Hurren Champ Exhibitor At Halton Hay Show

J. A. P.
This year's champion exhibit at the Halton Hay Show and Seed Display Day was shown by Russ Hurren, Campbellville. The Hay Show and Seed Display Day is a project of the Halton Soil and Crop Improvement Association, and the programme was designed to point up the use of quality seed and management of forage crops. The Hurren entry was a bale of hay that had been cured by the use of a hay conditioner. Russ Hurren was awarded the Hurren's Farm Seeds Trophy, by Joe Wheatley, representative of the firm.
Last year's champion exhibit, Alfred Ford, Milton, exhibited the Reserve champion exhibit this year.
There were 3 classes in the Hay Show, involving first, cut hay, first cut legumes, second cut hay, chopped hay, and conditioned hay.
Dr. J. B. Stone, of the Animal Husbandry Department, Ontario Agricultural College, led a discussion on quality hay from analysis of Dr. Stone's reports. He stressed the advantages of early cutting. Using early cutting, Dr. Stone gave figures to show the increased total digestible nutrients, and increased palatability of early cut hay. Since cutting feed costs is one of the dairyman's biggest problems, early cutting can avoid in raising production per cow in the herd. Other comparisons included grass vs. legumes, and the effects of rain on hay quality.
Farm Safety was stressed at the meeting, with a demonstration on tractor operation by Mr. Bill Ridgeway, assistant safety specialist for Ontario and Mr. Art Campbell, Extension Branch Ontario Department of Agriculture.
Mr. Campbell and Mr. Ridgeway by the use of a model tractor and manure spreader demonstrated the effects of improper hitching, and adjustment on the farm tractor. Care in the use of power take off machinery was also emphasized.
During the afternoon the audience had an opportunity to spot safety hazards that were placed at different locations in the hall. Jay McEay, Georgetown R. R. 2, was awarded a safety exhibition lamp, for locating the largest number of safety hazards.
Another feature of the programme was a forage and weed identification contest. In this the audience had an opportunity to identify various forage crops and weeds. Prizes were awarded by the Halton Co-operative Supplies. Winners in the competition were Sam Hartrop, Milton R. R. 2, and Muriel Watson, Burlington R. R. 1. 3rd Alfred Ford, Milton R. R. 4.
The results of the Hay Show were as follows:
Class 1. Mixed Hay - First cut - Alfred Ford, Milton R. R. 4, Sam Pinner, Campbellville, R. R. 3, M. T. Watson and Son, Burlington, R. R. 1; Roy Elliott, Milton R. R. 6; Erwin Gounby, Burlington R. R. 1; Sam Hartrop, Milton, R. R. 2; J. C. Bell & Son, Burlington R. R. 1.
Class 2. Legume Hay - First cut - J. C. Bell & Son, Burlington, Muriel T. Watson & Son, Burlington, Alfred Ford, Milton, R. R. 4; Roy Elliott, Milton R. R. 6; Jas. McKay, Georgetown R. R. 2; George Headhead, Milton R. R. 2; Norman Bird, Georgetown.
Class 4. Chopped Hay - Stan May, Burnby.
Class 5. Conditioned Hay - J. C. Bell & Son, Burlington, Gordon Smith, Burlington, R. R. 1, Fred Nurse, Georgetown R. R. 2.

Anglers, Hunters Seek Deer Hunting Season

"Oh deer, what can the matter be" could well have been the theme song at county council in Milton last week. Mr. Fred Spires of the Georgetown Anglers and Hunters Association made an eloquent plea for a deer hunting season this year in Halton.
However, at the Agriculture and Reforestation committee previously, an equally eloquent plea, opposing an open season, was made by Mr. R. K. Austin of Nassagaweya.
Mr. Spires, in his pro-deer hunting speech lauded the conduct of the hunters in the past open season in 1956. He said only two minor objections had been registered by farmers. "A recent survey," he said, "showed a deer population in southern Ontario of fifty thousand, twice as many as deer available and a fair portion of them are in Halton." He also pointed out the damage done by wood lots by deer to the danger to cats on highways and lastly appealed to the county council to consider the economic benefit of a hunting season.
The greatest objection, with a high deer population, is the trouble with ticks, which are attracted to the deer. These ticks are carried by the hunters and the wolves. He concluded by assuring council of the request was granted, the hunters would conduct themselves as in the past.
According to Mr. R. K. Austin, the opposition to an open season, starts in the fall of 1959, a heavy concentration of hunters in a small area of land, and the fact that deer are hunted in the woods. He concluded by assuring council of the request was granted, the hunters would conduct themselves as in the past.

