Retarded Children Work Explained to Association

At their recent monthly meeting the Chapel Street Home and School had as their guests, three people from the Milton & District Association for Retarded Children. Mrs. Ernest-Ball, a director of the association, introduced Mrs. G. Jeffares, the principal of the Sunshine School in Milton. She spoke about the school in Milton and the benefits children get from it. Mrs. Jeffares explained that she had nine pupils from the Acton and Milton area, all of these children had made wonderful progress, both socially and academically.

She told the parents what a sad and frustrating thing it is for a child who is retarded to be in normal school competing with other children, "how it affects not only the child, but the whole family." Mrs. Jeffares said her experiences with these children and their families had proved such a child is happier to be with children of his or her own mental age. A story was told of a retarded child who had been in public school and had been most unhappy. This had affected the whole family, and eventually the child's teacher had explained to the mother that she could do no more for the child and suggested a visit to the family doctor. After this visit to her doctor, having had her fears confirmed, the mother enrolled her child at school. Since then, the family has settled down, the child is attending school daily and is making wonderful progress.

Mrs. Jeffares then introduced Mr. Addison of Milton who showed a film called "Tuesday's Child." This film showed the problems of a retarded child, the heartache of the family and how by the right kind of teaching, these problems can be faced and overcome, to the benefit of the family, and most important, to the child.

After the film Mr. Addison spoke of finances, he explained the Dept. of Education gives a grant monthly for each child. This grant just about covers both teachers' salaries in Milton. The balance has to come from the public. The association has wonderful support from municipal grants, Institutes, Lodges and Clubs.

It was explained that in the average community 30 out of 1000 children are estimated to be retarded in some degree, about one third of these children cannot profit from ordinary schooling but require special assistance. Each child has his or her own capabilities and must be taught and coached singly.

The Ont. Association for Retarded Children (OARC) now has seventy schools. Until five years ago there were no educational facilities for the retarded children. The OARC estimates that there are about 8500 mentally retarded children of school age in Ontario, so far the schools are able to care for only 1460, but they are growing fast.

Mr. Addison told the parents that he felt the time would soon be here for the Association to consider building a new school with perhaps a sheltered workshop where the older child could be helped to develop skills to help him in later life. It was suggested that perhaps a local pilot committee be set up in Georgetown to study where the best location would be in North Halton for such a school.

He ended by saying: "The OARC has shown that mentally retarded children in their schools are indeed most happy children, children who can be loved, and who can live in return. They have shown that these children can learn up to a point and can live happy and useful lives."

LIMEHOUSE

MAORI MISSIONARIES HAVE INTERESTING STORY

Visitors recently included: Mrs. Laura Duffield of Acton with the Pattersons for the weekend.

Mrs. D. S. McDonald of Brampton with the Gisbys.
Miss Glenda Quinton of Toronto with the Ted Browns.

The Easter Thankoffering meeting of Limehouse Presbyterian Church was held in the church on Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ian Crawford of Galt as the guest speakers. Having been a nurse Mrs. Crawford had been among Indians in northern Saskatchewan and later as a student missionary had worked in the Bahamas, and she told briefly of that. After showing an interesting film on their trip by land and water to New Zealand to mission work among the Maori tribes, Mr. Crawford gave an enlightening talk on their work and the customs of the natives there.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. A. Benton and thanked by Mrs. E. Sanford. Accompanied by Mrs. Roughley, Mrs. Kidney entertained with vocal solos and Mr. Crawford also obliged with a piano number. Mrs. Crichton led in prayer and Mrs. Kirkpatrick read Scripture. Rev. A. C. Alder pronounced the Benediction at the close. A group of ladies then served refreshments.

Mr. T. H. Price spent a week with relatives in the Jarvis district recently.

Family Left Homeless

As Fire Guts Farm Home

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Snow and their three children were left homeless on Good Friday when their farm home was completely gutted by fire in spite of valiant efforts of both Erin and Acton Fire Departments.

Sitting at the dinner table, the Snow family, accompanied by Miss Janie Given, an aunt, heard the crackle of flames and immediately realized the roof had caught fire. They formed a bucket brigade while calls were being put in to the fire departments.

Their efforts soon proved in vain. With the help of neighbors, however, the family managed to carry out some furniture from the main floor.

Erin Fire Department had arrived and were pouring water on the blaze by the time the Acton firemen arrived and for a time it appeared as though the fire was coming under control. Then a nearby pond from which firemen were pumping water ran dry.

Highjacking it for a stream a short distance away firemen were hampered by parked cars and drifting snow and soon the entire building was entombed in the blaze.

Although the frame home was completely gutted, firemen managed to prevent flames from spreading to a nearby milkhouse, garage and barn.

The Snow family were offered shelter by neighbors living nearby.
