Hamilton Presbyterians Delight Manor Audience

By Muriel Thompson

Rev. D. A. Powell conducted the church service on Sunday afternoon, April 23. He brought with him four welcome guests, Mrs. Bort Freeman and three girls who are members of the Girls' Auxiliary of Grace Anglican Church in Milton. These girls were Kathleen Wilson, Glenna Freeman and Betty Lou Freeman. Mr. Powell read two passages from the Bible, Psalm 13 and part of Chapter 14 of St. Luke's Gospel. He chose his text, "They watched Him," from verse one of that above chapter. Mr. Powell said that after the miracle at Cana, Jesus was always the centre of attraction and therefore always in the public eye. Every age since that time has also put a search-light upon Jesus, yet He has lived on from century to century. The same is true of the Christian church and individual Christians who are watched to see if they display true Christian virtues.

As well. The wonderful program of choral numbers and solos made a great impression on the audience. The choir sang several familiar hymns, beginning the program with "The Church's One Foundation" and ending it with "Love Divine." The choir also sang several anthems, among them "One World," "Glorious is Thy Name," and "I Am Alpha and Omega." Mr. Hall and the choir demonstrated how to practice an anthem for a church service and this proved very interesting. The anthem chosen for this purpose was "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light By Day." The choir sang one secular number also, "Ben-demere's Stream." Two very fine solos were included in the program. In honour of her father, Mr. James Warty, who is a resident at the Manor, Mrs. Hall sang "Happiness." Mr. Edward Johnson sang "Mother O'Mine." Both solos were enjoyed very much.

The visitors had provided many tasty and attractive refreshments for a social hour and at the close of the program, these were served with tea and coffee as a delicious lunch. By this means, the ladies and gentlemen of this first organization ever to come to the Manor from Hamilton had the opportunity to mingle with the residents and become acquainted with them. Many wishes were heard on all sides that the residents would be entertained again by the choir and by Mr. and Mrs. Hall in the very near future.

A group of young instrumentalists who gave a splendid program for the residents last fall came again to the Manor after the church service on Sunday afternoon, April 23. The group was made up of thirty-five young boys and girls who are students of the Ontario Conservatory of Music at Oakville. They were accompanied by Mrs. Una VanHorne, the secretary of the Conservatory, and Mrs. Marcotte and Mrs. Holubeshen, two of their teachers. A small Rock n'Roll group from Hamilton, who call themselves the Gents, also came to assist with the program. As was the case at the concert last fall, Mrs. VanHorne was the very pleasant and capable Mistress of Ceremonies and kept the twenty selections progressing so smoothly that the time passed very quickly. The teachers and pupils played a variety of instruments — accordions, guitars, electric guitars and drums. From the opening number, which was a lively waltz to the closing number, a medley of modern songs played by The Gents, all the selections were played expertly and the teachers can be justifiably proud of their pupils. The numbers chosen were varied in character and included folk-songs such as "Swanee River" and "Two Guitars," lily waltzes such as "The Bluebird" and "Merry Widow" waltzes and the modern songs "Sentimental Journey" and "I'm In The Mood For Love." Mrs. Marcotte and Mrs. Holubeshen took part in the playing of some of these selections. Mrs. VanHorne, accompanied by Mrs. Marcotte on her guitar sang a solo "It Is No Secret," with the audience singing along in the second chorus. The pupils displayed great talent and the entire program was delightful. Another program in the near future would be appreciated.

An outstanding "first" in the line of entertainment took place in the auditorium on Thursday evening, April 27, when the first organization from the City of Hamilton ever to provide entertainment for the residents came from Hamilton to present a program. These thoughtful and generous visitors were about thirty members of the choir of Central Presbyterian Church in Hamilton. Their president, Mr. J. F. Reesor was, one of those who came. Mrs. Murray Hall was the convener of the entire delightful evening. The choirmaster, Mr. Murray Hall, announced the program, led in the singing commitments. Due to the fact that Mr. Hall possesses a very keen sense of humour, the program was not only a delightful

Business In Town Owned Confectionery

Operator of a restaurant and confectionery store in town from 1917 to 1930, Arthur Norrington, 79, died on April 23rd at his home, 16 Ogilvie St. Dundas.

He was master of Credit Masonic Lodge in 1925, belonged to the Odd Fellows and Orange Lodge and was a faithful member of St. George's Anglican Church during his residence here.

Mr. Norrington was born in Essex, England. With his bride Florence Dayton, he came to Canada on his honeymoon in 1907, decided to stay in this country and settled in Milton where he worked in a bake shop and later opened his own confectionery store.