Lutherans Plan Weekly Services in Brampton

Those of the Lutheran Faith living in and around Georgetown are receiving the announcement with a great deal of satisfaction that the first English Lutheran service will be conducted in the Orange Lodge Hall on Queen Street East in Brampton on Sunday, March 27 at 11 a.m. According to the announcement made by the Board Missionary, Rev. A. J. Daters, who has lived in Brampton for only one month, all preparations have been completed for this first and historic service.
The Rev. N. A. Berner of Kitchener assistant to the president of the Canada Synod, will be the guest speaker. Donations from the Mission Committee from friends and from those who will become part of the new congregation have assured a very auspicious start of that which will become a strong and permanent congregation.
The organization of a congregation in Brampton is part of a 24 million dollar church expansion program of the United Lutheran Church in America, of which amount $200,000 will be available for church construction in Ontario and $400,000 to $700,000 will be available as grants to Ontario missions. This congregation will be one of fifty-five congregations to be organized in Canada and United States during 1960.

Seek Million Dollars for St. Andrew's College

In a move designed to avert overcrowding of facilities and lack of scholarship endowment, St. Andrew's college is preparing to launch an appeal to raise $1,000,000 in capital funds, the board of governors announced this week. Funds will be used for building expansion and to strengthen the college's student aid program.
J. K. Macdonald, president of the Confederation Life Association has been named acting chairman of the April appeal. St. Andrew's alumnus, Graham F. Towers, of Ottawa is serving as honorary treasurer.
Donald M. Hood is the chairman of the Brampton committee, heading up the canvass of school old boys in Georgetown, Kleinburg, Hornby, Orangeville, Streetsville, Thistleton, Woodbridge.
"As an independent school for boys, specifically dedicated to preparing able students for university studies, St. Andrew's makes a valuable contribution to the development of our youth," Mr. Macdonald said. "The aim is not only to give boys sound academic training but to instill honest desire for knowledge, good study habits and self discipline so that when they go on to university they are equal to the challenge of higher education. In pursuit of these goals, St. Andrew's has the advantage of being primarily a residential school, able to regulate the day-to-day environment in which students live and learn. Its programs are demanding, but effective."
At present 258 boys, of whom 225 are boarders, are using facilities originally designed for 180. The college makes available approximately $22,000 in scholarships and bursaries each year to students in need of financial aid. Over $12,000 is taken directly from operating income and is urgently needed for operation, including the maintenance of a high level of teaching salaries. The remainder is donated annually by school supporters.
"The problems created by inadequate facilities and school subsidized scholarships have been increasing each year and have reached the point where they are critical," Mr. Macdonald explained. "Immediate action is necessary to resolve them. That is the purpose of the appeal and the proposed development program."
Building plans, which include two new structures, a classroom auditorium and a great hall -- and improvements to existing facilities, are designed to eliminate present overcrowding and allow an increase of 42 students in future enrolments. Estimated cost is $900,000.

COMPARE WHAT YOU GET with WHAT YOU PAY

...and you'll choose a CASE. 420 Backhoe-Loader

You want a rugged, fast-cycling trenching unit... and you get it in the Case 420 industrial backhoe. With the "420", you also get torque-converter drive, which does the push-pull and function of the loader unit... instantly, automatically... maintains full hydraulic backhoe power, even under heavy load. Result — the Case 420 handles backfill and clean-up work faster than any other rig in its class. With up to 12,000 lbs. pull, it can also dig through deep mud... or up steep grades that would stall ordinary wheel machines.

Low down payment or your old rig in trade — with up to 2 years to pay
