Suggests Dinner-Dance As Graduation Ceremony

Colin Haywood

As graduation certificates represent the culmination of several years of work, it is the gateway to higher learning and to better employment opportunities. Because of its importance, the awarding of this certificate merits some ceremony. At present, these certificates are awarded at the annual High School Commencement Exercises when the awarding takes about ten minutes in a three-hour programme. I realize that at present it would be impractical to organize an extensive graduation programme because of the small number of graduates per year. However, as the school is growing at a rapid rate, perhaps such a program could be undertaken when the number of graduates reaches twenty-five per year.

Since the results of the Matriculation examinations are not received until August, the graduation ceremony should be held in October or November. The whole program should occupy one evening, and run per-

New Books Arrive For School Library

Paul Baker

The Library Club expressed its pleasure that the circulation for the month of September was 581.

A large order of both Junior and Senior new books has arrived. Among the Junior books are mysteries, sports stories by Coumbis and a large number of other volumes sure to interest our Grade Nine students.

The older students will be happy to know that a large assortment of senior books is now on hand among them. Ben Hur, by Lew Wallace, The Black Room, by Thomas Costain, The Bridge of San Luis Rey, by Thornton Wilder and The Old Man and the Sea, by Hemingway, along with many others.

These above are only a few of the many delightful new books.

Two especially interesting ones are: Cheaper by the Dozen, by Frank B. Gallagher, Jr. and Ernestine Gallagher Carey, and Fifth Chinese Daughter, by Jade Snow Wong.

The first is a light-hearted account of the author's childhood, and particularly of their father, who was an efficiency expert in private life, as well as by profession. It is written in narrative form, and is humorously funny. It is popular with boys, girls and adults, and in addition to its humour, it may also have inspirational value in its picture of family loyalty and teamwork.

The book is small and easy to read, and has amusing line drawings. It is reminiscent of "Life With Father," and made good as a film.

The second is the autobiography of a San Francisco Chinese girl, as entertaining as fiction, and, at the same time, presents a living personality whose energy and clear thinking are inspiring. Jade Snow Wong not only overcame the problem of being brought up among a racial minority, but seems to have built her own philosophy on the best elements of both the American and the Chinese way of life. She has the modesty and restraint that were drilled into her in childhood, as "fifth daughter" in a well-disciplined Chinese family. She also has the self-confidence and independence of an educated American.

The chief value of this book for High School students is in its sympathetic view of home life, traditions and culture different from our own. Miss Wong is such a thoroughly likeable person that the reader is made to realize how superficial racial differences are.

Those students who are interested in war novels should watch for the new collection of paperback books coming in in the near future.

We extend to all a welcome to visit the library. It is there for your enjoyment and convenience.

Find Night School is Interesting Recreation

Carole Lane and Lois Nivan

When we looked into the Night School recently, we found both interest and fun. Night classes are held on two nights—ten classes on Tuesday nights and six classes Wednesday nights. The majority of the classes consist of hobby projects, but there are two educational classes: Bookkeeping and Typing, and also Welding at Zerasley's Garage.

Sewing is the most popular class, with about fifteen in each of the three classes. In the Beginner's Class on Tuesday night the students, under our capable Mrs. Hesse, are making charming winter coats. Mrs. Stewart also has a sewing class Tuesday night for advanced sewing students. On Wednesday night there is Children's Sewing under Mrs. Moss, with pupils making not only children's clothing, but also suits and jumpers for themselves.

In the Beginner's oil painting class with Miss Stone, the new artists have made a colour wheel consisting of six colours which when combined in various ways of harmonies of hue, intensity and value. About their third lesson the students experiment in abstracts, and after that, in still life.

The Advanced Painting classes are under Mr. Black on both Tuesday and Wednesday nights, with the artists copying from prints, painting from imagination, and sketching. The students' unanimous opinion was that painting is an enjoyable and relaxing pastime. Would you care to try it?

Plans Being Made For Annual Bazaar

Carol Higham & Carole Lane

Come to the High School bazaar, in the school gymnasium, on Thursday, November 24th, six thirty p.m. and after. Bring your friends, chat over a cup of tea, have your portrait sketched by our own artists, buy what ever takes your fancy, and, best of all, see what capable organizers your high school students are.

