

In Summer — 'Pop' Goes Business

SUMMER HEAT has a direct effect on more than the mercury in that little glass tube on the thermometer, and when the sun shines the Schenk family, operators of the Credit Valley Bottling Works on Mountainview Road, couldn't be happier. Harold Schenk, production manager, told the Herald that the factory's output has run as high as 12,000 cases of pop a month. The Schenk secret? — A tapped spring on the property which is used for the product only.

Mrs. E. McLean, TR. 7-3152

On Wednesday evening, August 16th the Evening Auxiliary and the W.A. of Norval United Church held a double shower for brides-to-be Miss Sheila Carney and Miss Elsie Donaldson, held in the Church hall which had been suitably decorated for the occasion.

Mrs. O. Shea was in charge of the evening. After an interesting contest Mrs. H. McLaughlin favoured with a reading. A short contest between the brides-to-be held to determine which shower would be first was won by Sheila. The little girls present carried in the many gifts to Sheila and after she had opened them and thanked the ladies, they carried in Elsie's gifts. At the end of unwrapping her many gifts Elsie also thanked the ladies.

Mrs. Carl Schenk, Sheila's sister, and Miss Marilyn Souther assisted Sheila with her gifts and Mrs. Wm. Donaldson, sister-in-law of Elsie, and Miss Joan Crawford assisted Elsie.

They both received many gifts, several being from groups in the church. These included an ironing board and cover, an iron, double shelf table and ornament, clothes hamper and electric clock. The evening closed with a lovely lunch served by the Evening Auxiliary and a social time was enjoyed.

Anti-Dumping Act Is Invoked For Potatoes

Ottawa (Special to the Herald) For the first time in history, Canada has invoked its special anti-dumping legislation against the importation of American produce. The action was taken officially on August 5th following urgent requests from the potato growers of western Canada and particularly by the British Columbia Interior Vegetable Marketing Board.

Faced with the importation of potatoes from California and from the state of Washington in June and July, at prices ranging from 30 to 50 percent below the average import price of the last three years, the growers' organizations pressed Ottawa to take action. Under the arrangements established several years ago, all such requests for the implementation of the special legislation are channelled through the Canadian Horticultural Council, which has its headquarters in Ottawa.

L. F. Burrows, manager of the council, said that action taken by the Dept. of National Revenue early in August, on the recommendation of the council, was the first time the legislation had been applied.

While the B.C. growers had expressed dissatisfaction that action was delayed on the matter for several weeks following their original request on June 14th, Mr. Burrows explained that it was important not to act too hastily.

"The Horticultural Council has a responsibility to see that there is a real and clear-cut need for the additional tariff protection before the act is put into force," Mr. Burrows pointed out.

He said that early in the season a heat wave in central California had brought the potato crop to rapid maturity and potatoes were being sold there at prices which ranged from as low as $1.25 to around $2.00 a hundredweight, and there had been little price stability to the market.

There had been hesitancy on the part of the government and the council to implement the special anti-dumping legislation then as the only source of Canadian potatoes was at the B.C. coast. Later, the interior crops came to maturity, as well as the state of Washington potatoes and supplies became adequate.

The average import price of U.S. potatoes for the past three years was $2.78 a hundredweight, but the shipping point price of the Washington imports was around $2.00. Any one importing these potatoes would pay the normal 37 1/2 percent duty and, since the anti-dumping legislation was applied, importers would be forced to pay an additional 78c difference between the Washington price and the average three year import price.

"The enactment of the special legislation will remain in effect until it is cancelled," Mr. Burrows said.

No Stability

NOT QUITE A BOUNCE

The musical term staccato means "bouncing" and its opposite is legato, smooth. In between them is portamento. It means "carried," and the Book of Knowledge defines it as half staccato.

Plans Being Made For Big Air Show

The Canadian International Air Show (CIAS) will be held over the CNE waterfront on September 1st and 2nd this year. Frank Young, regional operations manager for TCA and chairman of the show committee made this announcement at a directors' meeting held at the CNE recently.

Plan

Representatives from the Royal Canadian Air Force, the Royal Air Force, the United States Air Force, the Dept. of Transport, DeHavilland Aircraft Co., the Toronto Harbour Commission and the CNE met with air show directors to plan the annual event.

It was also announced by Mr. Young that General Lawrence Kuter, Commander of the North American Air Defence Command (Norad) will officially open the show and speak at the civic dinner held in conjunction with the CIAS.

International

The CIAS has, over the years, developed into one of the few truly international air shows in the world. It has become a showplace for aviation progress with many new types of aircraft being introduced to the public here for the first time. This year will be no exception.

Of particular interest in this year's show will be the many new planes that have come into service with the RCAF during the past year. All of these will be shown along with most of the older ones still in service.

Hawks

The crowd-pleasing Golden Hawks, the RCAF's crack jet aerobatic team, will again perform.

The CIAS is not only a show of military aviation. Manufacturers and operators of commercial aircraft in Canada and other countries have been invited to participate and it is expected that there will be good representation from this source.

The two-hour air show and rehearsals for two days before it will start at 4 p.m. each day.

WORLD'S OLDEST UNIVERSITY

Which is the oldest centre of learning in the world? The Book of Knowledge says that Fouad I University in Cairo, Egypt, was established more than 1,500 years ago, although it was not officially called a university until 1925.
