Paul Jolliffe New Director Halton Children's Aid

S. G. Childs, president of the Children's Aid Society of the County of Halton, has announced the appointments, effective March 1, of J. Paul Jolliffe, as director, and G. F. Thompson as executive assistant to the director.

Both officials are residents of Milton. Mr. Thompson has served as director of the Society since March of 1929, when he was appointed to serve Peel and Halton counties. In 1944, he became full time director for the county of Halton, when separate societies were organized.

A native of Halton county, Mr. Thompson spent four years in the first world war and has been active in community and county work, serving as councillor and mayor of Milton for several years. He has also been chairman of the Halton Advisory Board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, since 1954.

Mr. Jolliffe, who will succeed Mr. Thompson as director, has had considerable experience in the welfare field. A graduate of the University of Western Ontario, he obtained his degree of Master of Social Work at the University of Toronto, and served with the ICNVR, served with the Ontario and later the Manitoba Societies for Crippled Children; acted as a case worker for the Big Brother Movement and worked on the Community Chest of Greater Toronto. More recently he has served as director of the Children's Aid Society of Guelph and Wellington, and has also been associated with the Peel County Family Welfare and Children's Services Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Jolliffe and their four children make their homes on Parkway Drive, Milton.

LEGION NOTES

By Les Clark

This week celebrates the beginning of the fifteenth year of this column written by ourselves. We were asked recently how it started and how long it has been going, so we'll try to give anyone interested an outline of how it came about.

During the war, while we were away from the Herald, working for "King George's Air Works", the linotype operator in our stead was a first war veteran, Joe Boley, who was keenly interested in Legion affairs, and he originated the idea of writing a column concerning Legion affairs locally. He carried on with his column until he left town to work for the Charters Publishing Co. and in November of 1945, when we returned to the Herald, to our old job, it was only natural that we started writing "Notes." At times, at first, coverage was a bit spotty, as the branch was in a stage of tremendous expansion and change, and it was a difficult task to keep a reasonably interesting flow of news. However, as we became more interested and more closely connected with Legion work, and through the help and active cooperation of three successive presidents, the late Arnold Earl, Jim Murphy, and Dave Bowman, we were able to create a column, that we hope has been of interest to at least some of the Herald readers. In fact, we recall many occasions when our predecessor, Dave, would give us a call to come over to his Main Street place of business, to see some letters or correspondence that he thought we could include in the week's writings. And we could say at this point that we never once had any officer try to get us to run an item for self interest, or in any way seeking credit for any project. This in itself, is tribute to the men who have held office in the branch. And by the same token we have never known of anyone denying or attempting to deny Legion Notes the right of criticism.

Naturally in 1950, when we became president, it became a great deal more difficult to try and write an objective, impersonal column, and certainly we found it much easier to write a column, when we were succeeded in January, 1955, by Harvey Garvin. Certainly, by the same token we had a great deal bigger source of Legion information to draw from. Since that time we have had the help and steadily cooperation of the various executives, something for which the column has been grateful. The source of news at present, of course is a large one, as for a number of years we have been District B public relations officer, and a member of the Provincial Public Relations committee. This committee, oddly enough, is headed by another employee of the Thomson Newspapers, Len Taylor, general manager of the Belleville Expediter.

All the foregoing is just to give any new reader an idea of how the column came about — and just as a last remark might we say that we are always happy to run anything you think might be of interest to our readers — as long as its printable, (and the Herald has been fairly broad minded about that, as a rule). There is only one real stipulation about the news contained, and that is that it is NOT news before it happens, it's advertising, so we do not like to be asked to run notices about coming events in this column if they are of a money making nature.

Zone bowling takes place in Oakville on January 23rd, with Leona Cross taking after arrangements, and three teams eligible to go, from Branch 120. — Merle Reid (old Dead Eye from the Glen) tells us that shooting has resumed with regular practices Mondays in the armouries, and some fair shots coming. He urged all the "back sliders" to get out there 'shoot in' — we understand Tommy Warner, our branch bridge expert is organizing an expedition to repel any branches who may feel inclined to win the zone bridge tournament being held in the auditorium here soon. — Gob Collier has managed to get convenors for all the coming events, and we trust that the branch will win most of the ones they enter.

This year our election of officers will be held on Sunday, January 23rd, at 2:00 p.m. The initiation for any members who have yet to be initiated, will take place at 1:30 before the election starts. Members must be initiated to vote.

This year very little interest has been shown and it is hoped that there will be a great deal more shown before that date. Each member is part of a big business locally, and should be vitally interested in how it is run and who runs it.

The present executive have worked very well together, from our observations, and have attempted to direct things in the best interests of all. Naturally, no group can be 100 per cent