Leaving Georgetown in 1930 he spent four years at Weslaco, Texas, where he had an orange and grapefruit grove. Returning to Canada, he had since had a confectionery business in Dundas.

He leaves his wife, three sons, Victor of Toronto; Walter of Milton and Edward of Dundas; 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild; and three sisters and two brothers in Essex, England. Another son died in Milton in infancy.

Funeral service was conducted in Dundas on April 26th by the Reverend Johnson with interment in Grove Cemetery here. Pallbearers included a nephew, Ed Mayer, who made his home with the Norringtons when they lived in town.

Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

"If a man can't find happiness in an island paradise where can he find it?" This was a question Marlon Brando puzzled over when the role of Fletcher Christian, in Mutiny on the Bounty challenged his acting ability. He claimed that the microcosm of man's situation throughout history — the struggle between the urge to create and the urge to destroy as reflected in this ageless saga — lured him into the part.

No such lure was dangled before me. Yet I feel I have a close affinity with the Bounty. I saw the great hull of the $650,000 reproduction of Britain's early fighting ship taking shape in Lunenburg, Nova Scotia. There Canadian craftsmen, famous as sailing boat builders throughout the world, built with minute details from plans of the original Bounty which had been loaned for the purpose by the British Admiralty Museum.

Now the ship is anchored in waters off Papeete, Tahiti. Ultra Panavision cameras grip out the portraiture of an agonized and distraught Captain William Bligh while the film version of Fletcher Christian gloats.

I visited Lunenburg on a Sunday. It was a hot, humid summer day that had becalmed the sea and sent fishermen, boat builders and their families of this small village within the cool comfort of quaint old clapboard homes. These climb the crooked streets, wandering up and down small hills that follow the shore line.

Only one villager strolled beneath the huge, old trees, her face seamed with the agony of watching, waiting for the return of her fisher kin through storm and fair weather. I am sure it is a look all girl babies of seamen are born with for their destiny down through the centuries has been one of waiting.

I reached Lunenburg via Halifax after a pleasant journey aboard the CN's Ocean Limited along the St. Lawrence River, where the tracks wind for miles through the province of Quebec, across the lush grassy salt marsh of New Brunswick and finally through the thickly wooded areas that are typical of the craggy province of Nova Scotia.

History details how, in the middle of the eighteenth century the 1453 Germans who settled Lunenburg arrived in a very different manner than I, aboard fourteen small vessels.

The site was chosen as a settlement because of its nearness to Halifax, its fine harbour and fertile land. It was to be a compact town planned after Halifax and defended by a stockade and nine blockhouses. There were numerous cases of Indian attacks during the first years of the colony's existence.

Today, Lunenburg's docks never lose the pungent odour of seaweed and fish. Large galleons, hulks line the water's edge and gulls swoop and scream, constantly wheeling against the sky from dawn to dusk. Nor have the inhabitants lost the quaint phraseology of speech their German ancestors originated.

It is largely a Protestant community of deeply devout, industrious people with a knowledge of handicraft that has been passed down from one generation to another.

Work Camps Explained By Auxiliary Speaker

The topic dealing with Young People's work camps was given by Mrs. E. Buck at the Afternoon Auxiliary meeting in St. John's United Church on Tuesday.

Foreign Missions

Among many interesting details Mrs. Buck stated that there is no such word as foreign missions any more as the world has become smaller and closer. Student exchanges and Work Camps involve thousands of young people throughout the world and in their own way are bringing a better understanding and helping to solve a few of the many problems confronting different countries.

Own Expenses

The fact that the Young people do this work without any recompense and often pay their own expenses is a real example in Christian living.

Send Clothes

Miss M. Forgrave reported the bale allocation had been filled and will be sent to Island Lake in Northern Ontario later on. Over six pounds of nylon for Korea had been forwarded to clothing depot in Toronto.

God's Word

Mrs. S. Madden gave a fine devotional based on Grace Noel Crowell's "Now Is The Time 'The Door is Now Open' stated Mrs. Madden, "and God's word can be carried to the end of the world. This is a critical hour and we should be ready to shoulder our responsibilities, strengthening our churches at home and abroad. Visits to homes and those sick in hospitals were recognized.

The highest wisdom and the highest genius have been invariably accompanied with cheerfulness. — Thomas Love Peacock.

55th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Norton of Lunenburg celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary on May 2nd.

They marked the occasion quietly in their home with their family.

Mrs. Norton, owing to a fall, was having difficulty getting around, the results of a bad ankle and knee. Otherwise they are both enjoying the very best of health.

Friends wish them many more happy anniversaries to come.
