ESQUEQUING COUNCIL

Claim Car Wrecking Yard Should Be Licensed

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, of Toronto, who have a summer cottage in the district sparked a discussion at Esquequing Council Monday. They claimed that demolished cars blotted out the beauty in the area, and depreciated values. The letter concluded with Mr. Miller asking if a license and a fence were not requirements of the by-law.

Clerk K. C. Lindsay stated there never had been a license granted. "We couldn't license it anyway," stated the reeve, "until the property is in proper shape and fenced by a six foot high closed fence."

An offer of 60% of their respective shares of the $24,517 deficit incurred by the Milton District High School Board will be made to Milton by Esquequing, Acton and Nassagaweya. The deficit was incurred in selling the debentures for the new Milton High School. The question of the four municipalities, Acton, Georgetown, Esquequing and Nassagaweya, sharing the cost of a high school in Milton arises because all these municipalities were members of the now extinct North Halton High School Area Board when the school was financed.

Town Freight Yard Is Key In Planned Terminal Project

Georgetown's freight yards will play a key part in the new Toronto terminal project which is slated for completion by 1965.

Speaking to a hearing of the Ontario Municipal Board last week, J. L. Camm, project director for the CNR said the present one-line track would be ripped up and replaced with a heavy-duty line over Esquequing's share at the moment is listed as $4,400. 60% would bring it down to $2,640. Georgetown has not committed itself as yet on this question.

One of the reasons for dissatisfaction was evidenced by a question from Coun. W. Linham. "Who'll get the proceeds of the old Milton High School as sold?" There is a widely held opinion that this will take place. "Milton probably will, replied the reeve, "since under the agreement which dissolved the North Halton Board, each area retained its own assets."

The 60% offer was endorsed unanimously by Council.

A petition favouring the continued operation of Waterloo School, School Section No. 5, as long as a qualified teacher is employed, was read to Council. However, the members felt the School Board should deal with it.

A report on the condition of the township grader by a Department of Highways Inspector, estimated the cost of repairs at $6500 - $7000. He felt it might be wise to replace it.

One On Georgetown

With the gloom that Montrealers tell a tale on Toronto, or Vancouverites tell one on Victoria, Clerk K. C. Lindsay of Esquequing told this one to Council. A citizen came in to pay his taxes, and while there asked the clerk various questions on taxation. After K. C. had explained, he protested vehemently, "Believe me, I'm not kicking about my taxes. I used to have a house in Georgetown half the size of this one, and I paid double the taxes."

Gloating chuckles greeted the remarks of the clerk, who happens to live in Georgetown.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Freeland and children Michael and Carolyn have returned from a holiday spent north of Burks Falls where Mr. Freeland is building a summer cottage. He has resumed his services at the Norval and Glen Williams United Churches.

Active Church Worker

Wife of a Norval native, Mrs. James Foster Bird was buried in Fairview Cemetery, Niagara Falls on Monday, following funeral service at the funeral chapel of Hetherington & Deans, Victoria Ave. She died in Greater Niagara General Hospital on August 11th.

Mrs. Bird was born in Smithville and had lived in Grimsby following her marriage and in Niagara Falls since 1926. Her husband is a brother of the late Thomas Bird of Georgetown. She was the former Mary Ann (Dolly) Wardell. She leaves her husband, one son James and a daughter Dorothy. Mrs. William Benson, of Niagara Falls, three grand children, and two sisters, Mrs. William Tallman and Mrs. William Ross, both of Hamilton.

She was an active and valued member of Kitchener St. United Church whose minister is Rev. Collin Todd, once minister of St. John's United here. Mr. Todd conducted the funeral service and pallbearers were William Marshall, G. E. Pedlar, Frank Cooper, Aquila Bean, W. S. Richardson and Fred Wiseman.
