ESQUEQUING COUNCIL

Esquequing Feels Kelso Dam Share is Too High

In Esquequing Council's opinion, they are "Up the Creek", with the Sixteen Mile Creek Conservation Authority. This week they passed a resolution stating they felt the distribution of costs in the Kelso dam project on the Creeks, was unfair, since the ratepayers would not receive benefits in any way commensurate with the costs.

Esquequing's share of the $32,000 estimated total is $10,887. "It would take two months if paid all in one year," commented Coun. Geo. Legath. "It certainly won't benefit us much", opined Coun. W. Latham.

Clark K. C. Lindsay pointed out that the project would be in spirit only, since the time has long since elapsed for a formal protest to the Municipal Board. "Well, we can try it anyway", added Coun. Geo. Legath. Deputy Reeve W. Bird, a member of the Authority, commented, "I've felt all along the costs shouldn't be split this way. Nasawawewa and Esquequing are not benefiting much."

A copy of the resolution objecting to the distribution of the costs will be sent to the minister of Planning and Development, Queen's Park, and another copy to the Sixteen Mile Creek Authority.

A sizeable amount, $109,000 in building permits was issued in May in Esquequing township, so building inspector William Hulls reported to council.

He also felt the collection of ten dollars a month license fee for trailers could become an increasing problem. "The only way to solve it, is not to let them in at all," claimed Geo. Legath. "Maybe that sounds hard," he went on, "but what else is there to do?"

There are approximately twenty trailers in the township, according to the building inspector.

A discussion on the difference in the jail rate for high schools in the township sparked a suggestion by Coun. W. Latham, that the high school inspector be asked for his advice on the possibility of setting up a Board of Education for the whole township.

The mysterious cycles of nature were pointed up when only two fox hounds were paid this month. "A few years ago one page wouldn't hold them all", Deputy Reeve Bird reminded.

Conciliation Officer is Appointed in Dispute

The Dept. of Labour has appointed a conciliation officer, J. M. Hopper, to deal with a dispute between council and the National Union of Public Service Employees. The matter concerns a job switch between two men on the works staff which the union protests, and which council declines to reverse.

Mr. Hopper notified council on Monday that he is convening a meeting on June 9th to discuss the matter.

A conciliatory discussion followed this notification with a majority voting to retain the services of a Burlington solicitor, H. Bruce Galloway to sit in with council's appointed, Mayor Hyde at the meeting.

Cry Cass and Gunn opposed a solicitor. Mr. Cass gave his opinion that at a conciliation meeting, the matter could be dealt with by councilors. An opposite view was expressed by Mayor Hyde, who said the union will have a paid advisor and the town needs one too.

Purchase of a GMC ton truck from Prouse Motors for $1830 was decided, on recommendation of the property committee which had asked for bids on supplying a new town vehicle. A tender for $1092 to paint a second hand truck recently acquired by the town, was given to Norval Auto Body.

The True Blue lodge was granted permission to hold a tag day on June 24th.

A change in the parking by law was ordered. Henceforth cows will not be required in parking meters until 9 a.m. instead of the present 8 a.m. regulation.

A short discussion took place on a matter which is being considered having town-operated gas pumps. One tender from an oil company has been received. Cr. Hunter reported, offering gas at 40.5c and 35.5c and he is expecting another.

Chapel Street School Pupils Take Excursion to Niagara

By Barbara Evans

It was an early rising for all of the Grade Seven and Eight pupils of Chapel Street School. We left the school at seven o'clock. Our first stop was at the Royal Botanical Gardens. I believe that was one of the most beautiful places I have ever seen. It was disappointing that the tulips had finished blooming, but you could see the coming buds of flowers and those that were already out. It was a glorious array of nature's colours (green, reds, blues, yellows). There were many places where we could take pictures. We, who had our cameras, considered it a paradise.

Our next stop was the Twentieth Century Museum at Jordan. It was very interesting to see the old books, furniture, clothing, utensils and war equipment. We saw a pioneer school which showed us early books, the desks and the many farm tools. A very unusual bicycle caught my eye. We next went to Jacob Fry's pioneer home which showed the looms, the old bedroom and a plaque that said they would not again make war.

We arrived at Thorold (which is the first of the double locks) at about ten o'clock. We were fortunate to see a couple of lake freighters going through the locks.

We ended up at Queenston Heights for our lunch. We had the privilege of climbing Brock's Monument. It was approximately two hundred feet high.

