Boat Trip to Victoria, B.C. Interesting to Cordaros

July 21st, 1961

Dear Editor:

I think my last letter told of our disappointment in not seeing the Rockies by daylight. After we had boarded our train again at Jasper I was much too excited to sleep and between cat naps found myself sitting up in bed much of the time, afraid I was going to miss something. Since it was not yet a full moon the Rockies were not very distinct but their dark outline was clearly visible against the skyline. Sometimes they looked like huge prehistoric monsters with their heads buried in the ground.

I was impatiently waiting to greet the dawn which promised a beautiful day, a promise it did not keep however, for although the sun appeared with the dawn, it did not stay with us and we soon had rain, but rain or shine nothing can spoil the beauty of the trip from Jasper to Vancouver.

Someone said we were coming into a place called Hell's Gate, if they were right I can only describe it as something like the Niagara gorge only much more narrow. The water boils over rocks and around small islands. The steep sides of the gorge are immense rocks and our train was running on a ledge hewn out of the rock, and looking down we could see another similar track about 20 feet below us.

It took very little imagination to realize what would happen if anything happened to wreck our train. The steep cliffs down the rocks and into the boiling water, it was fascinating. I wanted to get a picture and knew a good place just at the end of the car where the upper part of the door was open. I grabbed my camera and stepped out into the aisle.

Alas, just as the train gave an abrupt stop. The jolt piled some of us up against the end of the seat and I hurt my hand and by the time we reached Vancouver, it was quite swollen and painful.

As we stepped off the train I showed the conductor and suddenly heard someone ask "Is there a Mrs. Cordaro aboard the train?"

The conductor pointed to me, and explained that I had hurt my hand, and since my hand was painful, my astonishment at being sought out was forgotten for the time.

The gentleman was a CNR official, Mr. H. Myskiw, Sales Analyst for CNR. The gentleman took me at once to the CNR doctor right on the station. After examination by Dr. Hunter I was asked if I would go for X-ray the next day.

I must say right here that every consideration is given to CNR passengers. Mr. Myskiw even drove us to our place of address. X-ray showed no bones broken and much relieved we proceeded to the assembly, very late, but in anticipation of a joyous meeting.

In our sessions we have portions set apart for Council on child training and some on personal experiences. I was much amused with two such experiences.

A father noticed that his son was losing interest in his Bible studies. However, the son had a favourite TV program and his father told his son what a pity it was that he had not studied his Bible questions, because now he would miss his TV programme. The boy disappeared and later came back with all Bible questions correct. Yes he saw his TV programme.

Another incidence: a young lad had a Jehovah's Witness for his friend, but his parents objected to his study of the Bible, so strenuously that they even moved to a different part of the town, and where did they move to? Within a few doors of a Kingdom Hall. The parents are now studying with Jehovah's Witnesses.

Our day ended and next day we decided to use our tickets to visit Vancouver Island by boat. Our bus carried us for half hour drive to the ferry, we had hoped that bus and all were carried to the island, but were not prepared for the sight that met our eyes as our ferry came to shore. Two huge doors opened like the jaws of a huge monster and out streamed buses, trucks loaded with lumber, cars of every description, we lost track in counting.

Now onto the ferry for a trip of one hour and 40 minutes, there is an inside lounge with chairs in rows facing the bow where passengers can view the scene from inside, a restaurant serves meals there also. Outside one can promenade or sit as I did with my feet up just drinking in the wonder of the view. We made our way through and around little islands something like the Thousand Islands on the way to Montreal and Quebec.

There is also an upper deck with coffee shop and promenade. At last we reached Victoria. A real beauty spot. Wide, clean streets, flower bedecked light standards, two pots to each standard.

We imagined we were back in London, England, as a Knight in armour approached us handing us an advertisement of King Arthur's round table. The home of gracious living, roast beef with Yorkshire pudding, etc.

We were studying the menu on the entrance to a restaurant when I heard a very familiar accent inquire our needs. I wanted some good fish, said I.

Come right this way he invited and we followed to a table in the corner. "Are you from Yorkshire?" I inquired of him. "Pretty close, said he, then Manchester, said I, right. We ordered oysters and got the biggest oysters I have ever seen, nearly as big as eggs, very, very good.

Coming back to our table he astonished John by saying, on my way out, put 'board in Tolle Lad.

How many years is it since I heard that expression? It brought back memories of many years.

In no time we were back on board for our return trip to Vancouver, as we made our way home I paused to look back over the road we had travelled.

Vancouver seems to nestle at the foot of huge mountains like

Peterborough Girl Is Bride of Hydro Employee

Miss Mary Rita Garvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Garvey of Peterborough, became the bride of Douglas John Tucker of Georgetown, as her cousin, Rev. Raymond Garvey, performed the marriage ceremony in immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church on Saturday.

