BROWNIES, BANDSMEN, W. I. LADIES
SQUARE DANCERS VISIT HALTON MANOR

The young and the elderly had a most enjoyable visit together at Halton Manor when 30 young girls belonging to the 11th Pack of Brownies in Oakville, came to the Manor to visit the residents on Monday evening, Nov. 17th. These wholesome and courteous young girls were dressed in their brown uniforms and berets and looked very attractive while waiting for the remainder of the group to arrive, an advance party of Brownies formed a circle and played games and sang songs. When all the Brownies had arrived, a toast-stool was placed in the centre of the circle and a Brownie song was sung. An interesting and original song and skit called "Johnny Fedora" came next on the program. Donning country style bonnets and aprons several Brownies danced a square dance with other Brownies who masqueraded as boys wearing large cowboy hats. Donna Hunt presented a gift of doilies made by herself to Mrs. Smythe, representative of the residents. An individual gift of a sachet to the ladies and candy to men was then made to each resident. The song "Bless This House" was sung by the Brownies, and then with Mr. Viggers playing the bones the singing of some old-time ballads brought the program to a close. A delicious treat of ice cream, brought by the Brownies, cookies and cold drinks were served by Mrs. Allen, assisted by a number of these helpful young girls. Closing songs and a prayer by a Brownie brought the evening to a close. A speech of thanks by Mrs. Allen for all the kindnesses shown by these young girls was heartily applauded by their very appreciative audience. The girls were under the direction of their Brown Owl, Mrs. Rowe and their Tawny Owl, Mrs. Tyre, both of whom can be very proud of their Brownie pack for having given the residents such a fine evening.

The lively strains of square dance music and the rhythmic tapping of the feet of the dancers, filled the dining room of the Manor on Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, when 25 ladies and gentlemen belonging to the Four Corners Square Dance club of Port Credit came to entertain the residents. The dancers brought their record player and a wide selection of records with them. The important role of caller was expertly handled by Mr. Bert Everett who used the microphone to best advantage. The traditional square dances such as The Gay Gordons and The Virginia Reel were interspersed with lilted waltzes such as the St. Bernard Waltz and the Black Hawk Waltz, a gay polka, called the Happy Polka and a tuneful quadrille. A very pretty dance, On the Trail of the Lonesome Pine, was both danced and sung by the visitors. A group of musicians, Ron Brogna playing the accordion, Bill Duncan the melodeon and Mr. Norman Viggers the bones, augmented the music of the record player. Several of the Manor residents joined in the dancing. During the program a chocolate bar was presented to each resident by the visitors and at the close of the program cold drinks and cookies were served to all present. Speeches of thanks were made by Mrs. Allen and Miss Muriel Thompson. The visitors received a cordial invitation to come again at an early date to present another evening of these exhilarating dances.

Another very enjoyable "first night" was held at the Manor on Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, when forty members of the Georgetown Women's Institute came to the Manor to present their first program for the residents. The president, Mrs. V. Rawson, presided and the evening's entertainment was arranged by two co-conveners, Mrs. Harry Bailey and Mrs. Frank Pettit. After Mrs. Stanley Allen had welcomed the visitors, Mrs. Rawson expressed the pleasure felt by the members of her Institute in coming to the Manor for this, their first visit as a group. The first number on the program was a song led by Mr. George Glassford with Mrs. Earl McPherson at the piano. This was followed by a very humorous reading given by Mrs. Edna Gowland. The title was "Towzer shall be Tied Tonight" and it was a parody of "Curfew shall not Ring Tonight". Mrs. Albert Livingstone showed and explained a number of pretty coloured slides taken on a trip to Ottawa, Montreal, the province of Quebec and the states of Vermont and Massachusetts. The slides were followed by another humorous reading "Patchwork", by Mrs. Gowland, and a second song led by Mr. Glassford. A highlight of the evening came next when 92 year old Mr. Joe Martin, one of Georgetown's oldest citizens, danced a step dance, sang a song and then joined Norman Viggers in a duet on the bones. Several selections of country dance music presented by Mrs. Glassford playing the violin, Mrs. Earl McPherson the piano, Mr. McPherson the guitar and Mr. Glassford the drums, were enjoyed by all very much. After the Institute ladies and those taking part in the program had been thanked by Mrs. Allen and Miss Muriel Thompson for this splendid program, a delicious lunch of sandwiches, cookies and tea was served by the visitors. It is the hope of the residents that now that a "first night" has been accomplished a second night will soon be forthcoming.

