Frank Nicholson New Clerk at Post Office

The increasing volume of mail handled daily by the local office, which recently merited home delivery service, has necessitated an increase in the inside staff.

Hired as a postal clerk some weeks ago was Frank Nicholson of 81 Norton Cres., Georgetown resident for three years with two years previous post office experience in Toronto. A native of that city he was employed with A&P supermarkets there before moving to town. Frank served overseas with the Royal Artillery from 1941 to '46 and is a Mason with Thornhill Kroy lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson and their two daughters Eleanor, 10, and Lorna, 6, make their home at 81 Norton Crescent.

HEAT SOARS, SCORES DIP LADY BOWLERS OPEN SEASON

Soaring temperatures were contrasted by dipping scores when the ladies afternoon bowling league was 2nd high in that department.

launched their 1959-60 season at the Lucky Strike Bowling Club. The Lucky Strikes and the Panty Raiders jettied to the front with 7 point sweeps despite sub-normal scores resulting from the summer layoff and Phyllis York showed no effect from the wilting heat bowling an enviable 191 average for the three games.

She also took high single with a 13 and a high triple of 573. Dorrie Cox and Jean Stamp tied for the second high single spot with 208 and Jean Roshier's 549 triple

New Hydro Substation Will Harmonize with Housing

First of its kind in Georgetown, a bungalow type substation will be built by Georgetown Hydro-Electric Commission on Mountainview Rd., opposite Sinclair Avenue. This new substation will serve the eastern part of Georgetown and the new Delrex subdivision. Chairman E. W. Binkley of Georgetown Hydro said that work will start immediately on construction of the new substation. It is scheduled to be completed and in service in December, 1959.

The bungalow type substation is quite unique in its physical features. The exterior resembles an attractive dwelling and it is designed to harmonize with its surroundings in a residential area. The substation is so well disguised with its homelike exterior that people often mistake it for a house. Mr. Binkley said in some communities that have these stations there have actually been enquiries from interested persons about renting or purchasing that "nice looking home."

The bungalow substation in Georgetown will start of brick construction with stone trim and will have a single attached garage. The building will be constructed by Rexwill Construction Limited, Georgetown contractors, and the electrical equipment will be installed by Harlock - Schultz Electric Limited of Guelph, electrical contractors. A 5,000 KVA transformer will be installed in the new station.

Mr. Binkley said the total cost of the building and the electrical equipment would be approximately $70,000. This new station is being constructed at this time to improve electric power service for the eastern part of Georgetown.

Highlights of Prize List Make For Fine Fair Here Next Week

HALL EXHIBIT, COUNTRY MUSIC SHOW, HORSE RACES, MIDWAY, LIVESTOCK

An exceptionally fine program is lined up for Georgetown's 113th annual fall fair on Friday and Saturday next week. The directors are putting the final touches on the show, and a meeting this week made sure everything was in readiness for the big event.

The hall exhibit will no doubt be another outstanding attraction, with the school work being received on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 22, and the baking, flowers, vegetable, ladies work, etc. on Friday morning. Entry forms and tags may be received from the secretary prior to this in order to speed up entries.

Something new is being tried this year, in the way of a "Country Music Show" which will be held in front of the grandstand on Friday evening. A family admission of $1.00 per car is being charged. The midway will also be in full swing and the hall will as usual be open for a preview, with a 25c admission fee.

Saturday, October 2 is of course the big day of the fair, when exhibitors will bring their prize animals to the show. There will also be horse races (and heavy) horse show. The Georgetown Girls Pipe Band will provide music for the occasion, and Bernard's midway will have plenty of rides for the younger set.

The commercial calf and showmanship competition will again interest the junior farmers, and of Commerce and Barber's Gift Shop will be awarded to the winners in two age groups. The Royal Bank tray and T. Eaton Co. Silverware will go to the prizewinning cattle in the open classes.

A big tent will house the poultry lawn show which will bring together many of Ontario's finest show birds.

So mark your calendar, and do not miss one of Ontario's better fall fairs next week.

Wilfrid Bird is president of this fine organization, the Esquering Agricultural Society, and he and his officers extend a very warm welcome to all our old and many new citizens.

Trees are Available For Reforestation

There is still time to order trees for your windbreak or reforestation project, advises W. M. Curry, of Orangeville, chairman of the reforestation advisory Board of the Credit Valley Conservation Authority. He said that trees were available through the Dept. of Lands and Forest upon application to the zone forester, Peel and Dufferin are served by the forester at Maple, Halton and Wellington through Hespeler. Tree planting assistance is offered by the Authority, and details may be had from Mr. Curry or from Field Officer Ted Sutter at the Authority's Headquarters at Terra Cotta.