She was in a gown of nylon organza made with French portrait neckline having an insert of imported lace, long sleeves coming to points at the wrists, and the bouffant floor-length skirt over hoop crinolines.

Feathered orange blossoms formed the crown that held her silk illusion veil and she was carrying a bouquet of white and blue carnations with ivy. She was given in marriage by her father.

Four Attendants

Matron of honour was her cousin, Mrs. Robert Beene of Georgetown. The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Doleman of Peterborough, Miss Mary Jo Reid of Brampton, also her cousin, and Miss Mary Jean Tucker, sister of the groom. Their short gowns of mist white organza over taffeta were held with wide cummerbunds of draped folds offset with back bow detail, and were styled with circlet necklines, bracelet length sleeves and of matching petals and they wore white gloves and carried nosegays of white shasta mums and bachelor buttons.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Tucker and he was attended by his brother, Leo Tucker. He is employed with the local Hydro Commission.

Robert Beene and Robert Lavoie, both of Georgetown and Frederick Garvey of Peterborough, a cousin of the bride, were the ushers.

Out of Town Friends

Relatives and friends from Georgetown, Brampton, Port Arthur, Toronto, Hastings, Lakefield and Peterborough were in attendance.

The reception was held in the Assumption Hall, and Mrs. Garvey was receiving in a two-piece dress of blue silk organza and wearing beige accessories and pink carnation corsage. The groom's mother had chosen a blue lace dress and white accessories. Her corsage was of white mums.

Leaving for the honeymoon trip to eastern United States, the bride wore a two-piece dress of coffee shade linen with matching hat, white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

They are now living at 56 Queen Street, Georgetown.

St. Catharines Lady Drowns in Bathtub

Mrs. Hilda Roscoe, 39, drowned on July 2nd in the bathtub of her home on Eastchester Ave., St. Catharines.

A member of the family found Mrs. Roscoe unconscious in the tub. She was pronounced dead by Dr. J. L. Poirier after efforts to revive her failed.

She leaves her husband, Robert and two sons William and Thomas. Mr. Roscoe's parents

Pre-Wedding Showers For Bride Glenda Nix

Many showers were held to honor Miss Glenda Nix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Nix, Brampton, prior to her marriage to Ralph Laidlaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Laidlaw, Norval on July 15th.

Mrs. David Milson and Mrs. Ted Milson entertained friends of the bride-to-be at a kitchen shower.

Mrs. Bert Blackwell and Mrs. Ernest Wilson held a kitchen equipment shower at the home of Mrs. Blackwell.

Staff Members

Mrs. Jack Coates and Mrs. Gerry Boyes entertained at a miscellaneous shower for the bride, with fellow staff members from Gordon Graydon school at the home of Mrs. Boyes.

An aunt of the groom, Mrs. Duncan Macdonald and Miss Isobel Macdonald held a miscellaneous shower. An aunt of the bride, Miss Lenore Marshall, entertained at a cup and saucer shower.

Groom's Aunt

Friends of the bride, Mrs. O. Mackenzie and Mrs. Tom Hoole, held a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Hoole in Snelgrove. An aunt of the groom, Mrs. John Ismond, entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home, R.R. 1, Guelphe.

Mrs. J. W. Marshall and Mrs. Harold Jarvis entertained in honor of the bride at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Marshall.

Presentation

A neighborhood presentation, arranged by Mrs. Henry Rutherford, Mrs. Jack Mino and Mrs.

Jessie Lent, was held at the home of Mrs. Rutherford.

The staff of Gordon Graydon school, the choir of Norval United Church and the young Laidlaw couples also presented the bride and groom with gifts.

Mrs. Garnet Nix held a tea in honor of her daughter on July 2, and Mr. and Mrs. James Laidlaw, parents of the groom, entertained the wedding party following the rehearsal.

a huge amphitheatre with rows of houses running in circles around a bowl-like centre. At night it glitters with a million lights, no diamond necklace was ever fashioned that could compete with it.

No ban on street signs here, a myriad of Neon lights downtown, outstanding was a huge cup and saucer, orange colour, with figures circling its outer surface. I forgot to tell you the names of the little islands we passed on our trip to the Island.

I enquired from one of the ship workmen if there was anyone who could give me information, the answer, Yes, there are two girls with green jackets circulating among the passengers. So I circled right after them and here is information. Name of Islands: Gulf Islands, Galiano, Mayne, Portland, North and South Pender, Salt Spring, and many others.

I learned that the name of the ferry was Teewassen and the sister ship is the Sydney. They carry 110 to 115 cars, busses and trucks each crossing and leave every two hours.

The name of my charming informant, Miss Bronsden. More thrills next week.
