CHIROPRACTORS & COLDS

Only those who have had actual experience with Chiropractic can appreciate its remarkable efficiency in handling colds. At the first signs of a cold, such as tickling, soreness, or dryness in the throat, sneezing or a running nose, you should take care of yourself right away. If neglected, colds of long duration may so weaken the body that complications such as bronchitis, sinusitis, pneumonia, and tuberculosis might develop.

In order to cure a cold satisfactorily, you must come to the aid of the delicate nose and throat which are congested, swollen and secreting mucous; the body must be aided in getting rid of accumulated toxins and wastes. Without question, the most effective way to accomplish this is restoration of normal nerve energy and supply to bring about definite internal reactions.

The human body, functioning normally, is capable of fighting off most of the diseases that beset and plague mankind. Restoring the body to its normal state in which the spine is in balance and the nervous system functions intact is the Chiropractor's method of "letting Nature take its course."

ALMA COLLEGE

PERRY DOBSON MUSIC CENTRE

We have had an active time here at Alma last week-end. The main cause of the excitement was the opening of the new Perry Dobson music centre. Dr. Dobson is the former principal of Alma College and a dear friend to all Alma College students, staff, and all others who have met him. The building was designed by the architect, Mr. George Morley, and has been carefully calculated to give the most effective sound-proofing possible. On the ground floor there are six studios, a record library, and a small waiting room. Upstairs are excellent living quarters for six teachers.

Saturday morning instead of going to Mac Hall for the usual announcements the students went for a preview of the new Centre. A plaque was unveiled by the president of the student's council in Dr. Dobson's honour. On Saturday night, guests and the members of the board attended the official opening when the Right Rev. Angus J. MacQueen, D.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada, dedicated the building. On Sunday it was open for public inspection and many took advantage of this opportunity of seeing the attractive Georgian structure.

Sunday morning all the girls went off to their respective churches as usual. The ones attending First United were invited out to homes of various members of the congregation for dinner and a tour around St. Thomas. I had a wonderful meal at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Foster. They have three children, 2 boys, 8 and 12 and a girl 15. After our delicious dinner and a fun filled discussion on swans, dogs, current events and profession of teaching (Mr. Foster is vice principal and teaches Chemistry and Physics at the senior collegiate.) Mr. Foster took my school friends and I for a drive down to Lake Erie. The two boys and I went about half a mile out on the ice where numerous people were skating, taking pictures and sight-seeing. From where I was standing I had an excellent view of the ice breaking farther out. It just sounded like the water going over Niagara Falls and huge chunks of ice would break off and float down the gorge with the current. Seeing all the ice breaking gave me the incentive to run for shore for fear that the piece I was standing on would be next. Mr. Foster brought us back to the school just in time for supper and we thanked her for a wonderful day and a delightful dinner.

Sunday evening we had a musical service of thanksgiving because of the opening of the new music building. The accompaniment for the hymns was provided by Miss Heath, the violin, Miss Harper at the organ and Mrs. Dobson at the piano. Miss Heath played a lovely solo number and Beth Bateman, who lives a few doors from me, sang "Payer." The choir favoured the evening with two selections, "Brother James Air" and "Lift Thine Eyes." Dr. Dobson said a few words about the place music has in our lives today. Following Chapel there is always a cocoa hour. Lower Mac, where I live, had the honour of serving. All the guests that attended the service had cocoa and cookies with us including Mrs. Foster.

Monday morning I was up bright and early and down for breakfast. The girls don't have to attend breakfast if they don't wish to and crackers and milk are left for them at the Dean's desk. At ten o'clock, play rehearsal was called for our forthcoming production of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. My morning was spent there.

Right after dinner the swim team chosen to represent Alma at the WASSA meet, being held at Western University, left for an afternoon of practising in London. Mrs. Kunkel who is head of swimming there was on hand to help us, as well as our regular coach.

Monday evening, March 23rd, the Dofasco male chorus, under the direction of Mr. E. Stewart, came to St. Thomas to sing for the people. The benefit performance was designed to complete the cost of the music building. Besides the Dofasco Chorus the programme included three numbers by Miss Heath, accompanied by Mr. David Brewster, our music director. I enjoyed the performance very much. The first group consisted of four European selections. The next, a religious group, included "Go Down Moses," "Ave Maria," and "The Lord's Prayer." The last was done in a West Indian style. It had a toe tapping rhythm, much repetition and the piano was prevalent throughout, ending the selection in a symphonic manner. That was the first time I had heard such a version of the Lord's Prayer and the rest of the audience agreed with me that it was wonderful.

After a short intermission, the choir sang a group of folk songs. The conductor said a few words of introduction before they began. "Folk music started way back with the cave men, when the men made peculiar sounds with sticks, etc., when their wives or mothers-in-law were being dragged off by tigers. The rhythm and words have been handed down from one generation to another

Georgetown Rink Appears On Kitchener Television

A Georgetown curling rink skippered by Ernie Curry and comprising Cliff Burt and Don and Bill Schenk finished out of the prizes but had the consolation of appearing on television Saturday, February 28th when they competed in the "anniversary curling bonspiel" at the Kitchener - Waterloo Granite Club, put on by station CKCO-TV, March 1st marked the station's fifth anniversary of telecasting for channel 13.

Cities and towns from all over Ontario were represented at the spiel and Georgetown's foursome were shown only briefly as the television cameras panned the early action. However a full hour and a half was devoted to the finals.

There were thirty two rinks in the competition which started at 8.30 Saturday morning and continued until 10.30 at night.

Over seventy interested parents attended the regular home and school association meeting at Wigginsworth school on Monday, March 2nd. Three speakers discussed the aspects peculiar to their field of education in relation to the child. Mr. Bornhold, senior inspector for public schools in Halton County represented the education of the child. Dr. A. Bull, medical officer for Halton County represented the medical aspect of the child and Rev. Morgan McFarlane, captain of Wigginsworth school and representing the Georgetown Ministerial Association took the religious education of the child. Kenneth Harrison was to have taken the musical education portion but due to illness, was unable to attend. Graham Farnell introduced the speakers and Mr. Kinrade expressed the appreciation of everyone present for the most interesting discussions. A short question period followed the speakers.

The social committee served luncheon to conclude the informative evening.

Women's Institute
of the Home Economics Service commented on the whole program and invited suggestions from Women's Institutes as to future courses which the service might offer.

Here's one for the road

The high school senior had aspirations to be an actor and was telling his father he had just landed a part in the annual school play. "I play the part of a man who has been married for twenty years," he explained. "Well, don't be discouraged, son," his father replied. "One of these days you'll get a speaking part." Maybe it's true some men are henpecked. You're not going to get me to commit myself! But one thing I do know is a quality reconconditioned used car when I see it. And right now I'm seeing dozens of them. So if you're in the market for a thoroughly overhauled late-model used car - see us now.
