

Local Foursome First To Play New Course

Three thousand and forty yards of challenging championship fairways and immense carpet-like greens, some as vast as 8,000 square feet, put smiles on the faces of some 140 golfers who swarmed over scenic Georgetown Golf and Country Club on the weekend.

The club opened 9 holes Saturday after a number of postponements because of delays resulting from the wet weather, and the remaining 9 holes are slated for completion next season.

The first local party to drive off the first tee and unofficially open the course was made up of Ted Worrell, Bud Gibb, Pete Brackin and Pete Simpson. That was at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. My wife and I were among the first to play Sunday. The course had been played and praised by the golfers from Toronto, Orangeville and just about every point within driving distance.

The nucleus of the lavish layout is a modern, well-equipped clubhouse which bears little resemblance to the stark brick farmhouse which is its core. The entire structure has been stuccoed a striking white with black shutter doors.

A dining room constructed as a west wing is up to date and well lighted with oversized windows, and boasts a large stone fireplace at one end. The furniture throughout is leather upholstered.

A new pro shop is modern, spacious and ready for use with complete storage facilities and stocked to the hilt. It was here club professional Jim Hurton welcomed the multitude of weekend visitors and acquainted them with the features of the course. Jim, before coming here, was at Northwood and Toronto Golf and is considered a fine golf teacher as well as a good golfer.

He calls the graceful 9 hole course now in play "a really open course" that calls for every club in the bag. The course was designed by Robbie Robinson, one of the few Canadians qualified as a golf course architect with courses at Hanf Springs in the Rockies, the Capriana Course on Vancouver Island and the Seagrory Club in Quebec to prove it. Five fairways being carved out of a scenic woodland will add to the picturesque angle when completed next year.

Holes in play now include a 415 yd par 4; 365 yd par 4; 225 yd par 3; 400 yd par 4; 460 yd par 5; 165 yd par 3; 345 yd par 4; 155 yd par 3; and 510 yd par 5. The par for 18 holes will be 72.

Horseshoe League is Summer Park Activity

Georgetown Horseshoe Club will centre its activities in the park this year.

Council has granted the club use of a section of the park near the Armoury and it is planned to install four permanent pits for devotees of the sport.

Next Monday, a meeting is planned at the site at 7:00 p.m. to elect officers. An invitation is being extended to anyone interested in joining the club to attend that night.

O.A.C. GRADUATES SET UP SCHOLARSHIP FUND

About $70,000 has been donated by the Alumni of the Ontario Agricultural College for the establishment of the O.A.C. Alumni Scholarship Fund.

The campaign, which began last winter among the 3000 graduates of the college, is not yet completed, and it is hoped that this figure will be greatly increased before the final report is made in June, when the Alumni Association will hold their annual meeting at the College.

The purpose of the fund is to provide substantial scholarships at the Ontario Agricultural College in order to attract students of high calibre to study Agriculture as a profession. Ten of these scholarships of $1,000 apiece will be available each year to high school students who are outstanding in their academic achievements, and who are interested in a career in Agriculture. The first scholarship winners will enter the college next fall.

High School Athletes Compete at McMaster

A quartet of Georgetown High School girls came home ribbonless but gained a wealth of experience at an Invitational Secondary School Girls' Track Meet held at McMaster University Saturday, the first time that GHS has been represented in a senior group schools competition.

Coached by Mrs. Volney Ray, the four—Anne, Elizabeth, Bottoms, Pam Currie and Leslie and Betty Quackenbush, in many events bettered the marks they set at the fall meet in Guelph, but had to take a back seat to the more experienced runners. The girls were handicapped by the fact that almost all of the other competing schools hold their regular field meet in the spring and were at their peak for the McMaster meet. Georgetown's track and field program reaches its stride in the fall making spring competition a special effort.

In the junior 60 yard dash, Betty Quackenbush got as far as the semi final before facing climatic conditions, and just missed qualifying for the semi final in the 100 yard dash with a 2nd place finish. Only the runners placing first and second were allowed to go on.

Only six out of twenty-one teams from schools as far away as North Bay and Brockville bettered Georgetown's time in the relay.

The meet was under the auspices of the Southern Ontario Secondary Schools Athletic Association, to provide competition for high school girls at a higher level than local meets. The competitors were divided into two classes, junior under 16 and senior under 20.

Members of the Hamilton Olympic Club and the physical education teachers of the Niagara district acted as officials. As many as 60 girls entered some of the events.

Italy's beautiful Gina Lollobrigida plays her first role in a Hollywood filmed motion picture in "Never So Few", in which she co-stars with Frank Sinatra in a vibrant love story laid against a backdrop of jungle guerrilla fighting in Burma during World War II. Peter Lawford, Steve McQueen, Richard Johnson, Paul Henreid, Brian Donlevy and Dean Jagger also have leading roles in the CinemaScope and color production from MGM.

Frank Sinatra, as the dastardly American captain in charge of a World War II guerrilla unit harasses the Japanese in Burma, in "Never So Few," MGM film version of Tom Clamates' best-selling novel. "Never So Few" is now playing at the Brampton Drive-In Theatre. Also showing on the same bill is Walt Disney's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow."
