LOCAL ART CRITICS piled praise on the local artists who exhibited their works at the Art Exhibit and Sale sponsored by the Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital. The exhibit is in Knox Church Hall, Friday. Under appraisal here are a number of fine paintings, by Frank C. Black, 80 Guelph Street.

Engineering Head Dies Suddenly

Senior partner in the Practor & Redfern firm which is engineering Georgetown's new sewage disposal plant, Wesley B. Redfern, 73 died of a heart attack on September 17th at Toronto General Hospital.

Mr. Redfern was born in Owen Sound and attended the University of Toronto, graduating from the School of Practical Science there in 1900. He served overseas in World War I and became a captain in the 353rd Siege Battery.

Mr. Redfern joined the engineering firm in 1917 after his discharge from the army. He was an elder in Timothy Eaton Memorial United Church and an active member of the Rotary Club.

He leaves his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Noel Cogdon of Ottawa, Mrs. David Gossage and Jean Redfern of Toronto, a son, Donald, two brothers Charles and Stanley of Toronto and a sister, Florence Redfern of Stratford.

Funeral services were conducted on September 20th at Timothy Eaton Church and interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Compliments Canadians On Holstein Cattle Development

"I have the greatest admiration for the type of animal developed in North America from the very limited importation that took place in the latter part of the last century," K. P. Stapel, Chief Inspector of the N. S. R. Herd Book Society, The Hague, Holland, told a group of Board County Holstein breeders at their annual meet at the farm of Williams Bros., H. S. Key Station. Mr. Stapel mentioned that from the small importation of several hundred head, the herd in his own breed is the most popular dairy breed in the Americas and in Canada constitute 75 per cent of our dairy cattle population. In fact, said Mr. Stapel, "Canada is now one of the largest export countries of Holstein-Friesians in the world, annually selling approximately 300,000 animals to other countries as Holland does. While the original animal was imported and yet it is the skill of your breeders in developing a superior individual that has accounted for your fine progress."

Mr. Stapel stated that there are two black and white Friesian herd books in Holland. The Friesian Herd Book has 7,000 members, while the N. S. R. Herd Book, which he represents, has 35,000 members and registers approximately 200,000 head a year. This compares with 13,000 members and 85,000 annual registrations for the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, and 21,000 active members and 260,000 annual registrations for the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The N. S. R. has a separate Herd Book for Red and White cattle and also a separate Herd Book for the Groningen breed, these bringing the total membership to 56,000.

The Dutch purebred Friesian breeder must supply the Association with a list of services within the herd, either natural or A. I. at six month intervals. When a calf is born an application for entry in the Herd Book must be forwarded within 72 hours. Entry to the Herd Book proper is made only after inspection and approval for type and after the completion of the first satisfactory lactation.

Every Dutch purebred Friesian has his herd on a government supervised system of production testing.

Mr. Stapel noted a major difference in the A. I. set up in Holland and in North America. In Canada and the U. S. A. the tendency is toward consolidation of A. I. units so that a large number of animals are bred by each unit over a considerable area, in Holland the practice is to have local A. I. units, each maintaining its own bulls and serving the breeders in the

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BAKER

I have noticed in travelling on many trains that for some reason, many women are different about requesting the services provided for their convenience by the management. They will sit for hours in a coach before they will ask the porter to adjust their seat to a more comfortable position. They will drink their coffee cold before they will ask the dining car waiter for a fresh hot pot of coffee.

Women are prone to require of a total stranger at a station where they should board their train, rather than ask the attendant at the information desk. They will then beg to a coach rather than seek a red cap.

There are two reasons for this, one is they women are naturally shy and the second is a lack of knowledge about tipping. They would rather put up with discomfort than risk making themselves look foolish by not knowing when and how much they should tip for service rendered.

After the inspiration of a destination has been born the next most important step is to set up an adequate budget for the trip. Count the days you will be on the road at least $5 per day for meals and add 10 to 15 per cent for tipping. Fifty cents per night per person is the general rule for tipping the sleeping car porter and 25c per tip in the chair car porter. The general rule for tipping red cap is 25c for a single piece of luggage or about 15 cents apiece if there are more.

Of course, if you are in need of more services such as meals brought to your car, etc. then the tipping will be more extensive. Actually tipping is a matter of recognition for services rendered and your generosity should be governed accordingly. However the above scale is a yardstick for setting up your budget.

Here are several other suggestions that will help to make your journey a happy and memorable one. Never bring heavy, large pieces of luggage into the sleeping or parlor car. Take advantage of the checking facilities, having to look after large pieces of luggage makes it hard for you and much more difficult for the porter.

A train case is the best investment you can make and the next most important travel accessory is a make-up kit. Its small plastic bottles and containers are leak proof. If you plan to travel in a berth rather than a roomette or compartment, you will find this neat little bag a wonderful help in making quick make-up repairs in the ladies room.

Clothing is most important; women are inclined to take too many costume changes with them on a trip. Coaches are all air conditioned to a comfortable temperature both in
