Awards Are Announced In C.W.N.A. Competitions

Top honours in weekly newspaper publishing went to 35 weeklies at the 41st annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association in Vancouver, September 12-14.

The papers were winners of awards in the 1960 Better Newspapers Competitions sponsored by the Association.

The coveted Mason Trophy emblematic of publishing excellence in the largest circulation bracket, went to the Abbotsford (B.C.) News, along with the second place award in the best editorial page competition.

Judged the best all-around paper in the 2,001 to 3,000 circulation group was the Milton (Ont.) Canadian Champion. Winner in the 1,000 to 2,000 field was the Portage la Prairie (Man.) Manitoba Leader and the Nanton (Alta.) News was named best all-around paper among weeklies with under 1,000 circulation.

Four weeklies copied three or more awards: the Nanton (Alta.) News, Portage la Prairie (Man.) Manitoba Leader, Williams Lake (B.C.) Tribune and Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise.

Lion's share of the honours went to Ontario newspapers which won 16 of the 53 awards. B.C. papers won 13 awards.

Canadians Should Be Better Neighbours Says Maclean's Writer

Canadians have become the "smuggest race on earth," with a "blind bigotry and complacent attitude toward the United States," says Canadian writer Robert Thomas Allen.

Allen, a Torontoan who lives part of each year in Florida, says in the current issue of Maclean's that Canadians "have gone slightly off their minds on the subject of the United States."

"They can't speak intelligently or civilly about Americans—it's become the great Canadian obsession."

One claim he frequently hears, says Allen, is that Canadian schools are superior to U.S. schools. But he says his daughters have gone to many schools in both countries, "and the amount of difference between education systems could not be detected by the Mount Palomar telescope (which American educated scientists and technicians somehow butchered together)."

Another common claim, Allen says, is that Americans are ignorant of Canada. "But the United States is a great, powerful, rich nation of 180 million people, and Canada is a small country of not quite 18 million. Canada is bound to know more about Americans than Americans know about Canada."

Furthermore, he says, few Canadians know as much about the U.S. as they expect Americans to know about Canada.

"Who," ask Allen, "is the governor of Alaska, which is right on our border? Where does the Colorado River empty? What state is the Grand Canyon in? The last Canadian I threw these questions at couldn't answer one of them?"

"It's time Canadians quit hating Americans," and get back to living beside them as good neighbours," Allen says.

Pries-Sargent Wedding in St. Joseph's Rectory, Acton

On Saturday, September 17th at 2 p.m. St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Rectory was the setting for the marriage of Judith Ann Sargent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sylvester Sargent, 224 McDonald Blvd. Acton, to Robert Wayne Ludwig Pries, son of Mrs. Edmond Pries and the late Mr. E. Pries, 12 Victoria Crescent, Georgetown. Rev. V. J. Morgan officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white length gown of pale turquoise lace over tulle, with fitted bodice, full skirt, short sleeves and scooped neckline. She wore a cultured pearl, the gift of the groom.

A matching coronet, held her veil in place. She carried pink roses and a stephanotis.

Miss Bernice Sargent, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a white gown of rose lined brown velvet with matching headpiece. Her accessories were beige with a corsage of red roses.

William G. Patterson, Acton, brother-in-law of the bride was best man.

A luncheon was held at Terra Cotta Inn.

The bride's mother received guests wearing a sheath dress of rose lace over tulle with black accessories and a corsage.

Start Grass Seeding Early In The Fall

Late summer and early fall are the best times to start a lawn. Then nature cooperates in providing the best conditions for the growing seed.

"During this season," according to G. R. Snyder, Agricultural Chemicals Canadian Industry Limited, "the cooler weather encourages root rooting and there are fewer weeds. Seeding should be done in the early fall so that the grass is well established before winter sets in."

Fresh from his summer vacation the man of the house may be persuaded to do something about the wilderness around his abode.

First, he should buy the best seed obtainable and seek advice from his local seed dealer on the kind suitable to the soil and degree of sunshine or shade—and he shouldn't skimp on the quantity. About four to five pounds of seed mixture per thousand square feet is the right proportion.

The surface of the seed bed must be prepared by leveling and raking to rid it of stones. This operation also provides an ideal opportunity for working in a good supply of essential plant food. Evergreen 606 fertilizer may be easily applied by hand, just like sowing seed, or with any of the lawn type fertilizer applicators. Plan to use 30 to 40 pounds per acre, or 1,000 square feet of lawn area. Then mix well with the top two or three inches of soil.

"If the seed is sown by hand, it should be scattered in two directions, each direction at right angles to the other so as to make a uniform application."

"It is essential to cover the seed lightly by raking gently or by covering it with some screened soil. In other words, it should not be buried under the soil—no more than one eighth inch deep as most grass seeds need light for germination. Finally, roll the seed bed lightly and water it."

Ordinarily in the fall there is plenty of moisture in the soil and rainfall is plentiful. The seed should be kept moist at all times until the grass germinates. A covering of light cheesecloth or burlap will reduce evaporation and also protect the seed against sun and birds.

