prince Charles Drive made one of several appearances to complain of the roads in his part of town, which he characterized as "a mess." He had been asking for action for two years, he said, and has got nothing but promises. Roads are graded and soon are full of potholes again, he said, and there is a continual dust nuisance.

Road chairman Walter Gray explained that town plans for surfacing have been delayed by rainy weather, and that paving contractors will be on the job as soon as weather permits.

Mayor Armstrong rose to the council's defence when he explained that council had done everything possible to put the roads in shape.

"You say nothing has been done. We've put calcium on a temporary measure. We've ordered surfacing when the roads are ready for it" said the mayor. "We appreciate the conditions you have had to put up with, but the roads will be fixed as fast as possible."

Cr. Ern Hyde expressed doubt that weather will allow surfacing this fall, and warned that pressure should not be put on the engineer for action, or the town would get a poor job.

Asking if any progress has been made towards mail delivery, Sid Hardie, East Georgetown Ratepayers president was told by the mayor that nothing further has been heard from the post office department since a recent survey which revealed that there are not enough points of call.

Cr. Fred Harrison said he understands that there must be a continuance of houses for delivery and that the new subdivision group on the highway will not be counted in a survey, as there is a large vacant space between them and the settled part of town.

Complaining of discoloured water, Cr. Hyde was told by the town engineer that flushing of hydrants by the fire department would help to overcome this, and the firemen will be asked to cooperate in the job.

Finally, we came to the Junior Farmer class, where three of Halton's four Junior Farmer groups had educational displays on such timely subjects as Farm Drainage, Soil Erosion, etc. While the displays are non-competitive, a championship award is made and this was won by the Milton Junior Institute.

Halton Junior Farmer and Junior Institute officers and members, the 4-H Club members, and their leaders, are indeed to be commended on the thought and effort which went into this project — Halton may well be proud of their Junior Farmer section, which also included the exhibits of the 4-H Potato club members and the Halton 4-H forage club.

Contracts for installing four storm sewers were awarded to Greenfield Sand and Stone, Ltd. of Ayr, for a total cost of $13,838. The firm submitted the lowest tender of 19 received the previous week.

December election machinery was set in motion when council discussed polling places and poll officials for the December 8th vote. At the mayor's suggestion a new 3-D subdivision was created in the eastern part of town, with Rexway Drive as boundary.

FARM NEWS

MILTON JUNIOR INSTITUTE HAS CHAMPION DISPLAY

The Scout Hall on the Milton fair grounds, which houses the Junior Farmer section, was a beehive of industry on Thursday evening of last week. "Bigger and better than ever" is a slogan which is getting a bit threadbare — nevertheless, on the spur of the moment, we can think of no other phrase which so aptly describes the Junior Farmer Section, considered by many outsiders as the best Junior Section at any fair in Ontario.

As in former years the Section is made up of four classes, namely Junior Farmers, Junior Institutes, 4-H Agricultural Clubs and finally, 4-H Homemaking Clubs. In the latter section there were no less than 20 Homemaking educational displays, in the 4-H Agricultural Clubs, 9 out of 10 clubs were represented, the Junior Institutes had a 100 per cent record with four educational displays each illustrating the united Nations, Unitarian Service Committee

Tenor Alan Crofoot Sings Here Saturday

"I have never seen the part handled with such insight and theatrical effect," exclaimed Dr. Edward Johnson when he saw Alan Crofoot in Puccini's "Tosca." One reason is probably because he holds a Master's degree in Psychology from the University of Toronto.

Mr. Crofoot appears in the third of the Canadian Concert series which is booked for Knox Church auditorium this Saturday. Admission is by membership only. Crofoot has lectured and conducted clinics in Psychology at the University of Toronto and at Michigan State University. While doing post-graduate studies at Ann Arbor, Michigan, the head of the Music Department tried to entice him into the music faculty. He was sorely tempted by the offer and still can't make up his mind whether to choose psychology or music.

Many attractive offers tempt to lure him away from academic studies. Success in many operatic productions in the Toronto Opera Festival Company and with the CBC radio and TV companies add to the complications.

Versatile Performer

Alan Crofoot possesses an unusually beautiful tenor voice with a wide range in both pitch, volume and colour. It is for this reason that he has been engaged for such a wide variety of roles. He has on many occasions taken heavy dramatic roles in regular operatic repertoire and last summer he took a leading part in "Guys and Dolls" with the Buffalo Melody Fair Company. He isn't giving away any secrets yet, but he has the chance of touring with the New York production of "Lil Abner."

Loves to Sing

The mark of the great singers seem to be their love of singing. They enjoy singing, they enjoy making music. This is a distinguishing mark in the case of Alan Crofoot. From the moment he commences an aria, a love song or a Straus Leeder, one feels that here
