COUNTRY CASUAL

by Tracy Adrian

Here's a smart pull-over shirt that is perfect for week ends in the country or for the spring vacations.

Cut on elastic lines that help tip the hip, the shirt features easy roll-up sleeves and a one button closing. It can be worn with shorts or slacks for active sports, or with its own color blended skirt for spectators.

GOLDEN TOUCHES

by Tracy Adrian

Golden touches were never more important than they are this season when necklines have greater simplicity and sleeves are shorter.

Here is a textured gold set that included a tailored neckline, earrings and pin. Shown on a daytime dress with a low, rounded neckline, the jewels would be equally appropriate with a suit.

FAIR BOARD DOINGS

Ontario Agricultural Societies 60th Convention in Toronto

Those attending the 60th annual convention of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies will long remember this convention as the one of the big stars.

Delegates were forced to remain an extra day in the city, and those who did try to venture to their homes spent many hours on the roads or waiting for trains to leave the city. Local delegates returning by train did not arrive home until 4:00 a.m. as the regular 10:30 train did not leave Toronto until 3:00 in the morning.

The convention was the largest on record with over 800 being registered. Many interesting discussions on fair work, including as well as some very interesting talks by some prominent fair leaders.

A. A. L. Superintendent of fall fairs in giving his report to the convention said that of the 225 societies on record, 245 sponsored fairs in 1958. There are eight A class fairs, thirty nine B fairs, and 198 C fairs. Eight societies celebrated their centenary in 1958.

R. S. Lee, Rodney, retiring president presided at the convention and W. J. Hunter of Guelph will head the association for the coming year.

George Edwards of Englehart is first vice president, Y. Lasky secretary and M. H. Cochran, Almonte, treasurer.

The convention held in the Crystal Ballroom the King Edward Sheraton Hotel, talked of many things from night horse racing, bread shows, grain competitions, liability insurance, Dominion government grants to Class C fairs, and various kinds of advertising.

A new project for the association was designed to encourage fair boards to do a better job in producing attractive prize lists. Cash prizes were offered for the best list in three classifications. For the C class fairs Acton fair list won 2nd prize, with Thorold first and Harrow and Tara third and fourth.

The Women's Section held their convention at the same time, and the Georgetown Women's president, Mrs. George Ironside, as the secretary of the Ontario Association.

Other officers elected included Mrs. Murray Young, Cochrane, president; Mrs. Harry Spearling, Stoney, vice president; Mrs. Alex McKinney, Brampton was in charge of the banquets; Mrs. A. Wilton, Galt, reported on food and Mrs. J. H. Fisher, London, on ceramics and Mrs. Gordon Neill, Mono Road on leather.

Highlight of the convention was the presentation of several gifts to Mrs. O. Wickware who retired from the fair branch of the Dept. of Agriculture, after 38 years service. They included an agricultural diploma, awarded to persons who have given meritorious service to agriculture over a period of 25 years.

The convention was wound up with a banquet at which Rev. J. Burton Thomas, rector of Bishop Cronyn Anglican church, London was after dinner speaker, and who chose for his address the subject, "Down in the Cornfields." An hour's program of entertainment followed.

Local delegates attending the convention were Mr. and Mrs. George Ironside, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Bird, Robert Cunningham, Cam Sinclair and Garfield McGilvray.

Feature of Sportsmen Show Is International Dog Show

Some of the most outstanding and prized dogs in North America will be seen at three international all breed dog shows to be held in conjunction with the 1958 Canadian National Sportsmen's Show in the Coliseum, Toronto from March 11 to 19. It has just been announced by Loyal M. Kelly, general manager.

The dog shows will be a feature attraction at 'North America's finest springtime exhibition' on March 16th to 19th. In addition for the first time at any Sportsmen's Show in Canada, retriever field trials will be held each evening during the four days of the dog show.

The training ring of the Horse Pavilion of the Coliseum will be the setting for the retriever field trials and it will be so arranged as to simulate an outdoor scene with ponds, clumps of bushes and fences.

Arrangements for the dog shows which are expected to be the largest of their kind ever held in Canada, are under the supervision of a committee of which H. V. P. Lewis, Toronto, is chairman.

It is expected that approximately 1,000 entries will be received for the three shows from all parts of Canada and the United States.

Among the judges who will select the prize winning entries in the dog show will be William J. Burgess, Thompsonville, Conn., George P. Davies, Gormley, John Devlin, of Thornhill, and Mrs. W. C. Edmiston, Halton, Nebraska, Mrs. Anna M. Gargett, St. Clair Shores, Mich., Walter Conrad, Dundas, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Marsh, Ipswich, Mass., Mrs. Jesse Mason, Pine Orchard, Conn., William Melberment, Toronto, Dr. Frank Porter Miller, Riverside, Cal., Louis A. Oberly, Chagrin Falls, Ohio, Alva Rosenberg, New York City, Mrs. Mary Southcott, R. R. 3, Milton, and Cliff Tushingham, Toronto.

Cite New Georgetowner For Hospital Response

A new Georgetowner, D. C. Wilkes of 7 Mackenzie Drive has been cited by Hospital Canvasers as an ideal example of a new citizen responding to his civic obligations.

Shortly after Mr. Wilkes arrived in the subdivision he was approached by an enthusiastic booster for the hospital.

The story of the need was so forcibly told and the concern so high that Mr. Wilkes on the spot volunteered to give five dollars per month for 7 months.

This gratifying response on the part of a new resident who had already had hospital fund obligations elsewhere, highlights the manner in which the hospital need is being met all down the line.

Others have heard of Mr. Wilkes' generosity and have notified other canvasers that they will respond in an equally generous fashion when they are called on.

Advances and general canvassers are already making their rounds and soon the general solicitation will begin. When this is concluded the level of citizenship for which localities are known will again have asserted itself.

MRS. McLEAN FORMER 6th LINE RESIDENT

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. A. McLean of Acton whose wife, the former Alice Maud Thompson passed away last week. Before their marriage, fifty years ago, they both resided on the 6th line and were both well known in this district.

The Afternoon Auxiliary of the WMS met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Black. The worship service was conducted by the president Miss Hillis, who also started a bible study on the book of Acts. Mrs. Shortall read an article on Stewardship and Mrs. Black read the Chapter of the Study Book on Africa, dealing with land, law, and finance.

The World Day of Prayer service was announced for Friday at 3 p.m. in the church and the members were urged to make this known among all the women in the district.

Mrs. J. A. Whitliss has been visiting her daughter in Niagara Falls for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Himes left on Saturday for Flint, Mich. where they will visit with relatives there for a week.