Another Protests To Cass Column

The editorial "Theory and Practice Don't Mix" was very good and as Mr. Cass admits it is the sentiments of many others who were brought up in this town and have lived here most of their lives. During the last five years however, we have had an influx of people who would like nothing better than to take us over, lock, stock and barrel and make us over to their own pet theories.

The childish reference to patlatines of 50 years ago was uncalled for and it might be transplanted to the fact that 50 years in those days unruly little boys were placed across the knee and a sound spanking was administered the bottom. Also that practice was discontinued many years ago, which is why we have so many arrogant, self-satisfied adult delinquents in our midst today.

Mr. Cass says "I would suggest that money being spent on expensive suits would be far better spent improving some of the decrepit properties in the area." He ignores the fact that more than half of the stores on Main Street have been modernized as far as possible with new store fronts, etc. The rest of us have been too busy scratching for the dollars to pay for the modern ideas of the Invasion forces who took down their noses at us AND our decrepit buildings.

While we admire the modern plazas and have nothing against modern subdivisions, we must remind Mr. Cass that these things are a product of THIS generation and should not be in comparison with the buildings of the last generation. And it might very well be said, "the decrepit buildings so scornfully referred to will weather the years, they are mostly low with huge storm of modern day A bombs much better."

Plazas have a wide open space in front. The buildings, tearing all across the top. In

Get in the Swing... Ballroom Dancing At Night School

The course in ballroom dancing is to be taught by Mrs. Peter Pratt. The waltz, Viennese Waltz, quickstep, slow fox trot, cha cha, jive, rumba and samba will all be covered, with emphasis on whatever dance is desired by the students. Mr. Pratt plans to be present to assist his wife.

Two classes will be formed if enrolment is sufficiently high. Each class will be limited to twenty couples to ensure that all will benefit from the infectious enthusiasm which this dancing couple display.

Margaret Pratt is an associated member of the Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing, a member of the National Society of Teachers of Dancing, and a member of the Canadian Dance Teachers Association, ballroom branch.

At one time, she was the youngest teacher of dancing in England, having her own studio in Southampton at the age of 17. She holds the highest-amount awards that are given in England, the Guild Star and the Guild Cross in ballroom dancing.

comparison our Main Street is narrow with buildings high and apartments overhead, hence the hanging sign. To confuse Main Street, Georgetown, and its no stop lights with cities with a stop light at every corner is ridiculous.

Georgetown Herald front page caption: "Counsed responsible to people, not planning board" is commendable. With thinking like this, it is possible that we may be able to overcome the ruthless theories of the modern day dictators and once again practice the theory of "Live and Let Live."

For St. John's W.A. Another Busy Season

The Afternoon Auxiliary of St. John's United Church W.M.S. resumed their regular meetings on Tuesday in the church parlor with a good attendance. Mrs. H. Curtis introduced the new study book, the theme of which is "Into all the World Together." "Turning World" by Betty Thompson is a journalistic account of ways in which Christians of many countries are coming together in their concerns and activities. "The Ship Under the Cross" by John Grant states that the early Christians in their act often represented the church as a ship. The ship was a good symbol, representing the fact that Christians are bound together by their allegiance to Christ and also to the fact that they are going some where together under His direction.

During the devotional period Mrs. Stein read an account of the life of Dr. Walter L. Wilson, whose life was greatly changed by the Holy Spirit, afterwards becoming a great preacher and teacher.

Roberta Hawes was our young guest and sang a very pleasing solo "Grown Him with Many Crowns." Mrs. W. Evans offered prayer for our chosen missionary Elvie Bunner. We were glad to welcome Mrs. Madden and Mrs. Ian Fleming as new members, the Rev. Ian Fleming was present and pronounced the benediction.

The Fall Thank Offering will be held on Tuesday, October 19th with Mrs. Ewart Madden of St. Andrew's United Church as guest speaker.

The dance was the best ever held in that gym, although I can't say much for their P.A. system and/or gramophone.

Do you like Mary Johnson? Her new release "You've Got to Move Two Mountains" is nice. You will like it. Speaking of Elvis Presley he has sold no less than 25 million records! Being an Elvis fan myself I find that easy to believe.

Some are born savers

The squirrel does things by instinct. But humans are different. They have to be taught just about everything. If you're a farmer, that means teaching your child many things, such as, crop rotation, livestock judging, successful marketing—but, first and foremost, it should mean teaching your child, early in life, to save.

Encourage him to open his own Savings Account at the "Royal", and to practice putting aside something on a regular basis. Show him that having something laid away can often make the difference between success and failure. Then (like the squirrel) he'll be prepared for the future.

Ask for a copy of our booklet "Financial Training for Your Son and Daughter". It provides a practical pattern of financial training for any parent with growing children, shows you how to encourage them to stand on their own feet in financial matters. It is free at your nearest Royal Bank branch.
