Young People's Choir Appear in Manor Concert

By Muriel Thompson

On the first Sunday of the current month, May 7, the church service was conducted by several Gideons of the Oakville - Bronte - Milton Camp with Mr. Stan Wright as leader. The new Orga - Sonic Organ was played by Mr. Howard West. Mr. Wright read the Scripture lesson, verses 1-13 of Chapter 2 of Ephesians, after which Mr. Andrew Dalby preached a very effective sermon, with appropriate humorous references, based on the last two verses of the chapter that had just been read.

Hobby

Mr. Dalby spoke first of his hobby of growing roses and said that he knew that every rose-plant would bloom according to its own nature, or as Genesis tells us, "every tree according to its kind." Similarly we mortal beings are by nature the children of wrath, but God can give us a new nature through faith in Christ. Thus we become the children of God. When Jesus comes to take us unto Himself, He will accept us because we are of His own nature. Mr. A. Robbins offered the closing prayer.

St. John's

Fifty-six attractive and talented young boys and girls, dressed in their green choir gowns filled the stage in the auditorium of the Manor Thursday evening, May 11. These boys and girls were members of the Intermediate Choir of St. John's Church in Georgetown and they had come to the Manor to present a program of choir music. Mr. Bob Pinkerton was the chairman for the evening and Mr. Ken Harrison, A.R.T.C. music director at St. John's Church, conducted the singing. The choir sang eleven anthems in very accomplished fashion. The opening anthem was the well-known hymn, "Blessed Assurance" and the closing one was "Living for Jesus."

Anthems

Among the other eight anthems sung were, "Give of Your Best to the Master," "Marching to Zion" and "Beautiful Words of Jesus." Several vocal and instrumental solos were greatly enjoyed. Vivian Perry sang "Prayer" and Jane Bouskill sang "Cradle Song." David Farnell's solo was "The Page's Road Song" and Barbara Evans' solo was "Green Pastures."

Piano Solo

Elizabeth Hansen played a piano solo, "Courante" by Holley, and, much to his surprise, Mr. Harrison was called upon to play a piano solo. His selection was Handel's "Largo." Four girls sang a double duet. These girls were Linda King, Peggy Martin, Gloria Lee and Pauline Armitage. Their selection was "Out of the Darkness." It was a pleasure for the residents to welcome to the Manor the parents and friends of some of the children, and a social hour during which cold drinks and cookies were served provided an opportunity for renewing old friendships and making new ones. The choir made a very favourable impression at the Manor and it is hoped that these boys and girls will soon return. It was regretted that Mr. Bernard Shrubsole of the Manor Staff who had made the arrangements for the choir to come, was unable to be present at the concert.

Feature

An interesting and informative little play was the main feature of an informal and very pleasant evening's entertainment provided for the residents in the auditorium on Friday, May 12, by a group of Canadian Girls in Training connected with the Acton United Church. This C.G.I.T. group is affiliated with the W.M.S. of the Acton United Church and the play had been presented for the first time at the affiliation service held recently by these two organizations. Mrs. Ruth Engel, wife of Rev. Dwight Engel, minister of the Acton United Church was the leader at the C.G.I.T. program at the Manor, and Susan Radford, the president, Diane Angell, the treasurer and Donna Pendleton, who sometimes fills the position of secretary, were all present.

Missionaries

The play presented had the title "Embark for Tomorrow" and the stage setting was the deck of a ship bound for India. Many pertinent facts were brought out concerning the need of missionaries in India and the attitude of the Indian people towards the people of the Western world. Before the play began, Susan Heard, gave a short summary of the story and named the six actresses who took part — Mrs. Engel, Susan Radford, Lorraine Lasby, Diane Angell, Donna Pendleton and Caroline Hibbard. At the conclusion of the play, Susan Heard played a very fine piano solo, "Waltz in A Flat" by Brahms. Then came an enjoyable sing-song with Mrs. Engel at the piano and Donna Pendleton and Susan Heard leading the singing. The serving of cold drinks and cookies provided a pleasant social hour with these friendly young girls.

Since none of the girls had ever seen the "bones" played, Mr. Norman Viggers, one of the residents, who is an expert in their use, brought a happy evening to a close by giving a recital for the visitors.

Restlessness

Rev. J. K. L. McGown conducted the church service in the chapel and Mrs. W. E. Robertson played the new Orga-Sonic organ on Sunday afternoon, May 14th. Mr. McGown based his sermon on the first two verses of Psalm 121, which he had read as the Scripture lesson. The present era is an era

Chapel St. Student Describes Bank Tour

Chapel St. Public School pupils who recently toured the local branch of the Royal Bank were invited to put their impressions on paper by principal Val Stein. Selected for publication was this composition by Pat Hyde.

"A Tour Through the Royal Bank of Canada"

I started off thinking how boring it would be to tour a bank, but much to my surprise I found it most interesting.

As we were looking through the teller's compartment of money, I saw, for the first time in my life, a one hundred dollar bill. Just nearby was a little switch, which in case of robbery, would go off in the police office and not in the bank.

When we walked into the vault, I couldn't help but notice the big iron door which weighed about eight tons. In the vault were several safety deposit boxes plus about six larger safes for the teller's use. For each of these there were two keys, one for the teller and one for the accountant.

Later, we ventured down to the basement where stationery supplies were kept. There were also several boxes of cheques which must be kept seven to twenty years.

Before we left, I had the honour of thanking the bank manager, Mr. Bassett. After I had finished, he was talking to me for a short time and I found him to be a most friendly person. He said in years to come, that I might have the education to work in this bank. He doesn't know it, but I might just do that.

Corsage

On Mother's Day morning, each one of the eighty-five women residents of the Manor was presented with a dainty corsage by Mr. S. Allen, the superintendent of the Manor, and Mrs. Allen. The corsages were varied in colour and were very attractive. They were worn for the remainder of the day.

Scores of visitors called on their relatives and friends at the Manor during the afternoon and evening of Mother's Day.

Church is Crowded For Christian Family Service in Glen

The United Church was filled Sunday, May 7th for the Christian Family Week Service. Mr. Elgin Cunningham was in charge of the order of worship and preached the sermon, based on the story of the little lad with the five loaves and two fishes. The Old Testament Scripture was read by Terry Hancock and the New Testament by Roberta Asseltine. Ron McGowan and Glen Cooper took up the offering.

The choir, comprised of primary and junior Sunday School pupils, sang "Come, children join to sing," with M. Barth

GRADUATE

MISS ANNE TUCKER, who graduated at War Memorial Hall, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, plans on joining the nursing staff at Georgetown District Memorial Hospital in September. Anne attended Chapel St. Public School, Georgetown High School and Loretto Academy, before training at St. Joseph's Hospital, Guelph.

At the piano, Catharine Hunter told the children's story. The flowers on the communion table were placed in memory of Mrs. Waldo Diggins, by her son, David, and daughter, Sylvia, who now lives in Los Angeles, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Preston Jr. and Mrs. P. Wagstaffe were guests of Mr. Glen Fritchard, Toronto, when he was ordained a deacon of the Anglican Church in St. James Cathedral on May 7th. He was the student in charge of St. Alban's last summer. He leaves shortly for Boston where he will work in a church school for the summer.

Best wishes to Carol Symons and Paul Marshall who were married on May 6th. Happy is the bride that the sun shines on, Carol.