Since the official Credit Valley Report was published by the Dept. of Planning and Development in 1956, much has been done by the Authority to improve watersheds woodlots, and more than a quarter of a million forest trees have been planted with the Authority's assistance.

The 1956 survey, conducted by F. G. Jackson, B.Sc.F., indicated that 81.0 per cent of the woodland in the watershed was uneven-aged, and therefore might readily become a source of continuous revenue to the owner. However, he warned, this continuous production will not last long unless there is an improvement in the natural regeneration in the woodlots. Over half of the woodlots showed virtually no regeneration which could be classed as "good" or "excellent." One obvious reason for this condition, he said, is the fact that approximately half the woodlots are grazed.

He strongly urged reforestation, wherever possible, and pointed out that in addition to obvious commercial benefits to farmers and other land owners, that reforestation helped protect water supplies by deterring evaporation. Erosion control was another benefit.

Tree planting is one of the most worthy projects that any landowner can undertake. Not only is he investing in the future value of his own property, but he is also making a worthwhile contribution to the country as a whole.

Collier Team Leading In Horseshoe League

Now in its fifth week, the Georgetown Horseshoe Club, is experiencing some of the most overwhelming response ever to greet a new local sports organization.

Carman Copland, who did the found work, figuratively in establishing the league, and literally in preparing the pits on Mountainview, solved the early darkness problem, which threatened to terminate the season prematurely, by installing floodlights enabling the teams to play out their schedule.

Since the entries have not yet selected names for themselves each team is represented by its captain in the standings which are as follows.

September 16th
Team	W	L. Pts.

"I can't recall needing a telephone repair in 52 years!"

SAYS DR. NEIL SMITH, D.D.S., OF CHATHAM, ONT.

Dr. Smith, a graduate in dental surgery of the University of Toronto, was Commanding Officer of the Chatham Regiment in World War I and has represented Canada in shooting competitions at Bales.

"Since 1906, I've had different phones as they developed better and better ones -- and not once do I remember calling a repairman!"

Many other long-time users have to think hard to remember when they last had to have their telephone fixed.

When you stop to consider the pleasure and convenience you enjoy with never an extra repair expense, you may well agree that the value you get for your telephone dollar is truly unique.

Heslop Presents Builders' Views to Planning Minister

Georgetown developer Rex W. Heslop presented views of Canadian home builders when he conferred last Wednesday with Ontario Minister of Planning and Development W. M. Nickle and members of his department.

Vice president of the National Home Builders Association, Mr. Heslop led a delegation to the Minister of Planning & Development to present resolutions passed by the Ontario Regional Housing Conference held earlier this year at Ottawa. With the Minister they met community planning officials of his department who concurred with the home builders that a national building code would improve the standard of community planning and subdivision development if municipalities across the country would adopt it.

Mr. Heslop pointed out to the minister that adoption of the National Building Code would reduce construction costs. "Present codes are most onerous and tend to require over-design of structural members," he said. "At the same time those municipalities which have inferior codes would improve their standard of construction as it relates to structural safety, health and fire hazards."

The Urban Development Institute, a part of the National Home Builders Association, are now preparing a brief for the Minister which will detail the points raised by Mr. Heslop and the deputations. The minister reiterated that his department was anxious to have the views of the builders and developers.

Terra Cotta Sculptor Night School Teacher

An interesting course offered at the night school this year will be wood carving and clay modelling. Instruction will cover elementary wood carving including small figures and possibly trays and bowls. Some modelling in clay may be done if desired by the class. The teacher will be Miss Rebecca Sisler who makes her home at Terra Cotta. Miss Sisler attended the Ontario College of Art, the Danish Academy of Fine Arts, Copenhagen, and taught for two years at the John Madsen Folk School, Unionville. She is now secretary of the Sculptors Society of Canada and has recently been commissioned by the Art Gallery of Toronto under the auspices of the Canada Council, to do a piece of sculpture for the Gallery. She works in wood, stone and terra cotta. One of her stone carvings was displayed at the CNE Art Gallery last year.

Correction

Ballroom dancing begins on Thursday, October 22nd, and not on Tuesday, October 20th, as was reported in last week's Herald. Square dancing will begin on its usual Tuesday night, October 20th.

BAHA'I PICNIC

On Sunday, Sept. 20 the Bahai's of Georgetown were hosts at a picnic in Georgetown park. Guests included Bahai's and friends from Hamilton, Burlington, Saltfleet, Dundas, Mount Forest, Inglewood, and Scarboro.