This is our principal fund-raising project of the year. Every student will contribute something. There will be home baking, clothing of all sorts, toys and a fish-pond and candy for the youngsters. The various school clubs have planned displays to illustrate their activities. The Grade 12 students are in charge of all arrangements. There are appealing prizes in a projected raffle; a piece of imported luggage, a driftwood lamp and a handwoven shawl.

What do we do with the money we make? It is handed over to the Student Council. Last year they financed football uniforms, transportation to and from games, the expense of the hockey team at the Blenheim tournament, bought honour crests and backed the big social event of 1959, the Stardust Ball. Publicity is being handled by Elaine Greenway, Carol Higham, Monica Frank and Bonnie Stokes. Shirley Rigby is in charge of the toy table, assisted by Connie Selis and Carol Higham. Brenda Bell is in charge of an attractive "Something Different" table.

Two Graduates are In the Daily News

Colin Haywood

Two former graduates of the Georgetown District High School have distinguished themselves recently.

Dr. A. B. Molozzi, a Defence Research Board engineering physicist, is currently preparing an article for the British Science Journal on data gathered by a Canadian-made instrument in a United States satellite launched last June which picked up some unexplained radio noises from outer space. Canadian Scientists hope that these noises may prove valuable in explaining noises produced by celestial bodies. The information will be made use of when the first Canadian satellite will be sent aloft. It is hoped in 1962.

James Emmerson, now a reporter for the Toronto Telegram, recently won 1st prize in an editorial writing contest by writing three editorials on an aviation theme, each one pertaining to Malton airport. This is not Mr. Emmerson's first such win, in 1958 he won top award in the same contest and top award also in a special International Editorial Writing contest.

Autumn Frolic is Successful Dance

Carolynne Hallitt & Paul Baker

Saturday, October 22nd, marked the event of the High School's first evening dance, the Autumn Frolic, which was held in the school gym. The records, amplifier, and record player were kindly supplied by Trent Town, Steve Saxe, Gord Barstow, and Tom Marshall supervised the music. Our thanks is expressed to these people, and also to Mr. Prouse, Miss Piercey and Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, who served as chaperones.

There were two prize dances, the first, an Elimination Dance, was won by Henry French and John Shortman, who received, respectively, the "LP records 'Hold Out'" by the Kingston Trio, and "Wonderful, Wonderful, Wonderful", by Johnny Ma. The winners of the Spot Dance were Sharon Brown and Larry Goss. Larry was given a bottle of aftershave lotion, and Sharon, an attractive compact.

We wish to congratulate the Student Council for sponsoring this successful dance and sincerely hope that they hold many more dances this year as enjoyable as this one.

Wednesday is Cadet Night at Armoury

John Benham

Well, fellas, as you know, the Georgetown High School cadet corps No. 676 has started another year of training. All those who have come in the past years have benefitted by learning how to take orders. When you have a job, you will know how important this is. After all, your employer will want a person who can carry out orders promptly and efficiently. Also, if you are thinking of a career in the armed services, one of the first questions you will be asked is: "Have you had any Cadet training?"

This year under the direction of Capt. Prouse, Lieut. Armstrong and Lieut. Teeter, we are taking a number of courses — Civil Defence and National Survival, First Aid, Foot Drill and Rifle. The Cadet Corps is a voluntary group with no restrictions or requirements on joining. We would like as many of the boys as possible to turn out on Drill nights. It won't cost you anything except a few hours of your time. Come and join the Scimitars, we'll teach you give you a uniform (yours as long as you are in the Cadets) and give you lots of fun, too. But please don't think it's all fun for, if you do, you won't like it. By the way, Wednesday night is Cadet Night at the Georgetown Armoury at seven in the evening.

Sheppard Scores to Give GHS Soccer Win

Colin Haywood

On October 26th, Georgetown High School Soccer team played their second league game against Milton High School. After ten minutes of play, Barry Sheppard scored the first and only goal of the game, to put Georgetown ahead 1-0. After this goal, the Georgetown offense continued to drive shots at the goal keeper until the half time whistle was blown.

In the second half, a little rain slowed down Georgetown's attacks considerably. The defence had to be extremely careful to prevent a break away on the slippery pitch, and did a remarkably good job. Penalties were relatively few in this game, but those incurred by Georgetown were mostly against defensive players trying to stop Milton's offence. Now, flushed with their first two victories in away-from-home games, the Georgetown high school team is ready to meet Erin this week in their first home game.

WORDS OF THE WISE

If in any measure you have it, in your choice, then it is a great and urgent duty to be glad and to be strong. — John Kelman.
