Distribute Brochure of This Year's OAC Grads

It is estimated that more than 80 per cent of the current crop of graduates at the Ontario Agricultural College have already obtained employment in such fields as Agricultural Industry, the Civil Service, or Teaching, although graduation is two months away. Many of the students are taking post graduate courses in other universities in Canada, United States and Britain.

In order to assist employers to choose the graduate most suitable to their organization, the Guelph Branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, has prepared a brochure, edited by Dr. R. J. Hilton of the OAC Horticulture Dept., which contains the photographs, home addresses, special training and extra curricular activities of the 60 prospective candidates. This brochure is being distributed to some 50 Agencies and employers in business and industry throughout the province.

The publication of such information is a new venture in the province, and the AIC plans to make it an annual project.

Both students and employers should benefit by this type of information being available.

Persons or firms wishing to have a copy of this brochure may have one free of charge by writing Prof. W. T. Ewen, at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.