With the kind permission of their commanding officer, Lt.-Col. A. Kemp, thirty five bandsmen of the Lorne Scots military band, accompanied by their very talented bandmaster, Lieut. Elgin Corlett, presented a stirring and memorable evening of band music at the Manor on Thursday evening, Nov. 20. The bandsmen presented a striking appearance in their scarlet and white tunics, Ancient Campbell kilts, and white spats. After O Canada and the Regimental March, John Peel, had been played, a program consisting of fourteen selections differing widely in character was given. Grand Opera was represented by Meyerbeer's Coronation March from "The Prophet" while popular march music featured the Steel King and Colonel Bogey Marches. The familiar hymn "Unto the Hills" was played beautifully. Popular music was represented by such selections as a medley of tunes from "My Fair Lady," in which Jack Bray played a very fine cornet solo and the popular songs Around the World

14 at Night School
Train as Speakers

The public speaking course offered in Georgetown this fall and winter as a feature of the evening studies available is now well on its way, and each evening some fourteen serious and occasionally nervous students respond in turn to the call "The next speaker, please."

The twelve lessons in better platform presentation is directed by Mrs. Ruth Goss, an associate instructor with C. W. Wright of Toronto, author of "How to Speak in Public."

It is an interesting course and covers a wide range of subjects. The instructor opens each session with a talk on some specific phase of speech and then call on each student for his verbal contribution to the evening.

This will be a brief prepared speech. When the speaker has concluded the talk is analyzed. The good features are pointed out and suggestions for improvement are made, thus the instruction is almost individual in character. A high degree of friendliness has been generated, and already a steady improvement in skill is evident.

Each evening is really an enjoyable experience because the accent is on an effort to help. Most of us would like to feel comfortable before a group. The fourteen class members are moving definitely in that direction.

Members of the class are: Joe Ross, R. R. 3; Robert Wey, Norval; William C. Mahony, 51 Prince Charles Drive; Ray McBroom, 14 Gibbons Place; Ralph Ursel, 15 Orchard Blvd.; Mrs. Win Wallace, 90 Prince Charles Dr.; Mrs. Caron Belleghem, 106 Prince Charles Dr.; Miss Marion Scarlott, 19 McNabb St.; Mrs. Margaret Young, Glen Williams; Clare Burns, R. R. 1; Mr. J. Ingram, Hornby; Donald Wilkes, Mackenzie Dr.; Kayh York, 25 Bainstow Ave.; Jas. Mayo, 67 Norton Cres.; James Costigan, 29 Market St.; Joe Pokluda, Glen Williams.

BRIDE, GROOM FETED BEFORE THEIR WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tost had several parties honouring them before their marriage in St. John's United Church on November 22.

Mrs. Jack Sunucks was hostess at a miscellaneous shower given by office girls of Provincial Paper, Ltd., for the bride, who is the former Marlene Smith. Mrs. Walter Bianchi also had a miscellaneous shower at her home at Norval and the bride's aunts, Mrs. May Noble and Mrs. Harold Petrie had a shower in Weston. Schoolmates of the bride had supper at the Jack O' Lantern and presented her with a smoker stand, and the Provincial office staff with a bridge set, cards and ash tray.

Don Herrington had a six party for the groom and Provincial paper employees presented him with an end table, coffee table and smoker.

and Seventy Six Trombones. After a speech of thanks by Miss Muriel Thompson, a lunch of tea and cookies was served to all present. The residents are unanimous in the hope that this wonderful band will come again at a very early date, for their smart appearance and wonderful music made a very favourable impression.

Rev. J. L. Graham conducted the afternoon service in the chapel of the Manor on Sunday, Nov. 23. Mr. Graham is the minister of St. Paul's United Church, in Milton. Mr. Graham read part of chapter 1 of St. Mark's Gospel as a background for his sermon which was of a missionary nature. Having explained that churches in many countries all over the world are holding special services in honour of missions this current Sunday, Mr. Graham emphasized that if Christian persons are missionaries in spirit they will be interested in persons of every race and colour, and also in individuals with their own personal problems.

FOR COUNCIL 1959

An honest interest in the welfare of my home town.

ELECTION MONDAY, DECEMBER 8th, 1958

RE-ELECT

ALF. SYKES
FOR COUNCIL
FOR A FOURTH TERM

To The Electors of Georgetown

ONCE AGAIN I place myself before you for the 1959 council and ask for your support at the polls on December 8th.

I cannot make a lot of promises for 1959, other than the following:

I would continue to do the best, as far as I am able, for an economical and careful progress for the town of Georgetown.

I do not feel that Georgetown at this time can afford a Town Manager at a salary (which already has been quoted) as anywhere from $12,000 to $20,000 per annum. Nor do I feel that we must go in the higher bracket ($10,000 to $12,000) for a competent town engineer.

I believe we must try to pay our way and issue debentures only when it is absolutely necessary and of a major nature.

I would go along wholeheartedly with any of the long-promised industries for Georgetown and I would oppose any further residential development by Delrex Developments until some of these promises bear fruit and the residential-industrial ratio has been greatly improved.

Trusting I may receive your careful consideration when you mark your ballot.

Season's greetings to all.

I remain, yours truly,

Ern Hyde

"JOHN ZORGE"

SAYS

SOME PROBLEMS FACING NEXT YEAR'S COUNCIL

1. Strict control of all expenditures
2. Industrial development
3. Advisability of introducing a ward system.
4. Federal grants for winter work

If elected I will apply the same energy, ability and integrity to solving these problems as I would to my own business