Our next port of call was the power plant, Adam Beck No. 2, through which we toured. We learned how the power is brought from the plant to our homes and how the various machines work.

We then drove over to see the old building of Fort George where the battle of Fort George took place. We toured through the old buildings of

Town Crest Origin Unsolved Mystery

Did you know Georgetown has a full blown mystery on its hands? It could well be entitled "The Curious Case of the Town Crest Caper".

You have all seen the crest or coat of arms on such familiar and recurring pieces of mail as your water bill, and tax bill. Well, the mystery surrounds its origin.

So, with private eye trench coat, and to the accompaniment of a Basin street beat, the caper was covered.

The crest has what looks like a sheaf of wheat on top, but to keep in the mood, it could be rye, (double that is, under this is a bar, (naturally). The bar is supposed to represent the ironbridge near Maple Avenue East, on the way down to the old paper mill.

Under this bar is a stag. Now many stags end up under the bar, but this stag is representative of the hunting in the community.

How the crest came to be adopted as the town crest seems to be unknown. It has never officially been registered.

After endless driving in a car which in no way resembles the Jaguars or Lincolns sported by a well heeled TV schamus, defeat was conceded. Obviously either the trench coat was the wrong colour, or the jazz record had the wrong beat.

So, if any readers feel like turning stool pigeon, tank, man, talk.

Three Dairy Experts Address Twilight Meet

Three dairy experts took part in the panel at the Halton Holstein Twilight Meeting, held at the Jays' Sales Arena in Trafalgar, on Friday, May 20th. Panel members included Dr. J. C. Rennie, Animal Husbandry Department, Ontario Agricultural College; Mr. D. S. Dunton, second Vice-President, Canadian Holstein Friesian Association, and Mr. Abner B. Martin, director, Holstein Friesian Association of Canada.

Chairman for the panel was J. H. Taylor, president of the Halton Holstein Breeders' Club.

Dr. Rennie in his remarks stressed the importance of the existing records in planning a breeding programme. An important use of the breed class average is to compare your herd with the average for the breed. This enables the breeder to do a more accurate job of culling the herd.

Mr. Dunton stressed the importance of type and selective registration in planning a breeding programme. One of the points emphasized by Mr. Dunton was the importance of using the detail grading analysis in selection of breeding stock.

High quality in home grown feeds was pointed out by Mr. Martin in his remarks.

Assistance in planning and direction of the programme was given by Mr. G. Brennan, field man for the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, and J. A. Francis, Agricultural Representative, Halton County.

This year's judging programme at the meeting was highlighted by a panel of local Holstein breeders. Official placings for the classes were presented by the chairman of the panel, Ross Segsworth, first Vice-President of the Holstein Friesian Association of Canada; and panel judges Jas. Carney, Brock Harris, John Pickett, Ward Brownbridge, and R. C. Alexander.

Hazards of the farm fire, was the theme of a Safety demonstration by the Extension Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. J. A. Francis, Agricultural Representative; D. E. Jackson, Assistant Agricultural Representative and W. Ross Milne, Agricultural Engineering fieldman, presented the demonstration.

Club Midtown

By Dar

Howdy Neighbourhood!

Is everyone ready for the Rodeo Saturday? Our quiet little town will undergo a big change this weekend. A few of our timid and harmless citizens will turn into western heroes and desperadoes.

There will be gunslang on every corner and gunfights in the streets. Who will be Georgetown's top gun? Saturday's the day that will tell.

This Friday we want to see all of you teen guys and gals dressed in your western outfits at Midtown. There will be a prize for the best outfit worn, so saddle up and mosey on down to the dance.

June 10th is another big event. Midtown will be holding another street dance at the Delrex Plaza. The proceeds will go to the hospital fund, so we want you all to come. The Midnights will play for us and there will be recorded music as well. A few of the boys from the Yellow Jackets Motor Cycle Club will be patrolling the plaza. If you are interested in motor cycles, come and talk to them.

It promises to be a wonderful evening, and you're all invited.

My hitsville-bound records for this week are rising fast on the charts. "Nobody Loves Me Like You" is another hit for the "Flamingos. Sam Cooke has a colnmaker in his "Wonderful World."

That's it for this week. See you Friday night at Midtown. Until then, be good, take care, keep smiling, and don't take your guns to town, son, leave your guns at home.
