

MUTED SCHOOL BELLS

TWO OF THE MANY COUNTRY SCHOOLS which did not open their doors when school officially started for the fall term Tuesday morning were closed as a result of the swine flu epidemic. Both schools were built in 1878.

Two months off school had days — what to do with the youngsters? The Canadian Army's NATO force is solving the problem in much the same manner as communities back home — supervised recreation. But the children of our military can have an added activity — one in this area of Waterloo. They and their mothers can take tours to places of historic and shopping interest or to the famous Wuppertal Zoo.

The three commands of West Germany's air force have similar programs for their youngsters. As we drive into the Soest Personnel Married Quarters we see a group of ladies in a game of baseball. So we decided to go in there.

The Canadian Army brought professional directors to West Germany at the beginning of July, and in a few days with the cooperation of West Germans and community and programs were in full swing in each of the commands.

At Soest we met Capt. H.R. Ryan, director of intramural athletics and recreation for men at Mels's Taxis and Lieut. Norman Heale, physical education director of Chippewa Secondary School, North Bay, who are directing the Brigade Headquarters program.

They have a group of teenagers engaged by the community committee headed by Major Jack Baillie, Mayor of the Soest command. Five of them are on duty each day. Providing excellent leadership are "Pat" Elliott, Bob Long, Gloria Dunn, Judy Clark, Chester Bramwell, Barbara Campbell, Penny Provin, Bob Hanna, Doug Crookes, Dennis Bell, Francis John McKibbin, Beverly Campbell, Camille LeGros, Sandra Rayner, Sandy Weeks, Patricia Watson, Brian Bellefontaine and Karl Williams.

The junior program takes in girls up to nine years, and boys to seven — over that the boys are apt to look on the games as "easy" affairs and so are sent on to the senior groups.

The juniors participate in singing and low organization games, arts and crafts, they

Councillor Defends By-Law Ban on Hanging Signs

4th September, 1960 — planning and zoning is a good idea, the by-law is simple.

I cannot agree that newer merchants on Main Street are placed at a disadvantage by the by-law on hanging signs. I am not. Mr. Editor, that exception to the rule is that every business man on Main St. could be removed if many other people in town became increasingly difficult to understand why Guelph town ever became a Planned Town or why we have a Zone by law.

Your editor in "The Prescot Journal" David May, suggests that if any part of the by-law is being contravened prior to the passing of the by-law then it is up to him to enforce it.

As zoning by-laws would not be necessary if nobody was endeavouring the principles of sound planning, then it is only fair to follow your principle.

In other words, you suggest that because commercial signs suspended over the sidewalk exist on Main St., it is unfair to have a by-law which forbids the erection of additional signs.

I have no doubt that news paper editorials fifty years ago advocated the idea of removing outside pit latrines in urban areas.

You say, "I quote: 'If control were to decide that hanging signs over sidewalks are that wrong' Let me remind you that 'wrong' is an absolute term and can not be qualified as 'dearly'." Also let me remind you that.

Also let me remind you that also in 1957, 1958 and 1959 have already decided that hanging signs over sidewalks are wrong and have passed a by-law No. 57-91 forbidding the erection of any further such signs. Before it is possible to remove all hanging signs over town property, it is essential to have a waiting period during which no further signs are erected and people can get used to the idea of their removal. This cannot be achieved if every protest and complaint against zoning is to be considered as proof that the by-law is simple.

I cannot agree that newer merchants on Main Street are placed at a disadvantage by the by-law on hanging signs. I am not. Mr. Editor, that exception to the rule is that every business man on Main St. could be removed if many other people in town became increasingly difficult to understand why Guelph town ever became a Planned Town or why we have a Zone by law.

Dear Sir:

Do you see many strange sights?" she asked the window cleaner.

"Quite a few," he replied. "Up on the fourth floor there's an office where everybody's work

Market Centre Anniversary Next Week

Merchants in Delree Market Centre are planning a spectacular twoday carnival to celebrate their first anniversary on Friday and Saturday, September 10th and 11th.

Officers of the centre's association say that merchandise values will be coupled with a large program of free entertainment to bring patronage from a wide area to celebrate the anniversary with them. Among attractions will be mechanical rides, courtesy of Eddie.

Each place of business will be represented in a two-page advertising spread in next week's Herald issue. Many of the stores are planning special sales, also. Further details will be given in their several treatments in the next issue of the Herald.

Issue Building Permit For New Bowling Alley

Only two residential permits valued at $11,500 each, were issued in August, an additional $50 covered expenses. However, the total was honored by the Sherriff's permit for the new bowling alley on Mountview Road. The owner is Mr. William Radtke of Dundas St. West.

Yours truly,

Tom Cass
